Christmas Festivities Begin Soon

By MARY JENKINS

A feeling of festivity is beginning to fill the air as winter formals get under way. Various themes have been chosen for decorations to add to the pleasure and success of the events.

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity will celebrate its second birthday on campus with a formal "Birthday Ball" tonight in the Cabaret Room at Camden Park from 9 to 1 with Joe Avis and his orchestra. During intermission a birthday cake in the form of an open book will be cut by Clyde Steele, president, and served to 200 guests. George Naylor, Bill Gardner and Tom Wilkerson are in charge of arrangements. Chaperones are Mrs. Frances Burdette, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Green and S. T. Stinson.

THE ANNUAL "Christmas Formal" of Laidley Hall, women's dormitory, is tonight in the Shawkey Student Union from 9 to 1 with Howard Jennings and his orchestra. The arrangements committee consists of Margaret Moran, Dorothy Kessel and Ruth Blackburn. Chaperones are G. W. Howgate, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Barron and R. L. Beck. Murial Bookless, and Seymour Skothkin are in charge of the arrangements. Mr. and Mrs. Julius Lieberman and Mrs. Lillian H. Buskirk are chaperones.

Chris Dudley, former Marshall student and Pi Kappa Sigma pledge, was chosen as the ideal sorority pledge by Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity on the University of Miami campus.

Lack of Courses Loses Potential Graduate Students

Failure to offer extension courses in large population counties of West Virginia is causing potential Marshall graduate students to enter the state university, a report on Marshall's graduate program by Dr. A. E. Harris, chairman, reveals.

In a seven page report of the program, compiled to review the growth of the program during the past ten years, and to analyze its present status with reference to the needs of West Virginia, and the welfare of the college, the report showed an eighty per cent registration (or 200) students from Cabell County doing graduate work at Marshall.

PARTHENON EDITORS ATTEND CONFERENCE IN CAPITOL TODAY

By CELIA SMITH

The Parthenon staff will attend the annual conference of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association today and tomorrow at Morris Harvey College in Charleston.

Miss Medora M. Mason of Washington, D. C., will address the group Saturday afternoon on the subject "Your Future". She founded the department of journalism at Fairmont State College and has written a Sunday column for the Fairmont Times-West Virginian since 1934.

Miss Mason is now an editorial and information specialist of the education section, Savings Bond Division, U. S. Treasury Department.

MAX FULLERTON, bureau Chief for the Associated Press in West Virginia and Maryland since 1945, and former bureau chief of the West Virginia bureau with headquarters in Charleston, will be a principal speaker.

Dr. Leonard Riggelman, president of Morris Harvey, will speak to the association Saturday evening at a banquet, to be in the Kanawha Hotel.

Other speakers will be Dr. Ashby Blackwell, dean of Morris Harvey, who will give the welcoming address; Edith L. Graham, feature writer of The Charleston Gazette, who will show slides and speak on newspaper production; Oliver Shurtleff, associate professor of speech and English at the college; and Clarence E. Roth, professor of history and political science.

PARTHENON MEMBERS who will attend the meet are Elmer Todd, editor-in-chief; Walter Browder and Paul Davis, Wednesday and Friday managing editors; Charles Buchanan and James Kirkpatrick, news editors; Celia Smith and Mary Jenkins, Wednesday and Friday society editors; John Henry Shadburn, sports editor; and James Dye, feature editor. Others attending will be Don Perry, feature editor; Dick Workman and Paul Williams, staff reporters.

YEAR BOOK BEGINS PICTURE COLLECTION

The Chief Justice staff has requested all organizations to start collecting pictures and material to be used in the year book, John Lair, managing editor, said.

In a letter sent to all organizations, Shirley Fries, organizational editor of the yearbook, announced that each page will cost $5. Fraternities and sororities were asked to take two pages each to allow uniform make-up in the Greek section.

One group picture will be furnished free to each organization.

Grievances Will Be Taken To Council For Final Action

The student council recently set up a grievance committee to hear student complaints. The committee, composed of four council members will report their findings to administrative personnel when the complaint seems to be legitimate.

The council action was brought about when a member reported, "it came to my attention that one of our instructors 'bragged' how easily he could flunk seniors when he disliked their attitude."

Dean Brailey voiced his approval of such action by the council at an earlier meeting and said, "Projects like this should be given more consideration and the social life a little less emphasis."

"The findings of the committee will probably be kept confidential when possible to avoid embarrassment of persons involved," Earl Kirker, council president, said.

