U. H. S. P. CONVENES TODAY

College Is Host To Academy Of Science

State-Wide Convention Opens Today

Eight Members Of Marshall Faculty Will Appear On Program

The fourteenth annual meeting of the West Virginia Academy of Science will be opened this morning at 10:00 o'clock in the auditorium, when members of the Academy will convene for the initial session of the two-day gathering.

Reports of officers and committees and the appointment of new committees will occupy the members at the opening session.

At 11:00 o'clock Dr. James E. Allen will welcome the group after which Dr. Frank Cutright of Concord State college, president of the Academy, will speak. W. A. Gresh of the state conservation commission will speak to the Academy after Dr. Cutright's address.

Section Meeting Scheduled

Section meetings will be held this afternoon, to be followed by a dinner meeting at the Hotel Governor Cabell this evening at 6:15 o'clock.

Dr. Charles S. Tippetts, dean of the University of Pittsburgh school of business administration, will deliver the main address this evening in the college auditorium, according to Dr. Leslie J. Todd, chairman of the arrangements committee.

Section meetings will be as follows: biology, including botany, zoology, physiology, medicine, agriculture; chemistry, including chemistry, chemical engineering and pharmacy; geology, archaeology, geophysics, coal and oil engineering; mathematics and physics, including mathematics, astronomy, physics, mechanical engineering and electrical engi-

Paul Becker Elected Editor

Muncy Kegley Chosen Managing Editor; Four Members Of Staff Reelected

Paul H. Becker, arts college junior of Wheeling, was elected editor-in-chief of the Parthenon yesterday by acclamation to serve during the coming school year, succeeding Henry G. King.

Becker has been on the paper's staff for three years, having served successively as staff reporter, news editor and managing editor. He is a member of the Alpha Theta Chi fraternity and is the first fraternity man to be elected to the position since 1934.

Muncy Kegley, arts college junior, was elected managing editor to succeed Becker. He served as news editor during the past semester and previously as exchange editor and reporter. He is a resident of Huntington.

PAUL H. BECKER, arts college junior, was elected editor of the Parthenon for the coming year.

Six Hundred Students Attend Press Meeting

Honor Graduate Wins Scholarship From Columbia U.

Louise Humphreys, arts college senior, has been awarded a graduate resident scholarship by Columbia university. The award is one of a number given each year to undergraduates for outstanding scholastic attainments.

The scholarship is valued at $500 and provides for residence in the university's Johnson Hall dormitory for graduate students and for tuition.

Miss Humphreys will be graduated with honors in June, and will enroll at Columbia in September to begin her graduate study, working toward a master's degree in English literature

100 Journalism Teachers Will Gather In Conjunction With Student Meet

Almost 600 delegates to the eleventh annual congress of the United High School Press of West Virginia are expected to register today for their two-day meeting, held under the auspices of the department of journalism, according to Prof. W. Page Pitt, executive secretary.

Meeting in conjunction with the high school group will be the seventh annual convention of the West Virginia Teachers of Journalism Association. Advisers of school papers and instructors of journalism in high schools of the state numbering over 100 will attend the sessions.

Officers of the U. H. S. P. are Thomas Garten, president, of Charleston high school; William McCue, vice president, of Greenbrier Military school; Annie Warden, recording secretary of Pax high school; and Prof. Pitt, executive secretary.

Pirate Authority Speaks

Officers of the Journalism Teachers Assn. are George H. Turley, president, of Clendenin high school, John H. Hull, vice president, of Woodrow Wilson high school in Beckley; Carl Immings, secretary-treasurer, of Kingwood high school; and Prof. W. C. Tucker, executive secretary, of Marshall College.

Charles B. Driscoll, editor of the McNaught Syndicate, author of the column, "Pirates Ahoy", and authority on pirate lore, will be the speaker at the annual banquet Saturday evening in the Hotel Prichard ballroom.

The program arranged for the delegates begins this afternoon at 1:00 o'clock with registration in the department headquarters in the basement of the James E. Morrow Library. Delegates will receive their identification ribbons, tickets to the theatre and the dance Saturday night, and will be assigned places of lodging.

Attend Theatre Party

Delegates are being housed in the college dormitory, sorority and fraternity houses, and in the homes of students, faculty members, and residents of Huntington.

In the evening the Palace theatre will be the host at a theatre party for the convention.

Saturday morning the congress will convene in the auditorium in Main building to answer the roll call and receive the greetings of the college, given by President James E. Allen, Dr. W. E. Greenleaf, dean of the arts and sciences college, Dean Otis G. Wilson, of the teachers college, Miss Lee Fairchild Bacon, dean of women, and Dr. J. T. Kumpelmann, dean of men.

Forum Scheduled

An open forum under the direction of Dr. H. G. Toole, of the history department, will follow, during which the delegates will be free to discuss problems in high school journalism. A group picture will be taken after the adjournment of the first session.

