Big Green Primed For Cincinnati Clash

Celebration Plans Made By Council

Date of Annual Decoration and Float Contests Moved to November 14

By CLAYTON PARCELL

Taking note of the change of Homecoming Day from Thanksgiving to November 14, the Student Council at a meeting last Wednesday night designated the new date as the occasion of the annual house decorating contest and parade of floats.

A committee composed of Councilmen Elias Shelansky, Bill Durret, and Donald Smith was appointed to arrange activities. The cups which annually are awarded by the Council in the house decorating and float contests will again be the coveted prizes. Last year Delta Sigma Epsilon sorority won the cup for having the best decorated house and Kappa Alpha fraternity was awarded the cup for the best float in the parade.

In view of the greater attendance that is expected to result from the change of dates the council is planning additional ceremonies to accompany the traditional exercises. The football game between Miami University and Marshall and the Alumni dance will be the two big attractions of the day.

Government Discussed

The present system of governing student dances was discussed by the council, but no action was taken. Dances will continue under the same rulings until the council can arrange changes that will meet the approval of the social activities committee.

Glenn Hill, senior representative and treasurer of the council, gave a financial report which showed a deficit of $24.50. He reported a $16.50 loss on the last student dance.

Subsidy Asked

A petition will be submitted to the college council soon requesting that they put before the state board of education for approval a

Three Are Hypnotized

Dr. Bowers Demonstrates
Before Assembly
Audience

Dr. E. V. Bowers, head of the psychology department, performed three successful hypnotic experiments at assembly hour Wednesday. This was the first in a series of monthly scientific programs arranged by the assembly committee.

Placed in a trance by the hypnotic eye of Dr. Bowers three students obeyed his commands while under the spell. One "human specimen" became rigid when hypnotized and was placed with his head on one chair and his feet on another.

Elaborate Plans Made For Centennial Program

President Allen Announces Tentative Schedule For Three Day Celebration In June; Commencement Date Is Shifted To Wednesday, June 2

Tentative exercises which will comprise the Centennial Celebration next June were announced yesterday by President James E. Allen following a meeting of the special faculty Centennial committee.

Baccalaureate services on Sunday, May 30 will be the first event on the three-day program that is being contemplated. On that same day the afternoon will be given over to the acceptance by the college of a group of murals which will be painted by Mrs. J. C. Fors on the walls of the Morrow Library reading room. Appropriate dedicatory services are being planned.

Commencement exercises, formerly scheduled for the Monday following the Baccalaureate sermon have been advanced to Wednesday, June 2, 1937. The two-day lapse in the Centennial program proper will afford an opportunity for the completion of the entire undergraduate final examinations.

Commencement On Wednesday

The schedule of the second day of the celebration will begin with the one hundredth Commencement exercises in the morning. The speaker for this occasion has not been announced.

Portraying the history of the institution from the time of its founding in 1837 to the present, a pageant written by Prof. A. Otis Ranson, head of the speech department, and Prof. Buell Whitehill, director of College Theatre, will be presented on Wednesday afternoon following Commencement.

Members of the student body will take the leading parts in this presentation which will trace the progress of the school from its beginning.

Varsity M Alumni Elect

Ed S. Reeser Chosen To Head
Organization; Edmunds
Is Vice President

Alumni of the Varsity M club met Wednesday night and elected the following officers: president, Ed S. Reeser; vice president, Carl Edmunds; secretary and treasurer, Dr. Beckett Martin.

The group discussed plans concerning the club's participation in the Homecoming and Dad's Day celebrations, and appointed a committee, headed by R. Lee Beuhring, to draw up a set of by-laws.

Benny Fletcher was appointed chairman of a committee to search the records of men eligible for membership, as the club desires to increase the membership rolls.

The group will meet again next Wednesday at 7:45 o'clock in the gymnasium.

4-H Club Elects Year's Officers

At its second meeting of the year, the 4-H club elected the following officers: president, Jack Tyree; vice-president, Margie Tam; secretary and treasurer, Ernestine Jenkins; publicity manager, Ray Clark; song leader, Glenva Starcher; game leader, Aloysius McHale.

Mrs. Irene Wymer, Cabell County Home Demonstration agent, and Ocie King of the Rural Rehabilitation bureau were present at the meeting.

1500 Hear Byrd Talk

1500 Rooters To Follow Squad
To Owl Game At Queen City

Scenes from the coldest and lowest part of the world were shown before approximately 1,500 people last night at the city auditorium by Admiral Richard E. Byrd, conquerer of both the North and South Poles.