ONE COMPLAINT already before the committee raises an objection to the small credit given for science courses that require many hours of lab work. According to Christine Foster, senior representative, this practice is not followed by most of the leading colleges and universities.

"The committee will review complaints of either social or academic nature," Kirker said.

The committee members are: Charles Asbury, freshman; Roy Mullens, sophomore; Gene Hager, junior and Christine Foster, senior.

APPROVAL FOR NEW CONSTITUTION WILL CALL FOR 300 NAMES

The new student constitution, approved by student council and college administrators, will be brought before the students for approval soon. "Three hundred student signatures are necessary before the new constitution becomes effective," Earl Kirker, council president, said.

"One major change is involved," Kirker said, "that being the one permitting a student to enter his own name on ballots for campus elections. Other changes involve only a condensing of the old constitution to do away with wordiness," Kirker added.

"THE CHANGES were really made last year but when students did not turn out for assemblies the required 300 signatures were lacking for approval," he continued.

"This year we plan to draw up a petition and let each council members get a quota of signatures so we can put the constitution into effect," Kirker concluded.

Copies of the new constitution may be found in the student handbook which may be obtained in the dean of men's office.

Incidentally, the handbook has a copy of the basketball schedule on the outside of the back cover; don't throw it away!

Smith States Work Policy For Holidays

Students who miss school the week preceding Christmas vacation will be required to make up the work missed, President Stewart H. Smith announced this week.

This absence policy was adopted since the former policy proved very unpopular with the faculty. In the past some students were permitted to work and some weren't according to their academic rating. This was found undesirable since many claimed they were excused and didn't have to make up the work missed.

"We are in complete sympathy with students who wish to work," Dr. Smith said, "but the responsibility will rest on the student whether he feels he is capable of missing school."

Dr. Smith went on to say that the Christmas vacation has been lengthened from 10 days to two weeks in the past three years in order that more students might work during vacation.

The absentee policy is as follows:

1. A student is expected to be present at all class sessions.
2. Unavoidable absences such as those due to health, death in the immediate family, or similar reasons should be reported to the instructor concerned by students. In such cases, and whenever possible, the instructor will provide an opportunity for the student to make up work missed.
3. There is a distinction between wilful absences and institutional absences. Institutional absences include those which result from participation in an activity sponsored by the college such as athletics, Madrigal Club, debate, and any other activities approved by the academic deans. Students who are absent for such reasons are expected to make up their work but should receive no undue penalty.
4. When a student misses classes for reasons other than those stated above, he does so at the risk of jeopardizing his academic standing.

SENIORS TO FURNISH FUTURE EMPLOYERS WITH PERSONAL DATA

An employment directory will be edited and published by the senior class this year for the purpose of furnishing pertinent information to prospective employers, John Natale, class president said.

The booklet will carry information about the seniors as individuals. Their pictures will accompany information about their physical condition, their major and minor fields of study, the type of work they have been doing in school and the type of employment they will seek upon graduation.

Blanks have been mailed to all seniors for the purpose of securing the necessary information for compiling the booklet, Natale said.

Copies of the booklets will be sent to over 200 corporations and firms that have been soliciting employees, Natale said, and if there should be a senior who wants one mailed to some particular company we will try to do that, too.

The cost of the booklets will be approximately four dollars to each senior, and will be printed by the Chapman Printing Company, he added.

The booklet will be bound in the traditional green and white with the first few pages devoted to a brief history of Marshall.

MADRIGAL CLUB, ALUMNI TO GIVE HANDEL'S 'MESSIAH'

The Madrigal Club, assisted by twenty alumni and accompanied by the college orchestra, will present "The Messiah" at the City Auditorium, Wednesday, December 15 at 8:30 P. M., under the direction of Dr. Harry E. Mueller, head of the Marshall College Music Department, Mrs. Veta Lee Smith, College Secretary, announced.

Soloists appearing in George Handel's "The Messiah" this year will be Marting Pendell, soprano; Betty Jane Grimm, contralto; Hubert Kockritz, baritone; and John Walker Creighton, tenor.

MARTING PENDELL is the soprano soloist at the Epworth Euclid Church in Cleveland. She received her A. B. degree from Baldwin Wallace University and her Masters from Western Reserve.

Betty Jane Grimm graduated from Marshall College in 1942 and is at present the soloist and vocal instructor at the Florida State University.