The Saturday morning session of the Journalism Teachers Association will meet in room 23 of the Main Building. The members will be officially welcomed by Dean Wilson. The speakers will be Prof. Royal H. Ray, of the school of journalism of Ohio University, speaking on "Newspaper and Advertising Typography," and Prof. L. Niel Plummer, of the department of journalism of the University of Kentucky, discoursing upon "Blackboards and Galley Proofs."

Shover Leads Talk

A round table discussion will be led by Prof. W. G. Shover, of the department of journalism of Morris Harvey College.

A luncheon will follow at the Hotel Prichard, at which Harold R. Pinckard, editor of the Huntington Herald-Advertiser, will be the principal speaker. His topic will be "Streamlining the News". Dr. Allen will address the students on "The School Versus the School Paper." James B. Clendenin, editor of the Huntington Herald-Dispatch will be the master of ceremonies.

Business sessions will occupy Saturday afternoon, the student group meeting at 2:00 o'clock in the auditorium for the disposal of business and the election of officers, and the teachers group meeting in Main 23.

Banquet At Prichard

The eleventh annual banquet given for the U. H. S. P. by the Huntington Publishing Company will take place at 6:00 o'clock Saturday evening in the ballroom of the Hotel Prichard. Gov. Homer A. Holt and Mrs. Holt will be special guests, and Gov. Holt will greet the delegates.

Other speakers will be Dr. Leonard Riggelman, president of Morris Harvey College, who will offer the invocation; Dr. W. W. Trent, state superintendent of schools; Philip P. Gibson, member of the state board of education, who will present the governor; Colonel J. H. Long, president of the Huntington Chamber of Commerce and "daddy" of the United High School Press; Dr.

Allen, who will introduce Dr. Trent; and Mr. Clendenin, who will introduce Mr. Driscoll.

Fors To Sing

The ever-popular Prof. Juan Fors, of the Spanish department, will also appear on the program, singing several solos.

Following the address by Mr. Driscoll, the new officers of the United High School Press and the Journalism Teachers Association will be introduced. The convention delegates will then be the guests of the staff of the Tattler, Huntington high school paper, at a dance in the Shawkey Student Union Building on the campus.

The convention will close at midnight Saturday evening as the delegates watch the early Sunday morning edition of the Herald-Advertiser go to press.

Murals Near Completion Under Mrs. Fors' Brush

By MUNCY KEGLEY

The three murals which Mrs. Marion Vest Fors, of the Art department, is painting for the library, and which will be dedicated as a feature of the Centennial observance program, are rapidly nearing completion. The arts college-teacher's college panel is ready for the first glazing, the West Virginia literature panel has been under-painted and is now ready for initial glazes, and the American literature panel has been projected from the completed cartoon to the final canvas.

The central panel, which will be placed over the desk in the library reading room, will symbolize the two colleges. Representing the arts and sciences college, on one side, is a young chemist with test tubes and a young woman sketching a drawing under the direction of the alma mater. Symbolizing art, literature, and music respectively are a palette, a scholar's books, and a musician's metronome. In the background against a blue sky is a coal tippie and oil well derricks, signifying West Virginia's natural wealth, and a tower of learning, signifying education.

Representing the teacher's college, the alma mater is again depicted, this time by a trained instructor guiding young children through the early steps of education. The advance in education is shown in the background by an old one-room log cabin school beside the modern, air-conditioned training school. The incidental foliage in the central panel is the rhododendron, West Virginia's state flower.

The West Virginia literature panel is based on the book, "The Mountain School Teacher," by Melville Davis Post. Research in customs, costumes and literature for this panel was done by Miss Mary Ann Williamson of the arts college English department.

The book, allegorical of the life of Christ, narrates the life of a young mountaineer who returns to help his people only to be rejected. While teaching in the community, the young man incurs the wrath of the minister by teaching the children the love of God rather than the fear of God, and offends the doctor by setting a broken bone and reviving a boy believed to have been drowned. The town fathers have him jailed and set a trap tempting him to escape that they might have an excuse to kill him. Aware of the trap, the school teacher ignores it until two young boys, petty offenders, learning the jail is unlocked, attempt to escape. The mountaineer teacher, realizing the boys would be killed if allowed to proceed, throws himself before them and is shot, giving his life for theirs. The women of the community claim the body and bury it, thus ending the story.

Mrs. Fors in her mural depicts the coming of the mountain school teacher showing him after he has aided a small boy who is riding to the mill on an ox. In the center foreground is the miller's wife, an important character in the book. On the left side of the panel the teacher is shown instructing the children before a log school house. In this scene are his dog and a large black hat the children have purchased for him by picking berries.

His grave, attended by a few of the women, is shown in the background. Near the grave a tree, a branch outstretched on either side, forms a rough cross, indicating the crucifixion. The mill in this panel was sketched from the original mill in Post's story, located near Clarksburg.