President James E. Allen introduced the Admiral as one of America's most distinguished sons and servants.

Admiral Byrd narrated his adventures while scenes were shown by a motion picture camera. Little America was the center of his narration. From there scientific studies of the cold wasteland were made. Scenes of yawning crevices with no bottom occupied much of the film.

Admiral Byrd narrated his adventures the first of a series of programs being arranged by the Centennial committee of the college. Prof. Curtis Baxter, chairman of the committee, received special commendation from Admiral Byrd for the efforts he spent in arranging last night's program.

Yale University has the addresses of all but 80 of its 31,005 graduates.

Team Seeks Second Loop Win Of Year

Enthusiastic Throng Greet

By BILL KEESLER

The entire squad of twenty-four Big Green gridders will embark for Cincinnati at noon today, seeking their second conference win of the year in the battle with the Cincinnati Bearcats at Nippert stadium tomorrow night.

The team will arrive in the Queen City tonight, and will make its headquarters at the Hotel Neherland Plaza. One of the largest crowds ever to attend a Buckeye conference game is expected to be on hand at the stadium tomorrow evening. If the special train is procured for the trip to Cincinnati, a capacity rooting section will be on hand to cheer for the Big Green.

Train Tickets Still On Sale

Tickets for the special train are still on sale in the Student Union building and the book store at $3.20 for the round trip. They can be obtained until 11:30 o'clock today.

Late last night, the American Business Club committee reported that over a 100 would have to be sold, or the excursion would be abandoned.

If the train is not procured, the band will not be able to make the trip, and the squad will have just that much less support. Don't delay. Buy your tickets now.

The band, according to Director Harry Mueller will be at its full strength of sixty members and three drum majors.

The band has been under full pressure all week in order to make an impressive showing at the game, and will be dressed in full uniform

Twenty - Three Requisites Listed By Local Sororities

What do sororities check when they are looking for prospective pledges? Many of the new women locally seem to think that good looks are all-essential, others that to attend one rush function is the requisite of being accepted into a chapter, while others are completely bewildered by the sudden rush and haven't had time to think of sorority requirements.

As an answer to the silent questionings of future sorority members, the Arrow, publication of Pi Beta Phi, national social sorority, has published a list of twenty-three reasons for giving women bids to sororities. These points have been endorsed by Pauline Kincaid, president of the Marshall Panhellenic society, and several other sorority women.

Heading the list is the requirement of a wholesome family background. Closely related are good financial status, with a large enough income so that one can afford to belong to a sorority, a family well liked in the community and of such connections that the woman is of the same social standing that the sorority maintains, relatives who may be present members, or sisters who may become future members, a father with a good professional standing, and a home located in a desirable part of town.

Regarding personal matters, the sorority requires that its members have a good moral reputation, an attractive, neat appearance to the extent of wearing and knowing appropriate clothes, and an attractive personality. She must have had a good social standing in high school and good social contacts, and she should be interesting and not boring, well-bred and possessing poise. To be an asset to the group she should be friendly, tactful, alert, fairly intelligent, and interested in extra-curricular activities.

Concerning scholastic work, the only requisite is that the woman's grades be fairly good, at least to the extent of not having habitually failed courses, that she be interested in school work, and have the ability to pass college work with a "C" average, a requirement for initiation.

Archie Plans For Another Twenty-Year Stretch Here

By CLAYTON PARCELL

Archie has tasted the bitter dregs of war, he has stood on a ship and smiled at the thousands who waved the "boys" to France and victory, he has run barefoot over dusty roads in ole Virginia, he has swung a pick and shovel in dank, underground coal mines, but nothing he has done will induce him ever to leave Marshall.

"The years go by peaceful like now," Archie said, "and I'm working for some of the finest people I ever knew. Nope, I haven't made any plans for the future because in these times it doesn't do a man much good to plan. I guess I'll just stay right on here."

Archie Lipscomb was born in Pittsylvania county, Virginia, in 1890. Thirteen years later he started shifting for himself. He wandered over the country for several years before drifting into the mining section of West Virginia. He was working in the iron fields at Kaymoor when he heard of a vacancy for a second-cook at Marshall college. He got the job, and except for the eight months he spent in France, he has been here ever since.

Archie will have passed his twentieth anniversary at the college, October 19. There will be no celebration for Archie that day. It will pass for him the same as other days have passed.

