TRACTOR QUEENS Sue Brooks, Xylpha Whitley and Nadine Lackey take over the new Science Hall job—Who says women aren't mechanically-minded?

Madrigal Club To Perform In Spring Fest

A variety of choral music will be sung when the Madrigal Club gives its annual spring concert Tuesday, March 16 at 8:15 P. M. in the college auditorium. The numbers range in time of composition from the fourteenth to the twentieth century, and in style from the dignified "Ave Maria" of Brahms to a modern arrangement of the Negro spiritual "Dem golden Slippers."

A composition by a Marshall student will be included in the program. The women's chorus will sing "Lunar Night," by John McCoy, Ironton, Ohio, sophomore.

The Madrigal Club is directed by Dr. Harry E. Mueller, head of the music department. Miss Miriam P. Gelvin has charge of the women's chorus and John W. Creighton has charge of the men's chorus. The men's chorus and the women's chorus will each sing four numbers, and the full Madrigal Club will sing 12 numbers.

Lois Burks, and Elinor Copenhaver, both Huntington seniors, will be the accompanists. The Delta Kappa chapter of Delta Omicron will usher.

VET ABSENTEE REPORTS WILL BE SENT TO DEAN

Veterans who miss three consecutive class periods will be notified by the Veterans Administration to report to the V. A. office, Music 212, for interview, Lester G. Brailey, dean of men, announced. Absence reports are submitted to the academic deans of the colleges by the instructor each week, and sent to the V. A. for checking absences.

SCHOLARIS TO GO INTO PHI ETA SIGS

Scholaris, local scholastic honorary fraternity for freshmen, will go national Thursday, March 18, when they will join Phi Eta Sigma President Walter Wilson, Gauley Bridge senior, announced this week.

The installation ceremony of approximately 35 freshmen who made a 2.5 or better last semester will be by Dean R. E. Gloss of Miami University, accompanied by members of the University of Cincinnati chapter. Following installation there will be a banquet.

DANCE ?

All students interested in learning to dance are asked to contact Gertrude Pleiman, Student Union hostess, between 1 P. M. and 9 P. M. this week. Classes will start the week of March 15.

Mammoth Scoop And 'Cat' Remove Tons Of Earth

By RAYMOND GEOUGE

Sidewalk construction engineers and kibitzers will have an opportunity to indulge in their favorite pastime now that the contractors have started on the new science hall. No critic can work properly however, unless he has some information to start on. For instance: Did you know that the huge caterpillar tractor working on the site is one of the largest made? Its official name is Caterpillar D-8. When it has a scraper blade on the front, it is called a 'dozer'; without the blade it is called a cat.

The mammoth trailer scoop it pulls behind is a Bucyrus scraper. It scoops up 12 cubic yards of dirt at a time.

Mr. Henry, the contractor, estimated that the dirt being removed will weigh approximately 2,500 pounds per yard in its present moist condition...that would make each load weigh about 30,000 pounds or 15 tons! One of the foremen explained that the scraper or "pan" can be used so accurately that an inch of dirt can be removed at a time.

DR. PERRINE IS MADE CHI BETA PHI MEMBER

Dr. J. C. Perrine, assistant vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., has been elected an honorary member of the Chi Beta Phi honorary scientific fraternity, (Kappa Chapter) it was announced yesterday by Paul Osburn, president of the fraternity.

"He is one of the most outstanding lecturers on electrical phenomena in the country," Osburn said, "and the Chi Beta Phi's consider it a great honor to claim him as a member."

Speech Department To Take Part In Oratory Meet At Morgantown

By DON PERRY

The speech department will participate in the tenth Annual Intercollegiate Speech Association at Morgantown on April 1-3 it was revealed this week by Prof. Otis Ranson, head of the department and President of the festival. Marshall will send approximately 17 speech students with three faculty members of the speech department to the University at Morgantown, Professor Ranson said. These students will compete with approximately eight other West Virginia colleges in oratorical contests, extemporaneous speaking contests, a radio festival, and in addition, will present a one-act play under the direction of Clayton R. Page, Jr. associate professor of speech.

The one-act play, "Fumed Oak," an unpleasant comedy, was one of a series of nine one-act plays by Noel Coward, produced under the title of "Tonight at 8:30" in New York during 1936. It is now being reproduced on Broadway and drawing capacity crowds.

Heading the cast is Catherine Martin, Huntington junior, in the part of Mrs. Gow, who is the dominating, selfish, cold and respectable wife of Henry Gow, a "hen-pecked husband" played by Don Perry, Huntington sophomore. Miss Martin is remembered for her performance last semester in the leading role of "Joan of Lorraine," which was produced by the College theater. The part of Elsie, the daughter, a "whining, sniveling, spoiled child" of 14, is portrayed by Jane Keeler, Huntington sophomore. In the part of Mrs. Rockett, the mother-in-law "who came to stay" with the Gows, is Phyllis

Champs Are Nipped By San Jose State

By ELMER TODD

The Marshall College basketball team will arrive in Huntington tonight after being eliminated in the second round of the NAIB tournament Wednesday. They will arrive at the C & O station at 9:40 P. M., and thousands of people are expected to be on hand to give them a resounding welcome.