HUBERT KOCKRITZ is a faculty member of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. He received his A. B. degree from Evansville College and his Masters from the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. Mr. Kockritz has taken theoretical studies at the Leipzig Conservatory in Germany. The baritone has given vocal recitals in Paris, London, Dresden and Berlin. He also has given numerous appearances in recitals, operas and oratorios in this country.

John Walker Creighton, Assistant Professor of Music at Marshall College, graduated with a Masters degree from Northwestern University. Mr. Creighton is the soloist of the Trinity Episcopal Church here in Huntington.

'Chief Justice' To Sponsor Campus Photograph Contest

The 1949 Chief Justice is sponsoring an amateur photography contest beginning December 3 for all students who wish to enter photographs of campus scenes, John Lair, managing editor, announced this week.

Any student of Marshall College is eligible to enter and should mail entries to Photography Contest, care of Chief Justice or put them in the yearbook box in the Dean of Men's office.

The winner will receive a subscription to the 1949 Chief Justice and another prize to be announced later. Second place will receive a free subscription to the Chief Justice.

Entries must be accompanied by the contestant's name, address, telephone number and class.

CHEMISTRY MAJORS MEET

There will be a meeting of the sophomore, junior and senior chemistry majors, Saturday, December 4 at 10 A. M. in S-301, A. W. Scholl, head of the department announced.

Parking

Unauthorized parking on the campus presents a definite safety hazard. After several warnings, the administration has announced that cars parked in spaces other than those marked for the purpose will be hauled in by the police department.

It is unfortunate that these measures had to be taken, but it seems that polite warnings are not enough to bring home to car owners the fact that traffic obstructions in the narrow streets on the campus could mean disaster in case of an emergency.

Even the delay of a minute in moving up equipment to fight fires might make the effort to do so useless. These driveways are the only access to the campus and must remain clear at all times.

Actually they are hold-overs from horse and buggy days and were not built for modern traffic. Plans are even now being formulated for the modernization of all campus driveways, and until this project is completed the no-parking rule must be enforced. If it is necessary to park for a moment to pick up passengers or for other reasons, that will be all right, but cars left parked and unoccupied will not be tolerated as long as this presents a safety hazard to the college.

Let's not have it said that college people must be forced to obey traffic rulings. Let's keep those cars moving.

Advertising

This week's salute to a Parthenon advertiser is to The Parker Pen Company, manufacturers of the Parker "51" fountain pen. The advertisement reproduced in this display appeared in a recent edition of The Parthenon.

The timeliness of the copy in this ad is typical of the up-to-the-minute advertising policy of the Parker Pen Company. The background for this display is Associated Press wire copy from the AP teletype in The Parthenon news room.

College Theatre Group Takes To The Road

By DON PERRY

Learning the "ropes" of a traveling theatre, plus contributing materially to a charity organization, was accomplished by seventeen Marshall students, when they presented "John Loves Mary" for a matinee and evening performance in the Ironton Ohio High School Auditorium, Tuesday.

Approximately a thousand persons viewed the hilarious comedy, by Norman Krasna, which was presented several weeks ago in the college auditorium. Proceeds for the two performances went to the Crippled Children's Fund of the Ironton Rotary Club.

THE SEVENTEEN person troupe learned much in experience of the many technicalities which go with taking a production on the road, Director of the play, Clayton R. Page, Jr., revealed. Mr. Page explained that this was the first time in ten years that a college theatre production had been reproduced out of town.

Registration Books Available Today To Upperclassmen

Seniors who are to register beginning Monday, December 6, may obtain registration books and schedules of courses at the Registrar's office today, Luther E. Bledsoe, registrar, announced.

Plans for the registration of the other three classes are now underway, Mr. Bledsoe said, and it is hoped that everyone in school may be registered by January 15. He added that the purpose of the early registration was to avoid confusion and to allow the students to remain at home between the semesters.

Each of the other three classes will have a week for advance registration.

Collins Plans Decorations For Campus

Charlie Collins, superintendent of buildings and grounds, said today that his holiday program for the college included painting in the federal dormitories and refinishing the floor of the gymnasium.

Mr. Collins hopes to do as much painting as is needed and as time will allow for during the Christmas holidays. The dorms will be given a thorough going over as far as possible and the gymnasium will be waxed and finished with a new material that is being used on larger college gym floors. Mr. Collins said this material will add life and glow to the gym and has proven highly successful throughout the country.

He said that several rooms would be relighted with fluorescent lights and the wall paper in front of Old Main would be removed and the walls painted. He said the big tree in front of old main would be lighted, if the holiday lights come in in time. It takes about 144 lights to properly light the huge tree.