"The bunch of girls we have now are big eaters," Archie said, "and they like most all dishes. They like chicken, same as you and me, and steaks, chili, vegetable soup, and Boston cream pies."

Cats are becoming a tradition at the dormitory kitchen. Sometimes ten or twelve may be seen lolling around at one time. They are seldom disappointed when they come in search of food for Archie is a man who has sympathy for wayward creatures.

How they find a way to Archie's kitchen door might well be called a mystery, but nevertheless the line never dwindles. Maybe they have a code much like the hobo who checks the house that gives him a hand-out.

Archie believes there is no place in the world for a man like the ning as Marshall Academy to the modern, second largest college in the state of West Virginia. Special music is being written for this pageant by Dr. Harry Mueller, of the music department.

Speeches Are Feature

The evening of the second day of the celebration will be occupied by a program of speeches by several distinguished personages who will attend the Centennial. This program is planned to be the outstanding feature of the entire three days of festivities.

Although no definite time has been set, an alumni parade will take place during the day. An alumni dinner will also be on the day's program.

Dedication of the statue of John Marshall which will be erected upon the campus will take place on Thursday morning with speeches by national dignitaries. A sculptor from the artists division of the Works Progress administration has been assigned to do this work.

The final event upon the program will be a demonstration by the physical education department on Thursday afternoon. This part of the program will be under the direction of Prof. Otto Gullickson.

A special committee on class reunions, composed of Prof. Frances Burgess and Prof. Robert L. Britton, was appointed at the meeting of the Centennial committee.

The Centennial committee is composed of the President, Prof. W. N. Beetham, Prof. Burgess, Prof. Lyell Douthat, Prof. Lucy Prichard, and Prof. R. I. Roudebush.

farm. He was born on a farm, way down in a little hollow in Virginia. The sweet, pine-scented air, the chirp of a cricket in the deep forest, the early morning mist against his cheek, all the beauties of the open spaces are still fresh in his memory.

But Archie doesn't go back to his home now.

"You know," he said with a faint smile of the past creasing his face "a home isn't a home without a mother. When you go back and she isn't there you don't feel just right. My mother died in 1925 and I haven't been back but once since then. I don't enjoy going back now."

And so Archie, 49 now, continues as head-chef at the dorm kitchen. He has peeled a lot of potatoes and made a lot of coffee during his twenty years here but he isn't thinking of quitting just yet, instead he is looking forward to another twenty-year stretch.

Another of his demonstrations showed that the command given while under the influence of hypnotism is still in effect after the person has been released from the trance. He told one of his stooges that he would not know h's name after the experiment was over and the man did not.

Lincoln, Neb.—(ACP)—Do you know the predominant reasons that students attend certain universities? Surveys on this subject are always interesting even though they may not always be scientifically accurate.

Dr. S. M. Corey, professor of educational psychology and measurements at the University of Nebraska, made an extensive study of this question in so far as his own institution was concerned, and these were the answers, in the order listed:

Recommendation of high school teachers and administrators. Proximity of the university to the student's home. Family influence. Prestige of the institution. Economy. Availability of desired course. Influence of friends.

"Of the seven students who gave 'influence of athletics' as their reason," says Dr. Corey, "five rank in the lowest psychological test and none in the highest."

Thank You

Our most sincere thanks go to members of the American Business Club who took such active leadership in making arrangements for the Cincinnati special. It matters not a great deal whether or not their efforts met ultimate success. We are concerned only with the fact that they took the trouble to serve the interests of Marshall and then to the utmost of their ability. Again we say, "Thanks".

In Protest

In the midst of the din which has lately enveloped the campus in an uproar of blaring horns and blatant sound trucks we strive mightily to make ourselves heard in registering at least one lone protest against this outrageous racket.

The present political campaigns, national, state, and local, have brought forth a flock of sound trucks whose drivers seem to have the common opinion that the result of the elections depend solely upon the vote of Marshall college students. Besides this one single but voluminous source of noise there is one other that rivals it for provoking students and faculty members alike to temporal madness, that being an epidemic of hora-tooting that exceeds even the enthusiasm of a New Year's Eve celebration.

Added to these extraneous circumstances are certain rather natural disadvantages, such as the proximity of the trolleys and railroads, which dwarf any other single source of noise and which are practically outside of control. The only consoling factor is that these sounds have by now reached a sort of minimum effect upon students.