The American literature panel depicts scenes from the works of three eminent American writers: Edgar Allen Poe's "The Raven" representing the early period; Walt Whitman's "The Pioneer", the transition; and Nobel prize winner Eugene O'Neil's "Beyond the Horizon", the modern period.

From "The Raven" is taken the scene of the poet challenging the bird perched atop the bust of Pallas. Mrs. Fors places the bust in a broken pediment over the door. She uses a recently revived, early Italian practice in placing the architecture of the door against the blue sky background. In the foreground of the panel the artist shows the final scene of "Beyond the Horizon" wherein the dying hero, with his wife and brother, points to the horizon in the background. From the "Pioneers" Mrs. Fors selected the scene where the father says to his children, "Take up your guns," preparatory to their westward journey. They are shown behind the great covered wagon. The blue sky background, common to all three panels, together with related color themes, will unify the three sections into a single entity. Mrs. Fors uses a device prevalent among Pre-Renaissance artists, in placing three or more scenes in a single panel without definite division lines.

Alice Roosevelt Longworth tells how Senators choose a light smoke... considerate of their throats

"I often lunch in the Senate restaurant at the Capitol. Nearly every Senator and Representative there smokes, and the number I see take out a package of Luckies is quite surprising. Perhaps surprising is not the word. Because off and on, ever since 1917, I myself have used Luckies for this sound reason: They really are a light smoke—kind to the throat. It's simply common sense that these Senators and Representatives, whose voices must meet the continuous strain of public speaking, should also need a cigarette that is considerate of their throats... a light smoke."

Alice Roosevelt Longworth

THE FINEST TOBACCO—
"THE CREAM OF THE CROP"

In a recent independent survey, an overwhelming majority of lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc., who said they smoked cigarettes, expressed their personal preference for a light smoke.

Mrs. Longworth's statement verifies the wisdom of this preference and so do leading artists of radio, stage, screen and opera, whose voices are their fortunes, and who choose Luckies, a light smoke. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on your throat.

Proposal

We consider a misfortune of the first rank that circumstances would not permit the scheduling of examinations this semester so that the student body and faculty would not have to undergo the almost impossible strain of giving reasonable attention to the Centennial while attending to the grimmer duty of struggling through final examinations.

While this is true of the whole student body it is especially applicable to the plight of the senior class. While some dispensation has been made for seniors the arrangement of final examinations is, in fact, not as convenient as those provided in the past.

Heretofore, if our recollection has not failed us, all senior examinations have been scheduled by special arrangement with instructors. Such provision was much to the liking of the seniors for it provided a delightful interlude between the final stretch and the acquiring of the diploma. But even this respite is denied the weary candidates as they follow the exam schedule right up to the day before Commencement exercises while only a few finals are given by arrangement.

We are at loss to understand this action.

This year, of all years, the senior class should be given some special consideration in the matter of examinations. Similar grace for undergraduates would be equally appreciated for one simple and valid reason:

Everyone even remotely associated with Marshall College will be actively engaged in extra activities involved in the Centennial celebration--participating in the pageant, entertaining guests, attending the various programs scheduled, and, in general, contributing to the success of the Centennial.

This includes every student and faculty member in the college.

If the present plans are carried out there will be added to this unusually heavy load the onerous composing of examinations by professors, the heavy oil-burning study by students, and all other labor incident to the preparing, taking, and grading of examination papers.

It would appear that another arrangement is justifiable in the face of unusual circumstances.

Our suggestion is simply this: Allow exemptions to seniors from all examinations except in those cases where a grade is in doubt and might mean the difference between graduation and "one more semester." Show the same kindness to undergraduates by exempting those with exceptional grades and schedule the less fortunate for tests during the final class period in the week preceding the Centennial celebration.

This is a matter which could be more quickly adjusted through the cooperation of the Student Council and the College Council.

These suggestions have been made, not because we are seeking excuses for getting out of examinations, but because it is our honest conviction that the tasks which the student body and the faculty are being called upon to perform are great enough to require all of our attention. By lightening the load somewhat we may naturally expect that this duty will be more efficiently and more enthusiastically performed.

1,000 Strong

Today Marshall College plays the role of host to a distinguished company of visitors, and it is our pleasure to extend to them the greetings and welcome of the college.

Almost 1000 visitors, comprising delegations to no less than four separate meetings of state-wide associations, are holding sessions upon the campus. Most imposing in number is the eleventh annual congress of the United High School Press of West Virginia, representing high schools the length and breadth of the state. In conjunction with this group the West Virginia Teachers of Journalism is holding its annual meeting with approximately one hundred in attendance.

Another 100 outstanding scientists of the state, comprising the membership of the West Virginia Academy of Science, favors the college with its august presence. A second group of scientists, the members of the West Virginia Junior Academy of Science, contributes a final even one hundred to the week-end guests of the college.

