JOHNSON TELLS OF WORLD TRIPS AT INITIAL FORUM

The first Community Forum program of the year was presented Friday evening before a sizeable audience in the college auditorium.

Commander Irving Johnson, the speaker, told of his three trips around the world on the schooner, Yankee, dwelling at length on the third trip which he illustrated with a two-reel motion picture entitled "Sailing To See." Included in the film were scenes from the Canal Zone, Hawaii, Easter, Munda, Pitcairn, New Guinea, Singapore, Africa and Puerto Rico.

Boyhood dreams, the purchase of his first boat and trips on various types of ships over a ten-year period were related by Commander Johnson. In his efforts to learn how to hold a crew together for 18 months, he said that he found the family group to be the best possible crew. This discovery accounts for the mixed crews living as members of his own family on all three of his cruises.

Johnson sailed on his first cruise in 1933 and on the third trip shortly before the outbreak of World War II. All of the cruises began and ended at Gloucester, Mass.

The two-reel motion picture in color which Commander Johnson exhibited represented only a fraction of the pictures obtained, he said. A total of more than 20 miles of film was used. The film was accompanied by an informal commentary by Commander Johnson.

VET TRANSFERS MUST REPORT

Veterans attending Marshall who intend to transfer to other colleges later are advised by the Veterans Administration to declare such intentions as soon as possible since any change of institution must be approved by the Veterans Administration.

Thuse, Freshman Rules Top Council Discussion

A pep rally, complete with a bonfire, the college band, and the possible attendance of members of the football squad will be held on the athletic field at 7 P. M. Friday, Don Loudermilk, student president, announced after a meeting of the Student Council Monday night.

Freshmen are asked to attend the rally as it will offer them an opportunity to comply with one of the freshman rules, learning the college yells and songs. Freshmen attending should wear a green and white clothing as a tribute, Loudermilk said.

The other two freshman rules, wearing green caps and speaking to upper classmen, will go into effect upon arrival of the caps, are expected next week. The caps will be sold in the bookstore, is den Union, and the dormitories.

Freshmen women will be granted 10 o'clock permission on nights when student mixes are held as a result of Dean of Women Lillian H. Buskirk's approval of a recommendation made by Student Council.

President Stewart H. Smith has accepted the faculty advisership of the council. The resignation of Jane Dunbar, holdover member in the capacity of acting senior representative, was accepted at the meeting and Charles Proctor, senior class president, will make arrangements for filling the vacancy, Loudermilk said.

December 15 Is Date For Judd Speech

Walter H. Judd, congressman from Minnesota, who was to have appeared on a Community Forum program last night, has been rescheduled for a later appearance, Prof. Curtis Baxter, in charge of the series, announced Monday.

Congressman Judd is now with a congressional investigating committee in China and will make his postponed appearance here December 15, Professor Baxter said. The next of the Community Forum series will be a labor-management debate November 18.

Brailey Explains Housing Set-Up

The revision of housing priorities for family dwelling units was announced today by Dean of Men Lester G. Brailey, who administers student housing. Under the revised set-up applicants are listed in chronological order for either a trailer or an apartment. Previously the choice had to be made of one or the other at the time of application.

When one becomes eligible for a dwelling unit and it is unsatisfactory, it is accepted or the name is taken off the list, but if it is unsatisfactory the applicant may maintain his place at the top of the list.

All of the 108 units are occupied at present and the waiting list numbers 67, Dean Brailey said.

Arrangements for a Hallowe'en party to be given October 31 at the 4-H camp for the men of Hodges Hall and their dates have been completed. Plans are now being made for a benefit bridge to be held November 8 in the basement of the college cafeteria.

TODAY is quite an occasion for Miss Rosa Oliver, college librarian, for it marks the end of 22 years service behind the desk in the Marshall Library.

See You Tonight

Tonight's the night!
Tonight Marshall's newest campus hang-out, the recreation hall in the basement of the cafeteria, will be named at the intermission of the weekly mix.

A three-day contest closes at noon today and names submitted by students will be sifted this afternoon by a committee of four students and the social deans. Author of the winning entry will be admitted to all mixes for the rest of the year and awarded a box of candy (woman) or carton of cigarettes (man) as a token of appreciation for the industrious thinking behind his or her efforts.

But this is not all. The winner, we say without hesitation, deserves the plaudits of his fellows on this occasion. Announcement of the name which will henceforth grace our popular campus spot highlights this occasion, but it will not be complete without an overflow throng in attendance.