We note with a degree of hope that anti-noise campaigns in several large cities have been surprisingly successful in reducing to a minimum the disturbing hubbub of roaring surface cars, clanging bells, and blaring horns. Gone is the impatient tooting of the thoughtless motorist, gone the boisterous phonograph of the sound truck, and gone the greater portion of unnecessary noise.

The success of anti-noise campaigns elsewhere is greatly encouraging to those of us who attempt to study in these multitudinous distractions which dim our eyes and fog our brains. Perhaps there is hope after all that there is some remedy which will produce results. Just how and by whose hands this remedy may be applied we are at a loss to determine. We do know that plentiful honors await the one who stills this blaring, tooting, honking, clanging, roaring din.

Each year about this time feature writers seize the opportunity of displaying to their readers the stupidity which freshmen are alleged to exhibit in writing their psychological tests. Astonishing answers—probably highly colored by over-energetic scribes—are always revealed. This list of freshman fantasies, however, has some authenticity. With due apologies.

SKYWARD

By Richard Evelyn Byrd

Our reaction to the announcement of Admiral Richard E. Byrd's lecture was a desire to know more of this great man's career. So we read Skyward, Byrd's own account of his adventures prior to the Antarctic expeditions. The book is illustrated with unusual photographs, and should be of particular interest to men.

Byrd is Navy bred, but an injured leg made him unfit for duty, so he turned to aviation. During the war, he served at various aeronautical training bases, and commanded our air forces in Canada. Later, he influenced Congress to create an independent Bureau of Aeronautics for the Navy.

In 1925 he joined the MacMillan polar expedition. It was on this trip that he and Floyd Bennett made their famous flight to the North Pole.

Byrd's next feat was a trans-Atlantic flight. This, his long-cherished ambition, was realized on July 1, 1927, when he landed his plane in French waters.

Byrd is now America's leading air explorer, and might have retired to a life of ease, but his scientific mind could not rest. The Antarctic beckoned him on—that dark, unknown continent which he was soon to conquer.

flashed out and closed over a buzzing fly. He squashed it, then tossed it aside.

Sleepy eyes blinked with amazement. Drowsy students nudged their neighbors. What? It couldn't have happened.

But the professor was not one of these selfish individuals who acts and conceals the cause for his conduct. He explained that it was a measure to wake up his class. He proceeded to point out the defects of his "fly-system". Yes, flies were o.k. for summer and spring months, but what about winter and fall?

Cold seasons can not even deter this prolific professor. When Dipterae are dormant, he adapts inanimate objects toward the same ends. While lecturing and walking around the room, he balances a window pole with one finger, and students, fearing that the wavering pole will deal them a lusty rap on the pate, are constantly attentive.

And even at this point his technique does not run out. He sometimes stretches a rubber band across two fingers and flexes it continuously. Scholars must be watchful; they cannot risk closing their eyes to the peril.

Our un-Demosthenic professor, with a W. C. Field's propensity plus a Houdini brain, succeeds where less talented men of learning, men who indulge solely in pastoral poetry, fail.

A matchlessly accurate statistician

While a majority of the eleven boys who are enrolled in the home economics department admitted that non-biological credit had a lot to do with it, they nevertheless expressed the opinion that some day they might have need of their knowledge.

"I intend to teach my wife how to run the household," one explained.

Five of the eleven are enrolled in Household Economics, two in Food Selection and Preparation, two in Dietetics, one in Textiles and Clothing, and the other in Home Agriculture and Sanitation.

Besides "it is well" and "I would surely flunk chemistry, physics or math," "the good-looking girls" attracted many of the boys to the home economics classes.

Howard Bailey, Jack Sutherland and Bill Bockway will make some girls good husbands, for they say definitely that they will carry their domestic knowledge over into married life.

Home economics is really of value to other men. Russel Lee thinks that the study of everyday problems as taken up in Household Economics will help him in the practice of law. Likewise, Robert Hirschman is in a textile class because he intends to buy and sell textiles for a living.

All of the men professed to feel "O. K." in the class of women. There is some difference, however, in their opinion of the women's work. Some of them think that girls are much easier to compete with than boys, while others insist that the work is heavier.

When asked how the men were getting on, Miss Myrtle MacDannald, home economics teacher, whose courses boast eight of the eleven, said, "The men are doing nice work. At first I tried to discourage them, but they stuck, and now I find that they add a lot to the class."

And how do the women feel about this masculine invasion of their domain? "I don't care" was only one of the replies characteristic of their indifferent attitudes.