It is a rare and extremely happy occasion when a single institution is honored in so short a space of time by such a great number of guests. We are proud of the role that we take today and should and do welcome them all with all the enthusiasm at our command. May your stays be happy ones and may you come again soon.

Hayes Elected To Sociology Society

Dr. A. W. Hayes, of the sociology department, was elected to membership in the Ohio Sociological Society at the annual conference of the society, held at Ohio State University April 23 and 24.

Dr. Hayes attended the conference as a guest with other sociologists of states neighboring Ohio.

The society is composed of sociologists teaching and carrying on research work in various universities and colleges in Ohio.

Future Exams Will Precede Commencement Exercises

Second semester examinations, some of which in the past have often been scheduled after Commencement exercises, will be arranged in the future so that they will be completed before the graduation ceremonies, Dr. Frank A. Gilbert, chairman of the examination committee, announced this week.

It was not possible to arrange the examination schedule this semester so that all tests would be completed before Wednesday, June 2, Dr. Gilbert said. The new policy will go into effect next year when all underclassmen and graduating seniors alike will complete the semester's work before Commencement.

Seniors this semester will follow the schedule as announced only for those courses whose examinations are scheduled before the day for Commencement exercises. Others must be taken earlier by arrangement with the instructor.

BEE LINES By Phil Bee

A Matter of Welcome . . .

It concerns the UHSP meeting here today. Press representatives, the college is yours, at least the journalism department is, and that is all you are really interested in, or is it? Anyway we'll skip that one and advise you to look about the old place . . . pick out what you like best and anticipate it for next year. Meantime we will try to make your stay as pleasant as possible.

More Glad Hand . . .

This concerns the immediate student body. If and when you see some fresh and unsullied individual poking about in odd corners of the campus remember that he is probably a high school press representative and that he may be a very eligible frosh next year. Also remember that the men need the showing around. The women will get along.

Peewed . . .

Friend editor, Mr. King, seems to be unduly peewed over the way in which the Student Council has gone about the selection of a beauty queen for the Centennial ball. He raves and rants, editorially of course, against the way beauty is put upon the block and sold at fifty votes for a nickel. Personally we think it will be a lot of fun and very educational. Also, the Centennial coffers will be filled with the nickels if the boy friend's pocket-book holds out.

Election Notes . . .

Prediction: The election this year will have more candidates than we have had for many years. It will be, we think, a very interesting affair, if you get what we mean by affair, parades, signs, parolings, etc. It will be a hotly-contested race. We should make the papers at least a couple of times and not for just the returns either. Nominations are next Wednesday and if you miss assembly that day, remember, we warned you.

Swing Session . . .

Lovell Higgins stole the show, and incidentally he tried to steal everyone else's show. Fred Allen had better have his sign-off skit copyrighted. Higgins is stealing his thunder. The line about "We bring you music, drama, meller-drama, etc. is Higgin's meat. Too, we might mention that we did not miss the band.

Also there are no over-ripe tomatoes, rotten apples, and other such vegetables for John Carter, Tiny Terry, Phil Mayhew, J. B. Russell, and all the new talent on the jam session Tuesday night. Instead we'll meet them at the stage door with sweet-smelling posies. Posies for J. B. Russell. Imagine!

Dazzlings . . .

Notice the new sweaters on the campus. All sport the numerals 1940. When is this rash of dance bands going to stop breaking out in this town? . . . There is the Hal Goodman dance Saturday night at Vanity Fair. He was to have played for the President's ball but the flood messed up plans . . . Jean (Civic-minded) Wilson has something in her stop light scheme. She would have an idea like that just when the Mayor is trying to be economical. Anyway sign the petition if you see one . . . She must be lobbying for the power company . . . The Alpha Theta's are going in for the thespic arts in a large way. Ed (Flywheel) Aldridge and Hansel (Hamlet) Warner are prime examples. Do Frank Wead and this guy Shakespeare take a beating when those two give their works a going over . . . Max Burns states with a fierce light in his eyes, "If the students don't pay the debts they owe Sid Taylor I am going to get the constable after the whole lot." . . . And incidentally Max

Morrow Library Presents

THE RETURN TO RELIGION

By Henry C. Link

Do you think first of others, or of yourself? If you would be the last to leave a sinking ship, you are an extrovert, and need not read this book. If you would jump into the first life-boat, you are an introvert, and will find yourself discussed in "The Return to Religion."

Dr. Link believes that the development of a god personality is the most important thing in life. Personality has nothing to do with intellect. Psychological tests have shown that college students are not superior in personality traits to high-school or even grade-school students. The author feels that our schools are developing the intellect at the expense of character. Common sense and homely virtues are more valuable than any amount of scholastic training.