You wouldn't want to miss out on a night that's going down in Marshall history. Besides, the dancing's good and rumor has it that Dean of Men Lester G. Bralley will offer another one of his terrific rumbas. That does it? OK, see you then!

A Clean 'front door'

With one notable exception, we agree with Comptroller Fred Smith that our campus cleanup campaign has gone over well. That exception constitutes the most displeasing eye-sore of them all because it takes in that territory along Marshall's "front door," along Sixteenth Street from College Avenue to Third. It's caused by students who eat their lunch in parked automobiles and toss their papers out on the sidewalks and along the entrance way.

We've done so well on other parts of our campus, let's not fail here. Let's greet the community with a clean "front door."

Toole, Moffat To Attend Meeting

Dr. H. Gresham Toole and Dr. Charles H. Moffat of history department will represent Marshall at the annual meeting of the Southern Historical Association to be held in Savannah, Georgia, November 13, 14, and 15.

Discs, Phi Tau Firsts Still Unbeaten

Conquer PKN, Aces Monday

By CHARLES OPPENHEIMER

The number one contenders for the Flight A crown in the mural football roundup, Phi Tau Alpha Firsts and the Phi Kappa Nu Firsts, previewed Monday what may be the championship go in the league. The Phi Tau's wrapped up their third straight win by a 7 to 0 count.

On the bottom half of that bill the Flight C Flying Discs added a third scalp to their list of victims by trouncing an outclassed Ace herd, 25 to 0. Thursday's slate featured a 22 to 0 victory for Flight D Screwballs over the Fricks, in the latter's first outing.

In the same bracket Friday, the Baptists routed a newcomer to the league, South Charleston, by a 13 to 6 score, while in the second game Flight C Hodges Hall Firsts and the Gremlins fought to a scoreless tie. The Phi Kappa Nu Seconds and the Phi Tau Alpha Seconds drew free trips to wins in Flight C forfeited battles with Green Vilage and the Panthers, respectively.

With the biggest crowd to watch any mural contest this season on hand, the Phi Tau Alpha Firsts roared into action with a score in the initial chukker against the Phi Kaps. Simpson did the tossing to Charley "Automatic" Kautz, who scored on the 35-yard aerial. Kautz also boosted his placement total to five when he kicked the extra point and went four points ahead for Flight A point after touchdown honors.

Sammy Hayworth guided the football fortunes of the Baptists' Friday tilt with the new South Charleston club as he hurled a 20-yard pass to Loudermilk for one score and raced across the final marker from the five for the second. Juedice tallied the single South Charleston six pointer. Carroll booted the Baptists' only extra point of the contest.

Winding up Friday's bill, the Flight C Hodges Hall Firsts kept the Gremlin offensive within 15 yards of either side of the mid-field marker, while failing to open an attack of their own and fighting the Gremlins to a scoreless tie.

Fred Waring, noted orchestra leader and pianist, wrote a song for Marshall in 1942 entitled, "March On, Marshall."

Faculty Members Now Eligible For Mural Athletics

A ruling allowing faculty members to participate in intramural league competition games was approved by the intramural Board of Appeals Thursday, October 16, Otto "Swede" Gullickson, mural director announced Monday.

Discussion of the new ruling was prompted by a protest filed with the board by the Flight B Red Dog football team over the ineligibility of Louis Wilcox, a member of the opposing All Star squad. November 4, 4:15 in the afternoon, has been set for replay date of this contest.

SAYRE TAKES HORSESHOE TITLE

John Sayre of Hodges Hall captured the horseshoe singles title last week in a match with Jake Forbes of Alpha Sigma Phi, scoring twin victories in the playoff of 21-11 and 21-6.

The Varsity M and the Phi Tau Alpha clubs moved into the semi-final berth for tourney play in the volleyball championship match this week. Results of that contest were not available at press time.

A football placement kicking contest will get underway this afternoon, it was announced.

A meeting of all physical education majors and minors has been set for 3:30 this afternoon in the gymnasium, Otto "Swede" Gullickson, mural director has announced. The purpose of the meeting is to form an intramural club, he added.

The Mural Scene

By OPPENHEIMER

Bill Shriner, mainstay for the Flying Disc mural gridders, has been displaying some of the speed typical of his performances with the Huntington High thinclads of 1941 and '42. Coach John Stender, please note—

Flash! Elusive Spud Davis, Jr., the galloping ghost who had a finger in almost every mural pie on last fall's card, says he is definitely looking for a berth on the Big Green track aggregation that will go to grips with Miami University's Redskins on November 8 at Oxford, Ohio.