The business of turning out this thing isn't all it is cracked out to be. The strain is terrific. We do our best to hatch up a galley of stuff for your consumption and what does it avail? To be exact, not a darn thing. Here we go and express our innermost thoughts, in fact we practically bare our souls, and what does that get us? A ribbing. ## Sororities End Rushing Tonight, Pledge Later

Active rush week for eight sorority chapters will be closed tonight when two sororities give their final informal parties. Rushees have been entertained yesterday and today with some of the most unusual parties which the campus has ever seen.

The climax of the season will be reached Tuesday night when the various chapters will have formal pledging ceremonies for their rushees.

Pi Kappa Sigma

Rushees of Pi Kappa Sigma sorority participated in a treasure hunt yesterday afternoon at the chapter house and on the surrounding campus. The invitations to the party were small brown treasure chests, and the house was arranged as a pirates' den. The table in the dining room was covered with a bright red and white checkered table cloth, with a centerpiece of an old chest filled with jewelry.

The culmination of the hunt was a large treasure chest in which were cached the favors for each rushee.

The committee in charge was composed of Misses Martha Morton Butler, Anna Carolyn Seiber, Mary Ruth Woodyard, Betty Woods, and Balmaine Hunter.

Kappa Theta

Members of Kappa Theta, dressed in Chinese costumes, entertained rushees with a Chinese party yesterday afternoon. The only light was furnished by small Chinese lamps and lanterns. Incense gave the proper atmosphere to the gathering, and dark fall flowers were used as added decorations. Mrs. J. Edward Bailey poured tea, which was served with Chinese cookies and nuts. Favors were Chinese baskets filled with candy. A prize was given for the best Chinese proverb.

In charge of arrangements were Misses Mary Laura Morrison and Marie Kessel.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Carrying out the traditional mock marriage ceremony between an active and a rushee, the members of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority departed from their ancient custom of waiting until after pledging, and had the wedding as a rush party last night at the home of Mrs. Paul Hardy.

The living room was decorated with an altar and ferns, and wedding music was played by Miss Virginia Brandon at the piano. Participants in the rites were Miss Marjorie Null, a rushee, the bride; Miss Eleanor Hardman, groom; Miss Evelyn Raiford, matron of honor; Miss Eileen Groves, best man; Misses Geraldine Kirkpatrick and Virginia Lee Shank, bridesmaids; and Miss Marguerite Miller, minister. At the end of the ceremony, the actives sang "My Tri-Sigma Girl."

At the reception held later in the dining room, Miss Jeanne Kopp presided at the coffee urn. A large wedding cake occupying the center of attention contained good luck tokens which the rushees obtained by pulling ribbon streamers. Favors of small gold china slippers were used.

Miss Evelyn Schumaker was in charge of arrangements.

Theta Rho

Theta Rho sorority entertained last night honoring rushees with a buffet supper at the home of Miss Katherine Holswade in Park Hills. The centerpiece of the table was a large bowl of yellow chrysanthemums and orange marigolds. Favors were small gold china horse-shoes and keys tied with the sorority colors, purple and gold.

Invitations to the party were printed on white paper with fluted green edges, bearing the gold seal of the sorority. Lettering was done in green ink.

Misses Betty Garrett, Ann Stanley, and Lucille Lane planned the party.

Rushees Will Get Preference Slips Sunday Afternoon

The Panhellenic council has announced that preference slips for non-sorority women will not be sent out until Sunday afternoon after 4:00 o'clock, and must be returned to the office of the dean of women by 10:00 o'clock Monday morning. The time of release has been changed at the request of the rushees with the approval of the council, in order that they might be able to attend the game in Cincinnati.

Miss Lee Fairchild Bacon, dean of women, has stated that sorority lists must be in her office by 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning; any lists brought in after that time will not be accepted. The office will be open between 4:00 and 4:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon in order that sorority women may obtain the preference slips. These slips will then be distributed to prospective members, who must return them to the office of the dean. Lists of acceptance will not be given out to the sororities until 2:00 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Kappa Tau Phi

Kappa Tau Phi, honorary sorority, will give a pig-skin party this afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. O. Reynolds, 2537 Collis avenue. Invitations were in the shape of footballs, and carried out the green and white colors of the college. Several games suitable to the theme of the party will be played, and a football will be given as the grand prize. As favors, rushees will receive small leather address books tied with green and white ribbons. Misses Alice Cain and Harriet Embleton are in charge of the party.