The Big Green who went into the game Wednesday night seeking their thirteenth consecutive tournament victory, but found the law of averages too tough to beat as a fighting San Jose State quintet from California nosed out the defending champions in the final seconds of play, 74-72.

The Big Green one of the more popular teams in the tourney will not be in Kansas City for the finals but chances are that they will be talked about more than the winner. Never in the tournament history has a team been as popular as the Green.

Spotting San Jose 15 points in the early minutes of the second half, the Green kept plugging away with dazzling passing plays and sensational shooting to the delight of the huge crowd. When the Green tied the score at 62 all, the crowd went wild.

Looking very ragged in the first half, the Big Green found themselves on the short end of a 30-27 count at halftime. San Jose, catching the Herd thunderless in the early minutes of the second half, scored five straight field goals and a foul before Tonkovich broke the monotony by sinking a foul shot. This made the score 41 to 28, San Jose.

Midway the second half the defending champions, led by Gene James, staged a rally which netted them nine straight points to cut the score to 52-48. In the closing minutes of the second half, Tonkovich sank two fielders to knot the score at 61 all. A foul shot by James and one by Morgan made the score 62-62 when the regular time ended.

When the overtime period began Marshall again let the San Jose club out in front. They scored two straight buckets, but Marshall, led by Tonkovich, proceeded to go in front by two points. A fielder by Morgan, substitute guard with ten seconds cinched the victory for the Californians.

Food Lecture To Be Today

A demonstration lecture on food handling will be given today at 2:30 P. M. in the Laboratory School auditorium, President Stewart H. Smith, has announced.

W. W. Marshall, principal sanitarian, West Virginia Public Health Center, Morgantown, will deliver the lecture and show films.

The program is for the benefit of home economics majors and food handlers of the Cafeteria, Student Union and the Laboratory School cafeteria, Dr. Smith said.

Mr. Marshall is being brought to the campus by arrangements with City Sanitary Inspector E. F. McDonald and in connection with the State Public Health Department program, according to Dr. Smith.

The State Health Department official has been in Huntington for several days conducting classes for public food handlers.

"England's Bells Ring Again," first all-color film of England since the war, will be shown by Austin West to the Community Forum Monday night at 8:15 in the auditorium. The film will conclude the travelogue series of the season.

Mr. West, born in South Africa of British parentage, is internationally known as a world traveler, artist and lecturer. He served as intelligence officer in World War II.

The color-films of England, home of renowned poets such as Shakespeare, Milton, Chaucer, Shelley and Keats, will show life with lords and cottagers, tramps and gypsies; picture historic events—the Derby, the Henley Regatta and others; will show Petticoat Lane, the Tower, Madame Tussauds, Oxford University and the Shakespeare country. In general, the picture will portray English life and English people.

Students will be admitted to the forum by activity cards.

SUMMER JOBS LIST AVAILABLE

Summer jobs in hotels and resorts are available to students, an announcement from the dean of men's office said this week.

Summer hotels in states from Minnesota to South Carolina have replied to enquiries sent out by the dean of men's office, saying either that they need men or might need someone in the future.

The replies have been mounted in a notebook, and anyone who wants employment may go to the dean's office and look over the propositions, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Barron, secretary to the dean of men said.

DRIVE NETS $180.00

One hundred eighty dollars was turned in to the dean of women's office during the first week of the Red Cross drive, Mildred K. Heller, secretary to the dean of women, said Wednesday.

Bob Sang

Although his assailant has confessed to the crime and justice seems ready to triumph, Bob Sang remains in a critical state at St. Mary's Hospital. The rugged Marshall football lineman is still in the midst of his greatest fight, greater than that in which he took part at Guam with the Marines. His prize, if he wins this one, will be his life.

It is doubted if any tragedy concerning a Marshall student in years passed saddened as many as this one did. A pall of anxiety and fear blanketed the campus the day after the shooting. Everyone, faculty included, had their minds on the popular young athlete and he was the center of all conversations.

This is easy to understand. You see, Sang is an outstanding example of the "hard luck guy." In 1946, following his discharge, he began a long fight to regain his prewar playing form. He never got beyond the second string despite his efforts. In 1947, after playing fine ball as a regular tackle, he suffered a mid-season hand injury. At Orlando, Fla., in the Tangerine Bowl game, he was singled out by officials as guilty of a "clipping penalty" which eventually cost Marshall the contest. The 10,000 fans said Sang didn't do any clipping. The sports writers said Sang didn't do any clipping, but he's a "hard luck" guy so what can you do? His great game as blocking back, to which he was consigned because two grid-ers were with the basketball team, was then rudely overlooked by the aforementioned experts.

