Marshall selections for "Who's Who" are made by a student-faculty committee

ODK Tapping Set Tomorrow

Lambda Delta Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa, national men's leadership fraternity, will formally tap five new pledges at halftime of tomorrow's football game.

Dave Kirk, Huntington senior; Tom Carter and Buddy Turner, Huntington juniors; Bob Cole, Beaver junior; Jim Hamm, Tams junior will be tapped.

300 Prep Journalists Expected

The Marshall College journalism department is host today to West Virginia high school journalists and their advisers.

In session is the 23rd Congress of the United High School Press of West Virginia, the 19th West Virginia Journalism Teachers Association of West Virginia, the 19th West Virginia United High School Yearbook Association of West Virginia meeting.

Highlights of the conference, expected to attract approximately 300 persons, include group meetings on common problems, the Huntington Chamber of Commerce luncheon, Marshall-Bowling Green football game, business sessions, exhibitions, and the Huntington Publishing Company banquet.

Two special features this afternoon and evening will be the annual theatre party for the delegates given by the Palace Theatre and an open-house held by WHTN television.

Registration of delegates will be held this afternoon from 1 to 6 o'clock and tomorrow morning from 8 to 9 A.M. in the journalism department office. Miss Virginia Lee, associate professor of journalism, is in charge of registration.

A general group meeting of all delegates will be tomorrow at 9:30 A.M. in the Science hall auditorium. Daniel E. Thornburgh, information service director and instructor in journalism, will preside as director of program for the meetings.

Greetings from the college faculty, administration, and student bodies will be extended. Professor W. Page Pitt, head of the Marshall journalism department and founder of the United High School Press, will also speak.

Sessions on common problems in the various high school journalism fields will follow. The delegates will break up into editorial, business and sports sections.

Marshall journalism majors and representatives of commercial firms will serve as section leaders.

The Huntington Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual luncheon for the three groups at 12 noon in Shawkey Student Union. Exhibitions from the New York Times, Time Magazine, Ansco, Kings Feature Syndicate, and other communications firms will be on display during the buffet luncheon.

Immediately following the luncheon the high school students and their advisers will trek to Fairfield Stadium for the Bowling Green game, where they will be the guests of Marshall.

Latest Budget Slash Kills Dorm, Building

By BOB ROGERS

A $1,900,000 slash in the college's proposed Capital Improvements budget by the State Board of Education recently denied the college's bid for a new classroom building and dormitory. Of the $2,078,000 asked by President Smith to cover Capital Improvements, only $178,000 was approved.

Building requests included $1,500,000 for an additional building to include an auditorium to replace the present Music and Engineering Buildings, and $400,000 for a new men's dormitory.

Included in the approval were $50,000 for repairs to Old Main, $53,000 for repairs to the Library, and $75,000 for repairs and renovations in Laidley and Hodges Halls.

Approval of the Capital Improvements category was not decided during the last session of Legislature in lieu of completing a building priority list.

However, approval of the other four divisions resulted from the last session. They included $1,850,774 of the requested $1,936,897 for Personal Services; $64,770 of the requested $63,397 for Repairs and Alterations; $154,100 of the requested $168,253 for Current Expenses and $70,740 of the requested $186,000 for Equipment. A fixed item, a $3,200 allocation for the annual floodwall assessment, was contained in the previous approval.

All approvals are now subject to the approval of the Board of Public Works, and to the State Legislature when it convenes in March 1959.

Last year only $77,000 was granted for capital improvements but no buildings were approved on any state school campus. President Smith pointed out that the Legislature did later add $600,000 to this $77,000 for the purchase of additional land.

President Smith requested the building to house the Music and Engineering departments and the men's dormitory last year and received neither, but did receive $600,000 for land purchase.

The State Board has agreed to ask the Legislature to place tuition collections from all schools in a common fund for building purposes.

Marshall, however, will not contribute to the fund until after the obligations for the physical education building have been retired.

TOM DANDELET
Ex-Coach Honored

Dandelet Scholarship Established

A scholarship fund honoring the late Tom Dandelet, one-time head coach and athletic director here, has been established by a $500 donation from an alumnus.

The alumnus, Joe Silverman was a student and player under Dandelet, during Dandelet's tenure here (1931-1935).

Silverman, now manager of a laundry in Lincoln, Nebraska, wrote President Smith that Silverman was setting up the fund out of admiration for Dandelet. More contributions to the fund will be accepted, and should be addressed to the "Tom Dandelet Scholarship Fund," in care of the president's office.