Delta Sigma Epsilon

A football party will be given by members of Delta Sigma Epsilon sorority this afternoon. Invitations made of yellow paper in the shape of goalposts were lettered in green ink, with green ribbons tied at one corner.

Goalposts will be erected at each end of the living room and college banners will decorate the walls. In the dining room the table will have a football as a centerpiece, and green and white streamers will go to each plate. Hot dogs, peanuts, and pop-corn will be served, and favors will be green and cream pennants with the Delta Sigma seal and Greek letters.

The committee in charge is made up of Misses Frances Snyder, Katherine Beckner, June Hartman, and Mary Hart.

Delta Xi Delta

A journalism party will be given by the members of Delta Xi Delta sorority tonight at the home of the faculty sponsor, Miss Eloise Shawkey. Invitations bore the question, "What's behind the news?", and entertainment at the party is planned to answer the question for the guests. Favors will carry out the theme.

The committee in charge is composed of Misses Grace Ball, Evelyn Jones, and Edna Mae Lowe.

Alpha Sigma Alpha

Alpha Sigma Alpha will give a nut party tonight at the home of Miss Mildred Kincaid. Invitations were sent to rushees inside a walnut shell. Decorations will consist of fall flowers and leaves, while games played will carry out the nut theme.

Misses Elizabeth Cary, Phyllis Madeira and Freda Noble are in charge.

Florida Putting Starch In Squad

Gainesville, Fla.—(ACP)—They're even putting starch into the back field men at the University of Florida. So you see it isn't just a matter of stiffening up that line.

The seventy ravenous giants of the football squad are fond of potatoes, eating about 650 pounds of them each week—which amounts to about 9 pounds and one-half for each player.

In addition to eating together, all of the varsity men live in the same building. Living under one roof, according to Trainer Smoky Harper, promotes better relationship between the men.

There are numerous other advantages. The fellows are not disturbed as much as they would be if living at the customary dorms fraternities, or boarding houses. The rules of the house assure each man conditions congenial to enjoying enough sleep.

Introducing The Herdsmen

By BILL KEESLER

One of the most popular members of the Big Green squad is Rufus Carney, regular varsity end last year. So far this season Rufus has been playing at one of the guard positions, and giving a very good account of himself, with his aggressive tactics.

Carney is the younger brother of Elda who starred on the Big Green team last season. Following in his brother's footsteps, Rufus is one of the hardest working men Coach Henderson has ever coached, and despite his lack in size, makes a formidable opponent for any lineman.

Rufus hails from Dunbar, weighs 164, and is 5 feet 9 inches tall. He is a student in the teachers college and ranks high in his studies. The old saying still goes... "Dynamite comes in small packages".

JOINT MEETING PLANNED

A joint meeting with the new chapter of Chi Beta Phi of Wilmington, Ohio, has been planned by the Marshall chapter. Final plans will be completed at the meeting of Chi Beta Phi tomorrow afternoon.

Big Green Sportlites

By Bill Keesler

Who is going to win? Will the Big Green take the Bearcats or vice versa?... That is the current chatter going on around the campus. Some of the veteran campus gossipers are going to and fro giving out the old fight song of "Remember the defeat last year"... Sounds like those warblers better go to Texas where they will feel at home singing "Remember the Alamo".

Yes, my friends this is a new era and a better one. We must think of the future instead of the past. Too many things that have happened in the past are already forgotten, but the things to come for the Big Green on the gridiron will not in my humble opinion be forgotten very quickly... If we must lend our famous last words, let's go to Cincinnati and give forth the old gusto in loyal appreciation of a squad of real honest to goodness iron-men... On to Cincinnati...

The Bearcats have thus far enjoyed a rather slim season, with two defeats and a tie... Not quite the big blustering bad men of last year's fame, but good enough to upset anybody's apperception if the times are ripe... and who knows, it might be.

All we can say is, that sometimes a team thinks it is a little better than someone else so it steps out and tries to conquer the world... From all results we would say... stay in your own back yard, and clean up there first...

The Bearcats have had bad breaks so far this season, but so has the Big Green. So we think the newly enlarged Nippert Stadium in Cincinnati will be filled to the brim with fans to see the turf fly in what looks like a football natural.

In case anybody forgot to mention the fact to you (my few). They are still sore tickets and train room on the special Saturday afternoon.