Several lockers have been repainted, cleaned up and moved from the basement to the second floor in old main and are now available for students.

The large fan that has been ordered since last spring has arrived and has been installed in the cafeteria. This fan is now being used to ventilate the kitchen and will later be used to ventilate the whole dining hall when warm weather arrives, Mr. Collins concluded.

DIRECTORY READIED

The Student Directory will go on sale December 8, according to Mrs. C. A. Rouse, associate professor of home economics. Information for the directory, which will contain names, addresses, and classifications of all Marshall students, was compiled and edited by members of Kappa Omicron Phi, honorary home economics society.

The directory will be sold by home economics students in the Student Union, Old Main, and in the Science Hall.

Reservations For Rooms Available

Reservations for rooms next semester in Laidley and College Halls may be made next week, Mrs. Lillian H. Buskirk, dean of women, said.

Reservations for the rooms they are now occupying must be made by students on December 6 and 7. All remaining rooms will be open for reservation to dormitory residents on the following days:

Coach Cam. Henderson began stepping up daily practice sessions for his Big Green basketball team this week as the Marshall courtmen turned to final preparation for their opening game, December 9 with Milligan College at Radio Center.

After Thursday night's contest with the scrappy sharpshooters from Johnson City, Tenn., the Thundering Herd will run headlong into the Emporia State Teachers of Emporia, Kan., Saturday, December 11, again at Radio Center.

Following the two-game home stand, Coach Henderson and his band of Green and White hopefuls will head West for a double-header in Kansas City, a series of three games in Texas, and wind up their first road trip of the new campaign by defending their year-old championship in the second annual Los Angeles National Invitational Basketball Tournament on December 28-30 and 31.

Since the close of football season, Norman Willey and Bob Koontz have taken their place in the basketball ranks and are expected to figure prominently in this season's play.

Besides Willey and Koontz, other returning veterans from last year's team include forwards Bill Toothman and Dick Erickson, center Gene "Goose" James, and guards Bob Wright and Fred White. Remaining members of the '48-'49 squad will be selected from the following newcomers: Ivan Repass, Jimmy Johnson, Gleanous Cline, Ralph Somerville, Bob Stanfill and George White. The latter is a cousin of Fred White and was a member of last year's tough Logan high school combine.

Big Sandy Boys Cop Mural Opener

By LEONARD CAMPBELL

Max Crutcher's Big Sandy Boys opened the intramural basketball season Tuesday by upsetting the highly touted Blue Devils, 45-20. Led by McLynn with 16 points and Stanfill's 14 markers the victory was an easy one for the high geared winners. Hackworth's six points led the losers in the scoring column.

In the most exciting game of the evening the Gentlemen defeated the Boozers, 46-41. Pose racked up 15 points and Parker 10 in their team's victory. Ball tossed in 22 counters in a losing effort for his team.

Hodges Hall Lions recorded their first game on the right side of the ledger by defeating B. O. Plenty, 37-27. Brown hit the bucket for 17 points for the Lions and Davidson was high with 10 for B. O. P.

First Methodist Church won over Southerners, 37-24, in their opening tussle. Gillespie swished 16 points through the net for the winners. Ashworth was the big gun for the Southerners with eight points.

PAUL DUNKLE of Kappa Alpha fraternity captured the intramural golf championship with an amazing score of 144. Dunkle shot brilliant golf over the tough Spring Valley Country Club course to finish just 6 over par for 36 holes. Bob Burgess, independent, finished second with a score of 149.

LACK OF COURSES ties such as Raleigh, McDowell and Mercer, few students are registered. Dr. Harris attributes this to the fact that Marshall does not offer extension courses in these counties, that the State University does, and consequently, after finishing extension courses, they continue at the university.

Commenting further in the report, Dr. Harris said, "The State University is making a systematic, aggressive, and a pretty effective effort at turning teachers of the southern portion of the state toward Morgantown for the master's degree." In order to bring a reasonable number of graduate students in the highly populated counties to Marshall, Dr. Harris said that Marshall will have to offer work that is as well or even better suited to their needs than is offered by the state university, that Marshall must make its offerings widely known throughout the state, and that it must compete successfully with the university in extension service in southern West Virginia.

The report listed 308 students receiving their Master's degree since 1939, and 206 students doing graduate work this semester.

Dr. Charles H. Moffat, associate professor of history, was guest speaker at the meeting of the East High School Key Club last Wednesday.