According to Dr. Link, an introvert or selfish person can never achieve happiness. A good personality is developed by practice, not by introspection. Every one should play tennis, bridge, and dance, for social skills teach unselfish habits. The individual who learns early not to take his partner out of a business double, is less likely to appear in a divorce court (or any other court) later in life.

Religion is the most significant factor in the development of good personality, because it provides objective ideals of life. It has been scientifically proven that persons who believe in religion and attend a church have better personalities than those who do not. An individual's attitude toward religion and the church is usually typical of his attitude in other fields of life. Those who are not church members generally do not belong to other organizations, either.

Some readers will not agree with Dr. Link's arguments, but they must admit that "The Return to Religion" is a challenging book. Others of us befuddled moderns will be reassured by the author's conclusion that some thing like traditional religion and morality is necessary for health of mind.

There are to be eight murals in all, but Mrs. Fors, who is teaching a full schedule in the art department, will finish only three for the Centennial celebration. The other five are to be representative of the literature of five European nations.

and K. O. Christian are super salesmen for the gas refrigeration Co. . . Why do people call Henry Harrell "Gashouse?" . . . Personal nomination for the most insulting person on the campus--Glen (Smokey) Hill . . . Allie Shelansky--attention! . . . We are out of razor blades . . . The UHSP meet is an opportunity to get in a little premature rushing . . . And be nice to the boys; we want them back as students next year . . . Congrats to Paul (Scoop) Becker. He has that human dynamo Muncy (Ironhead) Kegley for managing editor. Congrats to him also . . . The Delta Sigs throw a party and the ham salad turns out to be bologna. Who is this young woman Marie Gillispie? It seems the boys all fall for her, and literally . . . "Swede" Gullickson and his square dancing on Wednesday nights provide a lot of good clean fun for all those taking part, as well as a lot of exercise . . . We dutifully dedicate the rest of this to the UHSP and politics . . . With that enough.

Marshall Society

By MARIAN SNYDER Spring Season Opens This Week For Greek Societies

Two Greek organizations will open the spring season with formal dances this week-end. Epsilon Delta, pre-medical fraternity, and Sigma Sigma Sigma, social sorority, will give the initial dances tonight.

Epsilon Delta

Epsilon Delta, honorary pre-medical fraternity, will give its annual spring formal dance tonight at the Hotel Governor Cabell from 9:00 until 1:00 o'clock. Howard Jennings and his orchestra will play.

Chaperons will be Dean and Mrs. W. E. Greenleaf, Dean and Mrs. J. T. Krumpelmann, Prof. W. I. Utterback, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nev.

Two bids have been extended to each fraternity and sorority on campus. Eight alumni and their wives or guests have been invited.

Programs for the dance will be of glossy white material. The crest of the fraternity is engraved in gold on the center of the card, with a hand-painted gold embossed line encircling it. The outer edge of the program will also have a narrow hand-painted gold line around it.

The committee in charge of the programs and invitations is composed of Messrs. John Hamrick, chairman; Ralph Lusher, Brooks Drake, Jim Farley and Jack Bowen.

In charge of decorations are Messrs. Kenneth McKown, William D. Smith and P. J. Wonn.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

The Guyan Valley country club will be the scene of the spring formal of Sigma Sigma Sigma tonight as the Hayes Brothers' orchestra plays for active, alumnae, and pledges of the sorority and their dates.

The setting will be a vineyard with the effects gained from the use of 700 purple balloons, Grouped to look like bunches of grapes, the balloons will be hung on white lattices which will be placed throughout the room. At the door entering the ballroom, an arbor will be arranged with a lattice hung with the balloons. The orchestra will be seated beneath a similar arrangement.

A purple glow will be cast over the entire room by the use of a large group of balloons hung beneath the central light in the room. This too will be shaped like a bunch of grapes. Branches of dog-wood blooms will be used to carry out the sorority colors of purple and white.

As a climax to the grand march, Miss Marguerite Miller, retiring president of the organization, will stand in a large white frame while Misses Katherine Pattison, Mary Preston, Kathryn Hibner and Ida Jim Damron sing "My Tri-Sigma Girl." Chaperons will be Prof. and Mrs. C. R. Ogden, Miss Attara Blackwood, faculty adviser, Prof. Walter Dove and Prof. Buell Whitehill.

The committee in charge of decorations is composed of Misses Virginia Brandum, Molly Rosson Webb and Jean Scott. Those in charge of programs are Misses Eileen Groves, Geraldine Kirkpatrick, Mary Logan Jones and Evelyn Schumaker.

Members of Phi Tau Alpha and their dates will be the guests of Mr. Tom Harvey at his summer home in Ohio, Sunday afternoon. The group will meet at the chapter house at 4:00 o'clock and will travel together to the farm where a picnic will be held.

Chaperons will be Dr. and Mrs. Paul K. Walp, Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Beck and Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Olson.