Nippert Stadium, the Bearcats den is now the second largest stadium in Ohio, and one of the biggest in the middle west... The only thing Coach Russ Cohen, Bobcat mentor, is worrying about is the fact that the stadium might be a jinx to the team; as yet the Bearcats have not won a game in the new structure... Every time I see J. B. Russell run it reminds me of the good old days, when everybody galloped... Of course J. B. doesn't have a horse... Notre Dame had "Four Horsemen", Marshall has only one... It'll be "Kate, Bar the Door", on the return special, if the Big Green comes through... Coach Matty Bell, of the Southern Methodist Mustangs said the people over east thought he was behind the tires; he used a four man line and threw 49 passes in a recent football game... Twenty-three men, but all men. All we can say is watch out, you Bearcats. It won't be as easy as last year.

ODD FACTS

Bob Bunch, the fellow who has been taking care of the intramural touch football games of late, seems a bit oddly dressed for the job... The last two games he has been wearing a pair of pajama pants. I couldn't make up my mind whether it was the beginning of a period of the end... You try...

SANTROCK WINS MEN'S TENNIS CROWN

Woods Loses Net Match To Nitro Freshman Star

Champion Breaks Through Losers Cannonball Serve To Win 8-6, 6-1, 6-4

John Santrock, Nitro freshman star, yesterday annexed the men's intramural tennis championship when he overcame Pembroke Woods, tournament dark-horse, and defeated him in three hard fought sets 8-6, 6-1, and 6-4.

Woods started out in the first set by winning four straight games, but Santrock, rallied after losing those initial games and won four himself. After each game went to the server until the thirteenth game when Santrock broke through Woods powerful left-hand serve and won that game and the next, which gave him the first set.

In the second set Santrock won three straight games, lost one, and returned to win three more and the set.

The last set was started by Santrock winning the first game, losing the second, winning the third, and giving way to a Woods rally by losing the next three games. His rally did not last, however, and Santrock came back to win four straight games, the set and the championship.

Santrock advanced to the final round by defeating B. Rollyson 6-2, 6-1 and Henry King 6-1, 6-0 Wednesday afternoon. Woods advanced by eliminating Aldo Del Checcolo 6-0, 6-2, Roy Slack 6-3, 9-7 and receiving a default from Harry Clarke, Wednesday afternoon.

The championship match required exactly one hour and twenty-five minutes to play.

Dick Chambers, tournament director, refereed the match.

Women To Play Tennis Final Today

The champion of the women's intramural tennis tournament will be decided this afternoon when Dorothy Auten and Marie Fisher cross raquets.

Miss Auten won her way into the finals by defeating Lucy Nowlin and Mary Galzerano and whipping Louise Lewis in the semi-finals yesterday.

Miss Fisher gained her way to the finals by downing Betty Mead and Frances Perry.

Nineteen raquet swingers were in the tournament, which was won by Virginia Harrison last year.

Buffaloes Beaten By Wolfpack A

Winners Retain Independent Loop Lead In Tag Football With 13-0 Win

By scoring two touchdowns in the first quarter Wolfpack "A" defeated the Buffaloes 13-0 Tuesday afternoon, and retained their half game lead in the Independent Touch Football League.

Early in the first period Lykins passed 20 yards to Wilcox who ran the remaining ten to score. Boone missed the drop-kick for the extra point, but soon afterwards Lykins again passed to Wilcox from mid-field for the final touchdown of the game. A pass, Lykins to Boone was good for the extra point as the quarter ended.

On two occasions the Buffaloes drove deep into Wolfpack territory but alert defensive men grounded touchdown passes to keep their goal line uncrossed.

The Flying Squadron gained full possession of second place by taking a forfeit game from Wolfpack "B". The victory was the third for the Flying Squadron with only one defeat to mar their record.

Sport Added To Intramurals

Intramural Department First To Hold Competitive Plug Casting Contest

An intramural plug casting contest will get underway next week on the campus, with over twenty entrants participating. Professor Otto Gullickson, director of intramural activities, announced yesterday.

The intramural department here will be the first department of any college in the country to inaugurate this sport. This activity added to the present list of sports will swell the number of intramural activities to over 26, establishing a new record. (Continued To Page 8)

BIG GREEN

with white spats. They will march on the field at the half, and demonstrate new formations.

Injuries Hamper Squad

Hampered by injuries, the Big Green will not be at its full strength for the coming contest tomorrow night, but Coach Henderson has been working the squad to the limit, in order to stop the rush of the experienced Bearcat backfield.