Dandelet was head coach and athletic director, and, as such, directed the football, basketball, baseball, and track teams. He died unexpectedly in March, 1950. A memorial service was held in his honor and his body was laid in state in the North Parlor of Old Main.

Second Slot In MAC At Stake

By SAM STANLEY

The Thundering Herd entertains Bowling Green in its grid finale here tomorrow afternoon with a chance of gaining but no chance of losing second place in the Mid-American Conference.

The game, set for Fairfield Stadium, is slated to start at 1 P.M. instead of 2 P.M. in order not to conflict with the Oklahoma-Notre Dame game on television.

Coach Herb Royer's Herd, sporting a 4-1 conference mark and a 6-2 overall mark will be showing off its wares to the annual "Dad's Day" crowd.

The Falcons, dethroned defending champs of the MAC have a 2-1-2 loop mark and a 5-1-2 record overall. Since a tie game counts as one-half game won and one-half game lost the Falcons really have a 3-2 mark in league play.

A Falcon victory would tie them with the Big Green for second place but a tie or loss would put the Herd in the runner-up spot.

Royer stated earlier in the week that the winner of the game would be the "team that wanted to win the most," and he is still going by that statement in order to keep his charges up after a disappointing loss to Miami in the MAC showdown last Saturday.

Eight seniors will be making their final appearance for the Herd tomorrow and four of these will be in the starting lineup. These four are: Cagle Curtis at halfback, Co-Captain Herb Hess at guard, Bill Ray at end and Co-

Underwood Unable To Be At Convo

By TOM MILLER

Governor Cecil H. Underwood was unable to attend the convocation yesterday at 11 A.M. in Old Main auditorium because of pressing business at the Capital, according to President Stewart H. Smith.

President Smith went on to say that the Governor's secretary called him at 9:30 A.M. yesterday morning and said the Governor would fly down. Dr. Smith then arranged for a police escort for the Governor from the Tri-State airport to the college.

At 10:15 A.M., the Governor called again and told President Smith that he would be unable to attend the debate. He said that the budget committee of the state Board of Public Works had not completed their recommendations to the Board and that he, as chairman of the committee, must stay with the committee.

Governor Underwood was to have received an honorary membership into the local chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity.

The convocation went on as planned with a debate between Marshall College and Morris Harvey College.

Flu Kills Record Blood Donation, But Bank Stays

Were it not for 92 rejections because of recovering from flu and colds, a record of 205 pints would have been surpassed in the fall blood drive Wednesday, November 13. Unofficial totals show 187 pints were taken by the Red Cross.

The Reserve Officers Training Corps paved the way to the greatest number of donations and again made the drive the success it was. One hundred eighty-two ROTC men attempted to give their pints although of these but 103 actually were able to donate. Sgt. Harry Jones, instructor in military science, reported that 35 to 40 of the military organization's men were turned down because of age.

Rick DeSantis, director of the Huntington Regional Blood Center, was quoted as saying that this was "the best effort ever made since more people showed up than in previous drives." DeSantis also pointed out that the donor's own protection was considered in having rejected approximately one-third of those attempted to give.

Eight out of fourteen organizations that turned out for the drive did not qualify for the $25 saving bond which will be awarded the fraternity and the sorority that gives the greatest percentage of blood for this year. Only one sorority, Alpha Sigma Tau, gave the required ten pints of blood to become eligible for the award.

College Theatre Closes Tonight

Tonight will be the last performance of "Reluctant Debutante," the first production by College Theatre this year. Curtain time is 8:15 P.M. in Old Main auditorium.

Faye Murray, Milton senior, and Herbert Profitt, Spencer junior, play the two lead roles of Shelia and Jimmy Broadbent tonight. Others actors are: Kay Humphrey, Huntington senior, Jane Broadbent; Carol Compton, Huntington senior, Mabel Crosswaite; Joe Boradaille, South Charleston senior, David Bulloch; and Norman Keyser, Huntington freshman, David Hoylake Johnston.

The play is under the direction of Clayton Page, associate professor of speech.

James A. McCubbin, assistant professor of speech, and his play production class are in charge of the stage setting and props.

This play marks the thirty-second year on campus for the College Theatre.

Students will be admitted to the play by student activity cards only. Other admission is 60c.

The play takes place in present day London during the "Debutante" season. It concerns the attempts of two mothers to nail the most suitable male prospects for their debutante daughters.

Tonight's cast, with the exception of Miss Murray and Profitt, played in Wednesday's production only. Both the lead parts were played by Miss Murray and Profitt during all performances.