Now, with a great third year before him, he is struck down by a lead slug, hospitalized, and forced to fight a battle he never wanted. He is made of genuine stuff, though, and he's still in there fighting with a determination which is astounding doctors.

Bob Sang, one of the truly great men in Marshall history, has the hopes and prayers of 3,400 fellow students riding with him. Which is the least we can do in our humble, inadequate way.

Time Out!

with ERNIE SALVATORE

Will S. Adkins will probably never go down in history as a great poet. He has contributed one touching piece, though, and while the example in question does not refer to college men and women, the general principle is the same. It's colorfully titled "The Feller Me Mudder T'inks I Am" and it goes like this:

"Whilst walking down a crowded city street the other day,

"I heard a little urchin to a comrade turn and say:

"Hi, Chimmie, lemme tell youse I'd be happy as a clam,

"If only I was the feller dat me mudder t'inks I am.

"She t'inks I am a wonder, and she knows her little lad

"Could never mix wit' nuttin dat was ugly, mean or bad,

"Oh, lots of times I sit and t'ink how nice 'twould be, gee whiz,

"If a feller was de feller dat his mudder t'inks he is."

President Smith said this week that plans for a 'Suggestion Week' are being drawn by administrative officials. The project will constitute a week long contest in which suggestions for college physical or academic improvements will be submitted by students and faculty members. Prizes for the best male and female suggestions will be awarded and a committee of faculty, administrative, student, and Huntington newspaper representatives will do the judging. The dates have tentatively been set for April 5 to 10. Incidentally, the student representative will probably be a person who has never had the opportunity to serve on committees, etc., the theory being that too few get into too much and the results are too little. The idea sounds great and the President has promised more details in the near future.

Side Shots: Johnny Wellman may launch his coaching career in Los Angeles, California . . . Jim Kiskin will continue his studies in foreign languages at Cuernavaca, Mexico, in August. Some hastas and luegos to you, old boy! . . . A couple of resignations are in the wind which will be startling by their significance . . . Paul Probst is now a father and to prove it he's passing out lucious' El-Roi Tans . . . Virginia University is being contacted for a basketball date next year . . . And, Milligan College of Tennessee will be an early season cage foe . . . Andy Tonkovich will inspect professional offers now that his college playing is about over . . . Jimmy Bakalis will probably transfer to Maryland University next year and join his dead-eye shooting brother . . . The Allen Court Snack Bar is doing a landslide business, Bill Blevins reports . . . And, in conclusion, many students have expressed their thanks to the college administration for making improvements in the Artist Series matinee setup . . . To which we add our own thanks.

COLLEGE THEATER

MAY TRY GREEK PLAY

College Theater, which is offering "Stage Door" next week, may try its hand at doing a Greek play before many moons pass. A streamlining of script would be necessary, of course, before presentation. Anyway, the rumor started when "Oedipus" was read in a drama class recently.

ANDERSON-NEWCOMB

—by elmer todd—

With the completion of the current tournament at Kansas City, the Big Green will bring a whirlwind finish to one of their better seasons. However, before we shift our attention to the spring sports program there has appeared another comment of our outstanding quintet which should be of interest to you fans.

This comes under the heading of All-Opponent teams. We could never understand why anyone would want to pick an All-Opponent team except to explain to the public the reason for a disappointing or a successful season. If a team has an excellent season they can point with pride to the fact that they accomplished this while facing stellar competitors.

On the other hand if the season is one of little compensation they can point out that this was because of the stiff competition and the high calibre of players they faced.

Anyway, from the University of Baltimore, via the circulation department of The Parthenon, has come an issue of The Baloo. This is their campus newspaper where aspiring students display their journalistic ability. Leonard Mason, sports editor of The Baloo, is the center of our attraction. He mentioned the fact that the time was at hand for the Bee (U. of Balt.) cage squad to pick their annual All-Opponent team. He goes on to elaborate that the cagers have a wealth of talent from approximately 20 teams from which the cagers can pick.

Mason is very forward in his praise for the Big Green. He quotes, "The Bees are unanimous in the opinion that Marshall College was far and away the best team faced this season, despite the fact that the 101 point total racked up by Morris Harvey was the greatest opponent outburst all season. It is very easy to understand why our players' belief are so emphatic as they are."

"Coached by Cam Henderson, one of the truly great basketball mentors in the country and father of the zone defense, Marshall has thus far lived up to all pre-seasonal expectations . . . Thus, for all practical purposes the starting five of Marshall College of Tonkovich, James, Toothman, Wright and Erickson could represent a very formidable All-Opponent team."