Don Booth, playing a lot of fine ball for the Flight C Gremlin Herd. During the war years, he was a member of the Chetry Point Marine eleven.

John Miller, whose hobby is traveling over the countryside in rebuilt A model Fords, is now building a 100-mile an hour racer which he may enter next summer in the Hot Rods classics on the flats of California.

Team spirit counts plenty but sometimes it can be most embarrassing. One gridiron enthusiast several weeks back jumped from the bench with a cheer on his lips for his squad, which at that moment was staging a touchdown parade. In his haste to get up he split his pants seat and had to don a coat, much to the amusement of the feminine spectators.

Mid-semester grades will be turned in to the registrar's office Monday, November 10, Luther E. Bledsoe, registrar, said this week.

Inspired Green Prepares For Indiana State College

Coach Cam Henderson and his "The Foot" Henthorne kicked a Big Green gridders will seek their second straight victory over Hoosier elevens Saturday afternoon when the Indiana State College Sycamores invade Fairfield Stadium.

The Big Green registered its most inspired triumph of the campaign last Saturday night when it trampled a highly regarded Evansville club, 24-0, at Bosse Field, Evansville.

Although emerging with its fourth win in five starts, the Green is faced with a serious manpower shortage problem. Reserve back Billy Young sustained a severe leg injury in the Aces battle, while Summers Jarrett, scrappy reserve back and tackle, suffered an arm and leg hurt. Bobby Hartley, the club's top scorer and conversion specialist, came out of the fray with a sore knee and a charley horse. Meanwhile, reserve end Jim Rockwell is still hobbled with a bad foot. Whether or not Young and Jarrett will be ready for Indiana remains to be seen. Hartley should be ready.

Marshall tallied touchdowns in every quarter but the last against Evansville. Marvin Wetzel, Charley Fieldson, and Chasey Wilson tallied the six pointers with Hartley converting each time. Ivan

Henthorne kicked a 17-yard third quarter field goal, the first by a Big Green griddler since 1940 when Johnny Sacrinity turned the trick. Henthorne's kick clinched the game and was easily the most spectacular play of the evening.

Mural TD Lead Held By Frecka

Number one individual scoring spot in the mural pigskin league, according to Parthenon totals computed as of Monday's contests, is held by Frecka of the Flight B Portsmouth squad with 36 points. Filling second and third places are Harper of the Flight C Flying Discs with a 30 point total and Charley Kautz of the Flight A Phi Tau Alpha Firsts with 26 markers. The Phi Taus lead the entire league in total points scored with 101.

Hontes of the Screwballs and Hayworth of the Baptists hold the Flight D lead with 12 points apiece. The Phi Tau Firsts lead Flight A in games won with three, Boursville in Flight B with two and the Flying Discs in Flight C with three. Logan and the Baptists have a grip on the Flight D first place with two wins each.

Who Named Herd? Buffalo Won't Tell

By SUPPY SUPMAN

Some say it happened. Some say it didn't. But we were there and we know. It was 12 noon Thursday last in the Student Union. On the couch near the juke box Wilbur Aluise talked with Bill Brown as Ann Canterbury and Jimmy Driscoll took to the floor when Lem Chadwick chose a fast one on the nickelodeon.

All of a sudden, "Herdy," the huge buffalo hanging on the wall, let out a bellow and chuckled, "reminds me of the old tribal Indian dances." The symbol of the Thundering Herd had decided it was time to speak his mind. Everyone crowded around and looked at him, then Jack Rosenham asked, "How did you get here anyway?" The buffalo grinned and with a cross-eyed look down his nose at the explanatory plaque under his chin, said, "As late as 1870 we buffaloes roamed the western plains." Buck Brown interrupted, "I thought you were a bison." "My dear Mr. Brown," the buffalo answered with dignity, "You are quite right, but I wish to explain. My scientific name is bison, but according to the zoologist, I'm not technically a bison because of a difference in structure. A bison has fourteen ribs, one more than a buffalo; and its head, neck, and shoulders are heavier and its withers lighter." He paused and added with a leer, "that's the part of the back between the shoulder-blades, for you freshmen."

"How big is the normal buffalo?" Mary Mosely asked. "Mary," Herdy related, "most of them are over six feet high at the shoulders and weigh more than 2,000 pounds. Those Indians use to get a lot of wear out of my buddies. They used to take the skins and make overcoats and robes out of them."