The supporting cast for Tuesday night and last night included Linda Gardner, Huntington freshman; Charles Ricketts, Huntington sophomore; Bryan Compton, Huntington senior; Nancy Sparks, Charleston sophomore, and Linda Henderson, Huntington freshman.

Mrs. Edgar, the maid, is portrayed by Jane Anne Garrett, Huntington senior. Miss Garrett is also assistant director of the play. The play revolves around several mix-ups and misunderstandings about Jane Broadbent's suitors. One of them, David Bulloch, is well accepted by Mrs. Broadbent as a possible son-in-law while David Hoylake Johnston is declared a "menace" to all the young debutantes.

Tryouts Announced For Second Play

Tryouts for the second College Theatre play, "Light Up The Sky," by Moss Hart, to be directed by Williams Kearns, instructor of speech, will be conducted on November 18 and 19 at 3:00 P.M. in Old Main auditorium and at 7:00 P.M. in Main 116.

The cast of "Light Up The Sky" is composed of actors, actresses, producers, wives of producers, directors, wives of directors, miscellaneous husbands, friends and parakeets. There are roles for nine men and four women.

All students are eligible to tryout.

THEATRE'S 'DEBUTANTE' BOWS OUT TONIGHT
Finishes Four-Night Run

RAYMOND MASSEY, AGNES MOREHEAD, and Martin Gabel (appearing from left to right)—three of America's foremost actors—will appear in person on Wednesday, November 20, at 8:30 P.M., at the Keith-Albee Theatre in the new Paul Gregory production, "The Rivalry." The program will be the fourth Artist Series presentation of the year, and all full-time students are eligible to attend.

Curtain Raises On 'The Rivalry' In K-A Wednesday Night

"The Rivalry," a Paul Gregory production starring Raymond Massey, Agnes Moorehead, and Martin Gabel, will be presented Wednesday, November 20, 8:30 P.M. at the Keith-Albee Theatre.

This fourth Artist Series presentation of the year will appear here for one performance in its short tour before opening on Broadway. All full-time students may attend.

"The Rivalry," written and directed by Norman Corwin, is the story of the rivalry that existed between Abraham Lincoln and Stephen Douglas. Raymond Massey will appear as Abraham Lincoln, the instigator of the rivalry. Martin Gabel plays the role of Stephen A. Douglas, who opposed Lincoln, and Agnes Moorehead will be seen as Adele Douglas, the woman who stood between the two great men.

Massey is famous for his many screen roles but before coming to Hollywood he starred on Broadway in "The Doctor's Dilemma" and "Candida," with Katherine Cornell, and "Pygmalion," with Gertrude Lawrence. He has appeared in a Gregory production before, "John Brown's Body."

This appearance is also Miss Moorehead's second in a Gregory production. She starred in "Don Juan in Hell."

Miss Moorehead became a star with her roles in "Scarlet Pages," "All the Kings Men," "Soldiers and Women," and "Candlelight." She also did extensive work in radio and was a regular member of Orson Welles' famed Mercury Players.

For her role in the movie, "The Magnificent Ambersons," Miss Moorehead received the Academy Award nomination for the year's outstanding supporting performance. She also was given the New York Critics' Award for the best actress of the year.

She has more recently been nominated twice for an Academy Award as the year's best supporting actress, and she played an important role in the current movie, "Raintree County."

Martin Gabel appears for the first time in a Gregory production. He has acted in several plays on Broadway including "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?" "Dead End," "Three Men on a Horse," and "The Reclining Figure," which he also co-produced.

Gabel joined forces with Jose Ferrer to produce such Broadway hits as "Charley's Aunt," "The Assassin," and "The Survivors." He is also well known for his frequent appearances on the television program "What's My Line?" on which his wife, Arlene Francis, is a regular panelist.

Paul Gregory, the producer of "The Rivalry," has had four other plays appear on the Artist Series. "Don Juan in Hell," "John Brown's Body," "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial," and "Three For Tonight" have all appeared here.

HOME EC INITIATION

Pat Fannin To Edit 'Et Cetera'; Copy Deadline December 16

By LaDONNA CROCKETT

Do you like to write poetry, short stories, or essays? Do you translate works in a foreign language, write reviews of books or plays, or write literary criticisms? If you do and would like to see your original writings in print, Et Cetera, the college literary publication, will soon begin accepting contributions for its issue that will be published the latter part of January.

Et Cetera is the literary magazine established in 1953 as an outlet for student creative writing. This year two issues will be printed, one in the spring as well as the January issue. The deadline for submitting compositions for the first publication is December 16.