Tatler Staff Gives Dance For Delegates

As a special courtesy to the out-of-town delegates to the United High School Press Convention which is being held here this week-end, the Tatler, Huntington High school paper, will sponsor an informal dance at the Student Union building tomorrow night from 9:00 until 12:00 o'clock.

The affair has been planned to help the delegates fill in the time between the banquet and the time for watching the Herald-Advertiser go to press.

Music for the affair will be furnished by an amplifying system which is in charge of Billy Haldane. Mr. and Mrs. E. Q. Swan, Mr. Clarence Withers and several other instructors at the high school will chaperon the affair.

Tickets will be issued to the delegates when they register this afternoon. In addition, tickets will be supplied to all of the journalism students at Huntington High school.

In charge of the dance are Miss Maxine Shreve, editor of the Tatler, Miss Barbara Griffith, news-editor, and Miss Kathryn Tate, copy reader.

Alpha Sigma Alpha

Officers of Alpha Sigma Alpha who were installed last week are as follows: Miss Esther McQueen, president; Miss Phyllis Madeira, vice-president; Miss Roberta Blackwood, secretary; Miss Madeline Priddy, treasurer; Miss Elizabeth Cary, registrar; Miss Pauline Conley, chaplain; Miss Josephine Conley, editor and Miss Nina Grayce McQuinn, collegiate representative.

Following installation, the entire chapter dined informally at a down-town tea room.

A weiner roast for sorority members only was held by Alpha Sigma Alpha last week at the Lion's Den in Ritter Park. Games were played during the first part of the evening before the roast.

Patronesses attending were Mrs. J. T. Krumpelmann, and Mrs. Robert Kilgore.

Miss Elizabeth Cary had charge or arrangements with a committee composed of Misses Roberta Blackwood and Helen Jean Osburne.

Delta Sigma Epsilon . . .

Residents of the Delta Sigma Epsilon chapter house will be entertained Sunday evening by Mrs. Josephine Brady, ex-house chaperon of the sorority.

Mrs. Brady has invited the women to dine with her informally.

Theta Rho

An outdoor party will be given by Theta Rho tomorrow night at St. Clouds Commons.

A weiner roast will begin at 7:00 o'clock, after which informal dancing will take place until 11:00 o'clock.

Chaperons will be Prof. and Mrs. C. R. Ogden, Miss Ruth Flower and Miss Charlotte Berryman.

In charge of arrangements are Misses Helen Harbour and Billie Morrison.

Delta Xi Delta

Delta Xi Delta elected new officers for the coming year at their meeting Monday night.

They are Miss Grace Ball, president; Miss Evelyn Jones, vice president; Miss Sue Hanna, secretary; Miss Mary Jane Raabe, treasurer; and Miss Angeline Fulks, editor.

Installation will take place Saturday, May 8.

Engineering Club

The Engineering club, newly organized on campus, will sponsor a skating party next Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Armory.

Mr. Frank Groves is in charge of arrangements.

CLIQUE MEETS

The Literary Clique will meet tonight at 7:00 o'clock in the Student Union building.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Irene Boster, recorder in the office of the registrar, is spending a week's vacation in Pittsburgh.

Miss Lucille Bryant is spending the week-end at her home in Hinton.

Miss Ada Thompson of Hinton will spend the week-end as a guest at the Delta Sigma Epsilon chapter house.

Home Ec Women Attend Meeting

Six home economics students, accompanied by Miss Myrtle MacDannald of the home economics department, are attending a two-day program of the annual meeting of the West Virginia Home Economics association at Jackson's Mill today and tomorrow.

Students attending the conference are: Eunice Byrnside, Mary Carroll, Stella Smeltzer, Edith Hall, Frances Hall and Eloise Cofer.

Miss Dorothy Correll will be the guest of her parents at her home in Williamson this week-end.

Pinmen Roll Ohio State Bowlers At Columbus

Football Stars To Oppose Big Green Combine

Harrell, Campbell, Altizer, Jones And Higbee Form Green Quintet

The Big Green bowlers, an all-star selection from the recently completed Fraternity league schedule, will journey to Columbus, Ohio, Sunday afternoon to tangle with their first intercollegiate opponent. Ohio State's Buckeyes will furnish the opposition.

Prof. Otto A. Gullickson, intramural director and E. B. Schoenbaum, manager of the Arcade and Fifth Avenue alleys will accompany the team and perform the coaching duties.

Led by Henry Harrell, Kappa Alpha, who averaged 180 pins for the fraternity schedule the Green five will tangle with the Ohioans on their home alleys, located on the Ohio State campus.

Definite selections as to positions to be rolled have not been determined. Harrell will probably roll as anchor man. His 180 pin average placed him on the top spot of the individual standings in the league play. Others on the team are Bob Jones, Alpha Theta Chi; Eddie Altizer, Kappa Alpha; Nash Campbell, Alpha Kappa Pi; and Dallas Higbee, Phi Kappa Nu.

