Relations Club, Peace League Unite To Present Famed Negro Educator

Paul Harris, negro educator, and specialist in race relations, and staff writer for the magazine "Peace Action," will be the guest speaker at a forum to be held Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in room 23 of Main Building.

The forum is being held under the joint sponsorship of the International Relations Club and the Marshall Peace League. It will be open to the public.

League Is Aided

The speaker was secured through the efforts of Dr. Leonard C. Riggleman, president of Morris-Harvey college at Charleston, and Dr. J. P. Peirce, pastor of the First Congregational Church in Huntington, both of whom have been active in promoting anti-war sentiment in this area.

At a meeting Monday afternoon, Dayton Casto, arts college sophomore, was appointed to represent the Peace League at a joint meeting of all peace organizations in the city to be held at the Y. W. C. A. Thursday evening.

Officers Elected

A constitution drawn up by Fred Cody and Clinton Karr was accepted by the League, and new officers elected under the constitution are as follows: Lee Gani, vice-chairman; Fred Davis, treasurer; and Fred Cody, executive committeeman. Officers retained were: William Nunley, chairman; and Dayton Casto, secretary.

Naval Reserve Officer Here

Lieut. M. B. Johnson Will Seek To Interest Senior Men In Naval Aviation

Lieut. M. B. Johnson, executive officer of the Naval Reserve aviation base at Anacostia, D. C., will be in the office of Dean W. E. Greenleaf this evening at 8 o'clock to speak briefly before all men of the graduating class who are interested in naval aviation. He is here in the interest of the current program to procure college graduates for training in naval aviation.

Approximately fifty college graduates will be enrolled from West Virginia for the elimination flight training program to be held at the naval aviation base at Anacostia soon. Six classes of thirty days duration will be held this year, beginning May 15.

Students who successfully complete the course of elimination flight training will be commissioned as aviation cadets and ordered to the navy flying school at Pensacola for a year of advanced training.

The cadet then serves three years with the fleet after which he may retire to civilian life with his accumulated pay.

On subsequent days of this week Lieut. Johnson will appear at other colleges in West Virginia with the same proposal for graduating men.

Third "Student Swing To Be Swung Tonight

This evening at 7:00 o'clock in the auditorium the third "Student Swing" will open with a blast from the trumpets of Roscoe Harless and his Kings of Swing.

The program will include group singing of ten songs, a group of piano solos by Leonard Flohr, promising Huntington pianist who will be accompanied by the orchestra, and any other activities which can be construed as to contribute to the festive air of the occasion.

The master of ceremonies will be Gene (Shorty) Slutz, the entertainment is entirely free, and an 18-carat genuine celluloid electric toaster will be given to the person or persons who can raise the auditorium roof through the use of their vocal chords.

Cleveland Professor of Nursing Will Discuss Opportunities In Profession

Miss Cornelia Erf, assistant professor of nursing at the Frances Payne Bolton School of Nursing in Cleveland, will speak tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the north parlor of College Hall. The subject of her talk is "Openings for Women in the Nursing Field."

Miss Erf has been invited here by the Junior Woman's Club, a campus organization. The meeting will be open to all women.

The nursing school with which Miss Erf is affiliated is connected with Western Reserve University and University Hospital in Cleveland. The training given at the school is graduate work, a college degree being a prerequisite for entrance.

To learn the "kicks" of students and attempt to eliminate their causes is the aim of the Student Senate at Purdue University. It has placed a "gripe-box" in the Union building to collect written complaints.

Custodian Takes Vacation After 29 Years Of Labor

By RUTH DICKSON

After twenty-nine years of service as a custodian of the Main Building, Mrs. Mildred Gerren was granted six-months leave of absence by the State Board of Education last Friday.

The six months Mrs. Gerren plans to spend "just resting and living" in the green and white cottage she and her husband own four miles beyond Chesapeake, Ohio.

"We moved here right after the flood," said Mrs. Gerren. "Our home in West Huntington was ruined; although this place is close to the river, the high water doesn't quite reach it."

Council Will Act On Vote Amendment

Legislators To Met Tomorrow Evening To Consider Student Petition

The petition requesting a change in the voting requirements of the constitution which was handed in to Student President Larry Tippet Friday afternoon will be acted upon tomorrow evening in Student Council meeting.

Three hundred students signed the petition which asks for an amendment to clause F, section 3, article 1, of the present constitution. This clause provides that in order to vote, each student must register by signing his name before the election board, along with other information on his ballot. This provision was written into the constitution last year at the time of its revision in order to do away with the problem of "ringers" voting in the place of absentees.