"Buckshot" Underwood, regular varsity guard, will be on the sidelines, along with Junior Bolyard, regular tackle. Underwood has an injured leg, due to a bruise received in the Ohio U. encounter last Saturday, and was ordered to bed by the doctor. Bolyard has not recovered sufficiently from the injury sustained in the Dayton battle, but has been in uniform this week, working out the stiffness in his knee.

As usual the "Crafty One" was backward about giving out his starting lineup, but from observations of the past week's practice the following men will probably start the conflict: Bill Smith and Johnny Stephens will hold down the end positions, flanked by Wayne Underwood and Johnny Cox at the tackles, Nelson Bragg and Rufus Carney at the guard posts, and Chub Watson will be the pivot man. There will probably be a couple of changes in the backfield, with "Buck" Jamison calling the signals and Captain Herb Royer filling the fullback position. The halfback posts will be held down by Harold Watson and J. B. Russell.

Bearcats Rated High

The Bearcats are rated the strongest team in the Buckeye conference race by a majority of the coaches, and being at full strength, will be a tough opponent for any team. Coach Russ Cohen, the Bearcat mentor, has been drilling his men against the Big Green offense and defense. Johnny Popov, Bearcat freshman flash, has been imitating the play of Captain Royer in pass plays, as Coach Cohen fears the Green passing attack.

Coach Henderson ran the team through a tough practice session yesterday, with the freshmen squad running Cincinnati plays. The Hendersonites will polish off for the Saturday night battle with a light practice under the lights at Nippert stadium in Cincinnati tonight.

Psychology Class Dissects Prof's Lecture Methods

"Instructors should stand up and keep moving," say students in Prof. K. K. Loemker's class in the psychology of effective study. Studying the technique of listening to lectures, they reversed the discussion and began dissecting the methods used by instructors.

"If an instructor moves around in front of the class," they continued, "he stands a better chance of holding the students' attention. And if he doesn't walk around, he should at least stand while delivering the lecture."

Students also said that a few instructors do not talk audibly. They either speak too softly or do not articulate clearly. The opinion was that many lectures could be improved if the instructors evinced more interest in what they were saying.

Another suggestion made was that instructors liven up lecture periods by either importing speakers from other departments, when the subject covered some other field, or

Directory To Be Sent To Printer

The student directory will be sent to the printer Thursday and will be ready for sale two weeks from that date, Phylis Smeltzer, president of the home economics club reported yesterday.

The home economics club members have been working on the directory since the opening of the semester and will sell the directory in the halls. The price will be ten cents. It will contain the names, addresses, and phone numbers of each student, faculty member, and campus organization.

Money received from sales of the directory will be applied to the practice house which the home economic students hope to have next semester.

'Accent On Youth' Draws Requests

Offers from Williamson and other towns desiring College Theatre to present "Accent on Youth" in their local theatres have been received by Prof. Buell Whitehill, director. "Accent on Youth" will be played in the college auditorium October 30 and 31. Prof. Whitehill is awaiting further word from the towns before making definite plans about taking the play on the road, he said yesterday.

New material for use in building stage settings was purchased during the last week by the theatre organization. The flats which the stage crew will build from the newly purchased material will be usable in future plays as well as in "Accent on Youth".

Actual construction on the set for the forthcoming production will be started tomorrow. The set is of modern design, and is to be furnished in modern style. It includes one whole room, a hallway, and parts of three other rooms.

Action for the first two acts has been completed, and the third act will go into rehearsal Monday.

ENTERTAIN MEMBERS

"If we could secure this backing" Tippet said, "we could promote more worthy activities at the college. As it is, the only revenue we have is from the dances, and they seldom clear expenses."

Albert Hull, Rae Poteet, and Bob Bunch were appointed to draw up a letter explaining for what purposes the money would be spent. This petition must be passed by the college council before it can be submitted to the state board of education.

Marie Kessel, sophomore representative, handed in her resignation to the council last Wednesday. No arrangements were made for filling the vacant post. Eleven students now hold seats in the council.

SPORT ADDED

Each contestant will be allowed 10 casts and the contest will be governed by the Anglers Rules Association. Lee Tate Smith, winner of many trophies in the art of casting the plug will assist Professor Gullickson in the running of the contest. Lee Tate recently won such a contest in Elkins at the Forest Festival held there.

All men interested in entering the sport, please hand their entries to either Professor Gullickson or to Mr. Smith before Tuesday of next week.