The entire Green quint has been working out on the Arcade alleys all week, pointing to a tough fight against the Columbus team. Neither combine has had a speakable amount of competitive experience against outside foes, and will therefore be of unknown qualities.

Alex Schoenbaum, son of the local sportsman and former Huntington high school football star, will lead the formidable Ohio State five. He and his father have been instrumental in arranging the match and he has

Plans Revealed For Physical Education Centennial Show

Demonstration Will Picture Cross-Section View Of Department

Tentative plans for the men's and women's physical education demonstration to be held in celebration of the Centennial, Thursday, June 3rd were announced yesterday by Prof. Otto Gullickson.

The program which is a cross section of the physical educational work as carried on will require over a hundred men and women. With over 800 high school students as special guests bleachers will be constructed in the gym and on the playing field.

Approximately 90 men and 40 women will be needed to carry out the program which will include volleyball directed by Prof. Tom Dandeleit, badminton, deck tennis and ping pong under Prof. Louise McDonough, natural gymnastics under Prof. Otto Gullickson, games under Prof. Fredrick Fitch, creative dancing under Prof. Charlotte Berryman, stated that the Ohio team will be composed almost entirely of former football stars.

The rolling is scheduled to begin at 2:30 o'clock. The Big Green team will leave Huntington around 8:00 o'clock Sunday morning, returning late that night. Several carloads of Green fans are expected to accompany the team.

wrestling under Prof. Dandeleit and Raymond Hage, boxing by John Rowsey and Clarence Underwood, and square dancing under Merle Bias, William C. Taylor and Underwood.

As a feature of the program Gullickson plans to hold the championship matches in mens' tennis, doubles and singles; archery; horseshoes, doubles and singles; softball and handball. Each of the tournaments will be conducted until the Centennial demonstration. Hatfield Brubeck, Richard Chambers and Edward Altizer will assist Gullickson in handling the games.

Marks Fall In Softball Play

Sturm Fans Thirteen For Hurling Record, New Announces

By CHARLIE HICKERSON
Barrages of base hits and runs have featured the first two weeks of the intramural softball schedule. Several creditable pitching performances have been turned in and one game was played in which one side failed to make an error.

According to Charlie New, official scorer and statistician, one intramural record has been set up already. Duncan Sturm of the Phi Kappa Nu's whiffed thirteen Alpha Theta Chi's in his only appearance on the mound, up to date, as his club won 8-0.

This game happens to also be the only shutout scored as Sturm let his opponents down with but four hits, his teammates played errorless ball behind him.

Jimmy Gore pitched for the Black Knights No. 2 hurled the best game of the current season, as far as hits go, as he beat the Black Knights No. 1 17-1 allowing only two bingles.

The largest score of any one game came as the Flying Squadron with Dick Chamber on the mound swamped the Engineers 24-5.

The Phi Tau Alpha batting average stands at .390, 20 points

Julius Rivlin, College Corner, heads the individual standings as he holds positions well up in two departments. His two home runs leads the parade of sluggers while his pitching record of two wins against one loss is second only to that of Jimmy Gore who has two wins in as many starts.

Green Tangles With Ohio Wesleyan, Dayton Nines

Speaking of the Green

By DALLAS HIGBEE

BOWLING PLANS . . .

E. B. Schoenbaum, manager of the Arcade and Fifth Avenue bowling alleys, has forwarded the idea of forming, next year, a Buckeye telegraph bowling league . . . And why not . . . It could be formed and carried on at an astonishingly low cost . . . Each team would bowl in its home town and telegraph the scores to the opponent whom they were scheduled to meet at that time . . . Schoenbaum has also stated that he, with the aid of Prof. Gullickson of the intramural department, intends to form next year a fraternity league, a sorority league, and a faculty league . . . All elegant ideas . . .

LEGAL ROBBERY . . .

It has been asked time and time again why a physical education major is required to attend two and three hours of class to receive one hour of credit . . . Majors in other departments, with the exception of those containing laboratory courses, receive credit for every hour of class recitation. . . Why should an exception be made of physical education? . . . Do the college authorities consider the P. E. courses "snaps"? . . . If they do believe thus, they have been grossly mistaken . . . Some of the toughest courses offered in the college are on the physical education curriculum . . . They should be rated on par with other departments . . .

DEAR BUCK . . .

Speaking of the Green takes this opportunity to express the extreme sorrow and regret of the sports staff of The Parthenon for the unfortunate oversight in omitting the name of Clem Darius Jamison from the Big Green baseball roster, printed a couple of weeks ago . . . Honest, Buck, we're sorry. . .

CROWDED PROBLEMS . . .