Many Did Not Register

The objection to this provision as stated by William Nunley, who acted for the signers of the petition, was that so many students, either through neglect or ignorance of the requirement failed to register, and consequently a large part of the student body did not get to vote in the elections.

The proposed amendment requires that the faculty members in charge of voting have at the polling places the registration cards filed in the offices of the Dean of Men and Dean of Women. A prospective voter's name must appear in the files, and he must be able to give any information necessary to prove his identity, such information to be identical with the information on the card. The card will be marked once the student has voted and should he attempt to vote again, he would automatically be disqualified.

Amendment Is Favored

According to Tippet indications are that the amendment will be passed.

"I am in favor of it," he said, "because the present form of registration takes a lot of time and trouble, which will be done away with, yet the use of the Deans' files will omit the evil of

'Tag Day' Drive Opens Tomorrow

Dr. Allen Lauds Tag Day Sale

I hope that all of us will respond to the spirit and purpose of Tag Day.

It is a most commendable effort on the part of the students of Marshall in financing the Centennial. What a fine tribute to our spirit of Loyalty if The Parthenon could publish 100 per cent participation of the students in the Centennial!

Can we raise $1000 on the campus? At least $300 is in hand from the campus now. Let's accept the challenge! President JAMES E. ALLEN

Each Student To Be Asked For Small Contribution To Centennial Fund

"Tag Day" will be conducted beginning tomorrow when 16 women, four from each class, will hang a tag on each student on the campus and collect exactly 25 cents each for the benefit of the Centennial fund.

Comencing at 10:00 o'clock tomorrow at the beginning of the assembly program and continuing through Thursday afternoon the sale of the tags is expected to add considerably to the students' contribution to the fund.

A sum well over the $500 quota set for the undergraduates will be reached if each of the approximately 1500 members of the student body purchases a tag.

Tippet Is Confident

Student President Larry Tippet, who in cooperation with the four class presidents, Hatfield Brubeck, Herbert Royer, Ross Romine and Robert Groban, said last night that there were every reason to believe that whole-hearted support will be accorded the tag sale by the student body.

President James E. Allen has given hearty approval of the sale and is urging students to get into the spirit of the campaign.

The 16 coeds who will sell tags were appointed last night by their respective class presidents. They will work in teams of two and the team selling the largest number of tags will be awarded a prize, Tippet said last night.

Proceeds Go To Fund

The proceeds of the sale have not been designated for any purpose other than as a contribution to the General Centennial fund.

The women who will vend the pasteboards are:

Seniors, Eunice Byrnside, Marguerite Miller, June Hartman and Susan Hanna; juniors, Elizabeth Flynn, Evelyn Schumaker, Le-more Lamb, and Margaret Hill.

The names of the sophomores and freshman appointees were not available last night.

Maxine McCarty Wins All-Star Cast Selection

Maxine McCarty, arts college sophomore, was one of the five players chosen as an all-state dramatic cast at the Intercollegiate Speech Festival held at Athens last Friday and Saturday. She received this distinction for her work in the one-act play, "Happy Journey to Trenton and Camden," which students of the college presented at the meet. Other Marshall students gaining recognition were Eph Jacobs, who was placed on the all-state debate team, and Eugene Slutz, who won honorable mention for his work in the one act play.

Other than the selection of all-star teams or casts in each division of forensic activity, represented at the meet, no decisions were handed down.

College Theatre Players Present "The Happy Journey To Trenton And Camden"

The play was presented in Athens last week-end during a two-day annual inter-collegiate speech festival for state contestants. No winners were announced since prizes were not offered, but criticism was presented.

Miss Maxine McCarty, member of the Marshall cast was chosen on the all-state dramatic cast selected by Director Richard N. Gage, of the Kanawha players of Charleston. Eugene Slutz was given honorable mention.

The cast of the play to be presented Wednesday includes Maxine McCarty as "Ma" Kirby; Eugene Slutz as Arthur Kirby; Margaret McNeely as Caroline Kirby; Fred Cody as Elmer Kirby; Maxine Mariani as Beulah and Jack Steelman as the stage manager.

The play takes place in an afternoon at the Kirby home, on the highway and in Camden.

Mirror Is Stolen From S.U. Building

A full-length mirror, framed in oak, was stolen from the West room of the Student Union building sometime during the past week according to Cecil Ferguson, manager of the building.