Patient Frank Price: "That's all very interesting Herdy, but how did Marshall College get the name of the Thundering Herd?" Herdy thought a brief moment and began slowly, "It was November 29, 1927. Fred Burns was a football manager, Luther Poling was the star end, and Trusty Tallman was the head coach. The football team had scored a 33 to 6 victory over Broadus College of Philippi."

The suspense was too much for Bill Bibbs. "Who named the team the Thundering Herd?" he insisted. Herdy continued, "Bill Bess, promotion manager of the Huntington Publishing Company says it was either Duke Ridgeley or a group of local sportswriters. Duke Ridgeley, who says he named Central High the "Pony Express," claims to have been the originator of the name "Thundering Herd." But Fred Burns of the Herald-Dispatch, says positively it was just a group of sportswriters."

Asking the question that was in the minds of all the listeners, Jimmy Wood exclaimed, "Well, who was it?" A slight grin came over Herdy's begrizzled face, and he chanted:

"It may seem to you digressing.

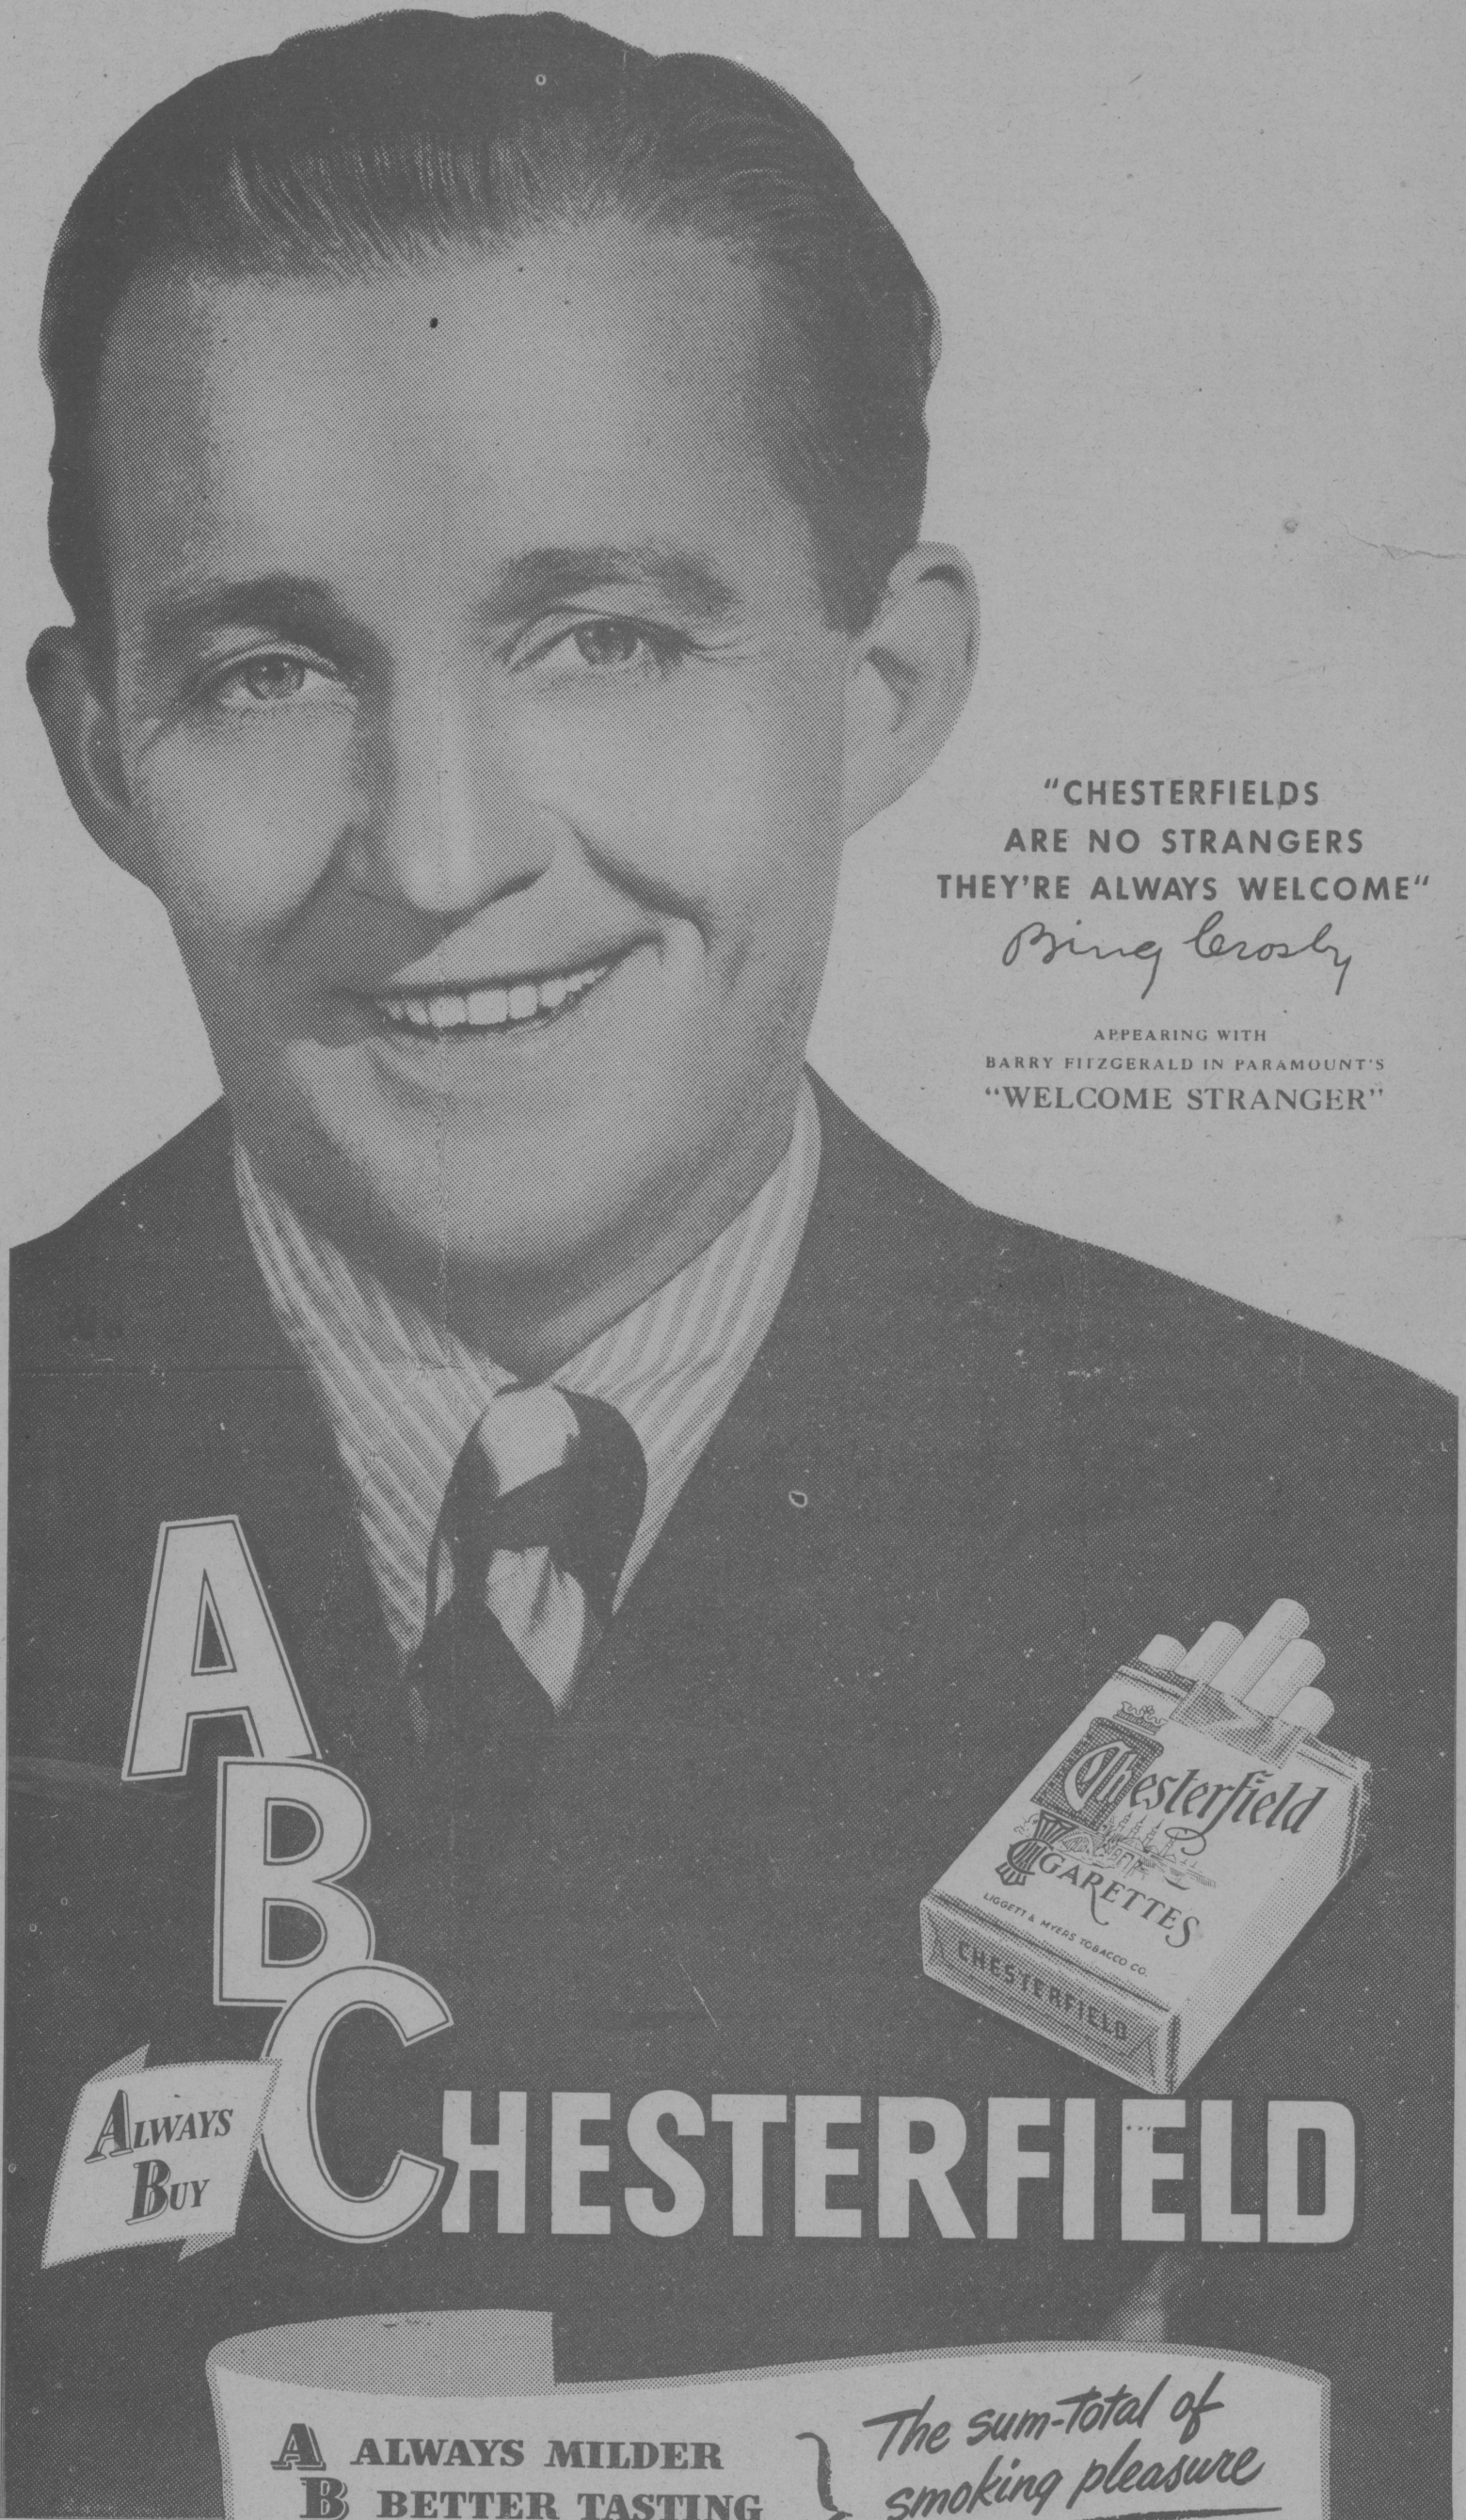

That question long will keep you guessing."

Which is exactly where Herdy left us.

The college's student government system was set up in 1926.

Allen Court, one of the housing projects for student veterans, was named for Dr. James E. Allen, thirteenth president of Marshall.

Marshall Academy was changed to Marshall College in 1858 five years before West Virginia became a state.