The rottenest situation we can think of right now is that existing at the present time in the men's locker room of the gymnasium . . . disgustingly overcrowded, the situation has grown so serious in regard to theft of clothing and valuables that some have regarded it as a kin to Alcatraz (Al Capone's hangout). . .

GROUNDERS . . .

Guy Fisher, twirler on the 1930 edition of the Big Green baseballers, pitched a no-hit game against Notre Dame in that year . . . Ohio State's bowlers have arranged a big blow-out for the Green peamen after the match at Columbus Sunday . . . Not bad . . . Tennis is again in full swing . . . All five of the courts are in fair shape . . . Old Man River Stay 'Way From Our Door . . . A suggestion to Prof. Gullickson . . . Why not inaugurate a shuffleboard tournament? . . . Doesn't take much equipment . . . Fuzzy Ginther still thinks he is going to win the intramural bowling crown . . . Goodnight, dear (s) . . .

Just about half the people in the world are unhappy because they can't afford the things that make other people miserable.—Kentucky-Citizen (Paris).

Team Invades Buckeye State For Loop Tilts

Charleston, Portsmouth Down Farley men; Wesleyan Powerful

By DALLAS HIGBEE

Suffering from two successive losses at the hands of professional nines the Big Green left this morning for their first invasion of foreign territory. Today, at Delaware, they tangle with Ohio Wesleyan's Bishops. Tomorrow, at Dayton, they encounter the Dayton Flyers, already conquered once this season.

The Charleston Senators and the Portsmouth Redbirds, both Middle Atlantic league entries, defeated the Big Green on their home field Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. Charleston won 12 to 1, Portsmouth 6 to 5.

Coach Skeets Farley left the campus for the Ohio cities this morning at 8:00 o'clock, taking his entire squad.

With one win and one loss in conference competition and two losses to the professionals the Green will go into the Buckeye frays with their hopes of a successful season hingeing on the results.

Ohio Wesleyan is one of the hardest nines in the loop to trounce on their home field. They lost few men from their combine of last year, co-champions of the conference with Ohio university, and from pre-season reports they bid fair to repeat, possibly as sole possessors this time. Their slugging is the talk of the loop. The outfield is exceptionally strong at the plate. In addition an outstanding mound staff gives them a well-rounded squad with a minimum of weak spots.

Dayton opened the Green's season here April 10 and went down before the Farley men by a 7 to 6 score. They will seek revenge Saturday.

Farley's opening hurlers have not been announced, but he will probably divide mound duties three ways. Nelson Bragg, Demi Edward and Johnny Caey will probably work the two tilts.

PERRY, RUTLEDGE WIN

Gale Rutledge and Frances Perry won the title of the badminton doubles tournament Wednesday afternoon with a 9-15, 15-8, 15-11 win over Dorothy Auten and Rowena Fisher.

Phi Kappa Nu Downs Strong Faculty Softball Team, 10-1

Richardson Leads Rout Of Favored Team; Wolfpack, Alpha Kappa Pi Win Games

By PAUL LILLY

Pounding out three triples and driving in five runs Everett Richardson provided the batting punch needed for Phi Kappa Nu to defeat the strong Faculty team 10-1 and win their second straight softball game of the season yesterday afternoon on the intramural athletic field.

"Dunk" Sturm, Phi Kappa Nu pitcher who set a new intramural strike-out record in his first game of the season by whiffing 13 batters, limited the Faculty to two hits and one run in seven innings. He was in trouble only in the third when he walked Dr. Paul Walp, allowed him to steal second and then gave Prof. Tom Dandeleit a single to score Walp. Only three other Faculty men reached as far as second.

Taking up where they left off in their last game the Wolfpack sluggers hammered their way to a 16-8 victory over the Grizzlies with John Boone pitching five hit ball to the losers. Hitting stars for the Wolfpack were Louis Wilcox and Jimmy McQueen, both getting four hits in four trips to the plate.

Alpha Kappa Pi's softball team defeated the Alpha Theta Chi's

Spring Football Grind Terminates

Last week the spring football drills took a backseat in favor of spring. Although several men are still engaged in gaining some individual tutoring the spring drills are relatively finished.

The members of the squad that are still drilling are working on special phases of the game as kicking goals, kicking off, punting, etc. Several men are working on their running in order to build up speed and better form. Two or three individuals are adapting themselves to new positions.

WOLFPACK WINS

Wolfpack earned the right to meet Kappa Alpha in the finals of the water polo tournament next Thursday night by overcoming Phi Kappa Nu in an overtime period 2-1.

TOURNEYS REACH FINALS

Men's intramural handball doubles tournament reached the finals Wednesday afternoon when Julius Rivlin and Raymond Hage defeated Prof. Otto Gullickson and Prof. Walter Dove 21-17; 9-21; an 21-17 and Bill Ranson and Rufus Carney downed John Dawson and James Dickerson two straight games 21-14; and 21-3.