Ferguson has stated that there will be no questions asked if the mirror is returned at once. Otherwise, it will be necessary to turn the matter over to the authorities.

Judas Goats

Will young Americans be able to weather the storm of propaganda which must eventually sweep over this country when general warfare breaks out in Europe?

The Richmond News Leader in asking this question makes plain its attitude, that that portion of the population under 30 years of age knows nothing of the horror of war and that nothing short of a miracle can prevent them from escaping the powerful war passion which for generations past has involved this nation in numerous wars.

It is regrettable that our elders are inclined to take lightly the crystallization of anti-war sentiment which has taken place in the ranks of the younger generation. We have seen within the year such conclusions evidence of the frame of mind of the young people as the Veterans of Future Wars movement which for effectiveness outdid all the rest. Then there was the half-right Oxford movement which took a step in the right direction and then overstepped. Lastly the wholehearted support accorded the Emergency Peace Campaign by undergraduate groups was again a good indication of student sentiments.

But our elders are not willing to assist where their offspring have attempted to right their wrongs. For them to take the stand that having failed themselves there is no hope for others is to send youth into the field against propaganda half licked at the outset.

The good intentions of the youth of today will remain so until the time is ripe for our elders to lead the way in a program of nationalistic propaganda culminating in war. Will it then be a case of headstrong youth plunging into war for lack of knowledge of it or will it be a case of the innocent lambs being led to slaughter by the Judas goats, the ones who know what is ahead but who for personal reasons are willing that it shall come about?

diary of a collegian

Saturday morning I ventured up to the art exhibit room in the library where Mrs. Marion Vest Fors is working upon the murals which, come the Centennial celebration, will be placed in the reading room. My mission there was to find out from Prof. Juan Fors what songs he had selected to sing at Prof. Pitt's UHSP banquet on the night of May 1. Prof. Fors was in the stacks of the library Mrs. Fors said, and would be back soon. Wouldn't I like to look at the murals? Indeed I would, I rejoined, and stepped in.

There upon its easel in the center of the exhibit room, dividing it almost as a partition between two sections of a larger room, stood the great central mural representing the two colleges, the arts and science college and the teachers college. The underpainting was completed on this giant and Mrs. Fors at the moment was finishing one corner of the mural representing West Virginia literature.

Pridefully the artist showed me step by step the processes by which she places her work upon the canvas. I was astonished to learn that each figure represented in a mural is posed twice for the preliminary sketches, and that seven separate steps, each involving the reproduction of each figure in the mural, are taken before the mural is ready for glazing, the final process. This means that the artist draws or traces all of the material for each mural seven times before the painting is finished. This of course does not take into consideration all of the resketching necessary before a figure is drawn as it will finally appear on canvas.

Mrs. Fors said that by far the greater part of the work is in the composition of ideas, the posing, sketching, tracing, and the many enlargements of the preliminary sketch.

I was almost too impressed by the technicality of the work to offer much in the way of comment. But I have found strength now to predict that the murals of Marion Vest Fors will be a revelation to Centennial visitors.

AFTERTHOUGHTS

Prof. A. G. Moseley, campus candid cameraman, relates how for some time last spring he kept one eye cocked to the heavens as he worked in the chemistry labs. He was looking for clouds which would form suitable background for the flag in a picture of Main Building. One day a vagrant, fleecy mass floating majestically up the Ohio valley caught his eye, and, wonder of wonders, it was headed in just the right direction. The jubilant photographer waited until the cloud came within range, dashed out upon the campus with his camera, and caught the cloud, the flag, and the building at just the right moment. You saw the picture in the Sunday Herald-Advertiser.

Present plans for the Centennial edition of The Parthenon call for a 40 page paper, by far the largest ever published. Regular editions will be suspended more than two weeks in advance of its publication. . . . CHI BETA PHI MEETS

Chi Beta Phi will hold a special business meeting tomorrow at noon in room 101, Science Hall.

Show youth the right path and it will search it out earnestly.

To The Editor

To the Editor,
The Parthenon:

The last issue of the Parthenon carried the story of the petition before the Student Council to reform voting requirements; I would like to comment upon this situation.

Obviously the present set-up is faulty--the returns are self-evident. When only three or four dozen votes are cast by a class of several hundred the election can hardly be considered as expressing the wishes of the students.