When Mr. Mason finally named his all opponent team we find that he eased a little and admitted a few others to his starting team. On his first team he has Tonkovich at one forward and Gene James at center. On his second team choices he has one Marshall cager, that being Toothman who was selected for a forward post.

The Wash-Rite Laundry five who won the state semi-pro crown, will leave in a few days for Georgia where they will compete for the national title. The team coached and captained by Dink Allen is composed mostly of Marshall students . . . Looking over the Associated Press All American basketball team, we find that three Marshall cagers, Tonkovich, James and Toothman were included in the honorable mention group. Along with them were Leland Byrd and Fredd Shavs erstwhile stars of the Moontaineers . . . Bill Hall and Mervin Gutshall our two favorites of last year and main attractions in the All-Star-Renaissance game, were unable to arrive in Huntington for the game . . . Paul Probst passed out cigars Monday. The little one has been named Paul Campbell Probst Jr.

Intramural Basketball Tourney Enters Quarter Finals Monday

BILLIARD PLAY COMPLETED

By JOHN SHADBURN

The long delayed intramural basketball championship playoff finally got under way during the past week when mural hoopsters kept the floorboards sizzling and the cords churning. Earliest results recorded follow:

Newman Club 35, Deacons 28; Kappa Alpha Seconds 32, Madison Independents 21; Big Sandy Boys 34, Jeeps 31; Varsity M 34, Tigers 27.

Typical of mural play was the Newman Club's 35-28 win over the Deacons in a game which saw the score knotted several times in the last quarter before the winning team's so-called "cherry picking" tactics paid off.

The Newman club was forced to stage an uphill battle, however, since they found themselves on the short end of a 17 to 10 count at halftime.

Precision-like scoring on the part of Johnny Bess helped pave the way to victory, as the St. Albans basketballer dropped in six fielders during the winners' second half rally to nab game scoring honors with 12 points. Stanley George, pint-sized Deacon guard, swished three double-deckers and a lone foul toss through the nets to face the losers with 7 markers.

The game between the Kappa Alpha Seconds and the Madison Independents proved to be another great defensive contest, but the KA's finally managed to subdue their game compeditors, 32, to 21.

Jack Sheppe of the Kappa Alpha Seconds was the only contending player to reach two figures as he scored four times from the floor and coined five of seven foul shots to lead the winners with 23 points. Hiebert was best for the losers with four field goals for eight points, all of which were scored during the second half of the contest.

ANDY TONKOVICH, sensational Big Green guard, shoots a one-hander from out court which was good. This effort was not enough, however, as the Green went down to defeat before a scrappy Dayton club. Other Marshall players are: Wright 27, Toothman 35 and Koontz 33.

The Big Sandy Boys got off to a slow start in their match with the Jeeps but came on to stage a whirlwind finish and emerge victorious, 34 to 31. Aided by the sharp-shooting of Marcum and Max Crutcher, who collected 12 and 10 tallies respectively, the boys from Louisa, Ky., overcame a 25-20 deficit at the end of the third quarter. They succeeded in outscoring the losers, 14 to six, in the final quarter. John Henry Persun kept the losers in the game by scoring 12 points, but even his best scoring effort was not enough to pull the game out of the fire for the Jeeps.

Minor intramural sports activity this week was limited to the completion of a single tourney, three-ball billiards, in which Bill Castle, independent, emerged the winner by virtue of a hard-fought victory over Dick Massey of Phi Kappa Nu fraternity.

The champ displayed the same skillful brand of play which he had exhibited in turning back Mike Veres, Carlyle Baker, and Roy Baker. Similarly, Massey had gained a finals berth by annexing wins over Pete Fox, Jim Ward, and Herman Law.

Meanwhile, handball doubles, table tennis doubles, pinochle, and hearts tourneys continued play with the latter two reaching the semi-final stage.

Thus far, the combined efforts of Barr and Forman, McWatters and Tomaselli have proved to be best in the pinochle playoff. The duos of Hughes and Stewart, Turner and Ketz are furthest advanced in hearts competition.

Other minor sports on the giant mural card which are scheduled to see action beginning next week include foul shooting, spot shooting, and possibly mixed volleyball.

Dr. Maurice G. Burnside, professor of political science, announced Tuesday that he is a candidate for Democratic nomination for Congress in the Fourth District.

Professor's Wife Reads Murray Ads To Foil Husband

Parthenon advertising pays!

Proof of this was advanced this week when it was learned that the selling power of the Arthur Murray advertisements recently displayed in The Parthenon reached beyond the ordinary scope of prospective patrons and penetrated the secluded confines of the journalism department.

Apparently Mrs. Chester Ball, wife of The Parthenon's editorial adviser, reads the advertisements thoroughly, for she has overcome several successful escape attempts on her husband's part and now has Mr. Ball taking rhumba lessons.