The editor-in-chief this year is Pat Fannin, Ashland, Ky., senior.

PAT FANNIN
Et Cetera Editor

Her staff includes: Gretchen Border, Charleston senior, art editor; Hilbert Campbell, Hico junior, Marjorie Cappellari, Point Pleasant senior, Linda McGhee, Huntington, Bill Moran, Huntington senior, and Bryan Compton, Huntington senior, as the editorial board; LaDonna Crockett, Matewan sophomore, and Nancy Marples, South Charleston senior, as the production staff. Faculty advisors are John Stender, associate professor of English, Marvin Mitchell, assistant professor of English, and John Marvin, English instructor.

The first meeting of the staff will be Monday at 4 P.M. in the Laidley Hall lounge. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

FRESHMAN DORM ELECTION

Freshman Dormitory women elected their officers for the year Monday night. The freshmen chosen were: Delores Inclan, Moundsville, president; Joan Brand, South Charleston, vice-president; Pat Joyce, Parkersburg, secretary; Ella Mae Bailey, Oceana, treasurer; and Sharon Pickens, South Charleston, chaplain.

Sororities Name Pledge Officers

Pledge officers have been announced by the seven Greek sororities on campus. They are as follows:

Alpha Chi Omega: president, Sharon Pickets; vice president, Donna Johnson, Barboursville freshman; secretary, Joan Brand, South Charleston freshman; treasurer, Ella Mae Bailey, Kopperston freshman; panhellenic representative, Mary Cline, Kopperston freshman.

Social Calendar

One informal dance highlights the social calendar this weekend along with house parties by several fraternities.

Alpha Xi Delta sorority will have an informal dance tonight from 9 until 1 A.M. at Fraternal Hall. Music will be provided by Johnny McCoy and his orchestra. The dance will be chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. Gresham Toole, professor of history, and Mr. James Stais, assistant professor of Spanish.

The Sportlettes, women's independent organization, will have a bowling party tomorrow night from 6 until 10 P.M. The members of the organization will attend church together, the church as yet undecided, Sunday, November 17.

CJ Pictures Free; But NO Takers

Students are not turning out to have their yearbook pictures taken, according to Durward Brewer, editor of the 1958 Chief Justice.

This year, photographs are taken with no expense to the students whereas in past years individual pictures were paid for individually. All that is necessary to have a picture taken is to go to the Chief Justice office during the day and set up an appointment.

If the students are to have their pictures taken free, these appointments must be kept.

JOHN MARSHALL'S BUST has been "under cover" since it was disfigured by vandals during the Easter recess last spring. The recent $600 donation of A. R. Winters, a Marshall graduate from Huntington, will finance the purchase of a new bronze structure

New Bust Will Be Purchased

President Stewart H. Smith accepted with "deepest appreciation" an offer by A. R. Winters of Huntington to pay the $600 cost of replacing an Italian marble sculpture of John Marshall at the east entrance to the campus.

The bust of the late U. S. Chief Justice, for 20 years a landmark on the campus, was damaged beyond repair by vandals last spring. Dr. Smith said on Monday that it would cost $600 to $800 to replace it and that state funds were not available for such a purpose.

Mr. Winters is a Marshall graduate and a former state senator.

Dr. Smith said that Professor J. S. Jablonski of the Marshall art department has started making a mold of the damaged bust. A cast will be made from the mold to serve as a guide in making a new bust.

'Bridge At Remagen' Said Vivid, Called Unusual Documentary

Bridge At Remagen, Ken Hechler; Ballantine Books, Inc., 1957. Foreword by Brig. Gen. S. L. A. Marshall. $50 (Paperbound Edition).

By DON DEWEY

Bridge At Remagen is a masterpiece of research, factual history, and personalities wrapped up in a 228-page bundle of enjoyable reading. It is written without the didacticism of the usual documentary "war stories" that makes the student of World War II historical events cringe at the thought of reading another book.

It is a detailed account of the capture of a bridge in the sleepy little town of Remagen on the Rhine. Both the bridge and the town were unimportant to the Allied and German high commands until the Ninth Armored Division, a newcomer to the European theater, bulled its way through the retreating, hard fighting German army and found itself standing on the banks of the Rhine river. There, they looked across the long span of a much sought after prize; a bridge across the Rhine's swift waters that was still intact and could be used as a breach for the rampaging Allied armies.

From the beginning the reader will be quickly absorbed into the ranks of Lt. Karl Timmerman's company of infantrymen who forged ahead of the Ninth Armored's Sherman tanks clearing the way for the treaded war machines and looking for a Rhine crossing.