The present clause is supposed to prevent "ringers" voting under the names of absentees. Instead it makes a farce of our elections. Why should we require registration when the file-cards of the Deans of Men and Women are available and are far more informative than registration cards? Another point--the registration system does not make ample allowance for registering. It provides a short period during which to register, insufficient previous announcement and numerous other faults, all of which have combined to enable only a small per cent to be able to cast their final ballot.

Surely the Student Council has had sufficient evidence of the failure of its registration clause; why should it not accede to the wishes of its constituents and return a favorable action on the proposed amendment? When over 300 students express approval of a measure by signing a petition circulated for only eight hours their wishes are obvious--enough so to make the duty of the Student Council very clear.

Joe Schmedding.

Miss Snyder To Be Interviewed

Marian Snyder, society editor of The Parthenon and president of Fourth Estate, honorary journalism sorority for women, will be interviewed on the "Okey, America" program on WSA tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock.

with a history. A weak, almost dying stray kitten, he was discovered by Dean Greenleaf, who took him to Mrs. Geren to be chloroformed. Instead, she took him to her home where he grew into a plump cat. Then, during the flood, he was stranded for eight days without food. He's getting back into shape now, though, and is firmly established as a member of the Gerren household.

Coming here in 1908, Mrs. Geren has seen five presidents come and go, and thousands of students.

"I always liked to see the new faces," she said, "but I've been sorry to see the old ones go. The students have always been friendly to me, as have the faculty members. 'I'll miss them.'"

Before she left, a group of the faculty members who have served here as long or longer than she has gave her a gift to show their appreciation of her faithful service.

illegal voting."

Although the constitution says that a proposed amendment must be taken under advisement for two weeks before any action can be taken, it is planned to have this amendment in effect by April 19, which has been designated as election day. This would appear to be unconstitutional, but according to Tippet, the fact that the amendment was given public notice by being published in the college newspaper ten days before the vote would nullify this objection.

Green, Victors Over Dayton, Await Miami

Farley's Nine Noses Out Flyers By 7 to 6 Count; Miami Invades April 23

Inaugurating the season Saturday with a 7-6 victory over the Dayton University Flyers at Inco park the Big Green diamond aggregation began preparations yesterday to play host to Buckeye rival Number 2, the Miami Redskins one week from today.

Coach "Skeets" Farley began long, strenuous workouts, intending to iron out weak spots in Saturday's lineup.

In the Dayton tilt the Green played loosely in the field during the first two innings and allowed the Flyers to help themselves to a three run lead. They partially closed the gap in the ast of the third inning with a single run tally.

In the fifth and sixth the Big Green ran up at otal of five runs, but Dayton came back in the first of the seventh with three runs to even it up 6 to 6. Jack Siens rammed out a triple to the right in the eighth to score George Ayresman with the winning run.

Siens was the hitting hero for the Green polling out a triple and a single. Elmer Bache of basketball fame led the Flyers with three safeties.

Demi Edwards opened the clash on the mound for the Green. For the first two innings the Flyers hit freely, but for the next four innings they could do nothing with the southpaw. Nelson Bragg took over the hurling assignment in the seventh after Bache had opened with a single.

Krumhansel, Dayton righthanded who went the entire route, held the Big Green to six hits, but was generous with the walks, handing out nine. Ayresman scored the winning run in the eighth after he had been walked.

The Green tflirlers accounted for ten outs through the strike-out method, each getting five. The Dayton hurler made four.

Dayton exhibited the only double play of the afternoon. It came in the sixth frame, the play being Garcia to Tscherne to Benbow.

Each side committed three errors.

By innings: Dayton 120 000 300--6

U. S. Senator Gerald P. Nye says: "I enjoy the comfort a light smoke gives my throat"

"I have smoked Luckies off and on ever since my first term in the Senate 11 years ago, and I have always enjoyed their taste and the feeling of comfort and safety a light smoke gives my throat. I have done a great deal of public speaking, on the floor of the Senate, over the radio and at conferences. Necessarily this results in a strain on the voice. So naturally, in smoking, I have to think of my throat—and I have found that a light smoke is suitable to my throat."

Gerald P. Nye

HON. GERALD P. NYE
U. S. SENATOR FROM NORTH DAKOTA

In a recent independent survey, an overwhelming majority of lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc., who said they smoked cigarettes, expressed their personal preference for a light smoke.

Senator Nye's statement verifies the wisdom of this preference and so do leading artists of radio, stage, screen and opera, whose voices are their fortunes, and who choose Luckies, a light smoke. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on your throat.