The reader receives not only the view of the U. S. forces but also that of the Germans. Through the author's intensive research one becomes acquainted with the officers of the German high command and the German bridge commanders. Captains Willi Bratze, and Karl Feisenhahn. At times one almost feels for Bratze and Feisenhahn when they realize the importance of the bridge and are unable to convince their division officers of such.

Impatient Americans on one end of the bridge and disorderly Germans on the other end produce one of the most dramatic events of the European war that leads Lt. Timmermann and his company across the Remagen bridge. The bridge is teeming with high explosives that at any time could blow the bridge into a sagging, twisted heap of steel lying in the swirling waters of the Rhine.

The reader is never lost throughout this event. He knows the thoughts, commands, and reactions of both the German and American commanders and their men, as Lt. Timmermann and his men warily cross the bridge, clearing it of enemy machine-gunners and snipers.

There is no single hero. All of the men directly responsible for the capture of the bridge are the heroes, but that is unknown to them at the time. They were just doing a job that had to be done.

The book is a must for those interested in World War II history. It is written by the man who was there recording every minute of the crossing, second by second.

Approximately 160 packages of cigarettes are sold in the Student Union every day. This totals about 3,200 cigarettes.

THE ABOVE SCENE is depicted on the cover of Dr. Kenneth Hechler's new book, "The Bridge at Remagen," which was released recently. The book concerns the first crossing of the Rhine River in Germany during World War II, which occurred on March 7, 1945.

Know Your Senate

(Editor's Note: This is the second of a regular series on the members of the Student Senate. The articles will contain answers from those interviewed as to their reasons for having become representatives of the student body, the reasons for their having taken strong stands on particular issues and in general what work they have done in the Senate.)

Gloria Joan Brothers, Huntington sophomore, is serving her second year in the senate.

"I am interested in the student government of the college, how it operates to help the students and I like working with the students," the second year senator was quoted in a recent interview.

Senator Brothers believes that the importance of the Student Senate to the school is, "To work in co-ordination with the faculty to give the students what is best for them through committee reports and personal research of the senate."

When asked what she felt the senate's importance to be on this campus in comparison with other campuses, the politician stated, "We have a very strong student government compared with other schools since we carry on more business than do other student governments. This has become apparent to me through talking with students from other campuses."

"On what issues have you taken a strong stand in the senate?" was the next question asked of the senator. Miss Brothers answered that at the time she couldn't think of any issues on which she had taken a strong stand.

Senator Brothers has shown her capability of handling future assignments in the senate since she served as chairman of last year's executive committee, was a member of the publicity and publications committee and co-chairman of this semester's blood drive.

SENATE SPEAKS

By DICK McHENRY

The student senate met and approved the following at the weekly meeting on October 23, 1957:

A petition from Tau Kappa Alpha was read and passed to allow their sale of Christmas cards.

The Sportlettes presented a petition which passage will permit them to sell mints and candy on campus.

Graduate students were recognized as being allowed to vote, since they are full time students.

Senate Rule 39 has been temporarily suspended. This rule deals with absences in Senate meetings.

Reviewer Lauds 'Debutante'

By JUDY O'DELL

A fast moving production of "Reluctant Debutante" opened last Tuesday to a small but appreciative audience. One of the scenes enjoyed by the audience was one in which "Mummy" and "Daddy" were supposed to be in bed, but kept wandering in at inopportune times for young Jane and David.

Members of Tuesday's cast were: Faye Murray, as the flighty Shelia Broadbent; Herbert Profitt, as her suffering husband Jimmy; Linda Gardner portrayed Jane, a rather "reluctant debutante;" Linda Henderson, who played the ever giggling Clarissa Crosswaite; Nancy Sparks portrayed Mabel Crosswaite, Shelia's "dearest" friend; Bryan Compton, as David Hoyle Johnston, the man "every woman dreams about" but who is thought to be a cad; Charles Ricketts played David Bulloch, who "is in love with someone all the time"; and Jane Ann Garrett, Mrs. Edgar, the Broadbents' maid.

Clayton Page, associate professor of speech, assisted by Jane Ann Garrett, directed the play. Backstage work was done by James A. McCubbin and his play production class and scenic lighting by Mark Madsen.

Nine Seniors Bow Out Tomorrow

Captain Jim Simpson at center. The other quartet of seniors are halfback Ramon Dunlap, end Donzil Hall, center Dana Kirk and guard Bob Wilson.

Another senior, Paul Burford, second string guard was put on the shelf before the Miami game and will not dress tomorrow.

The rest of the starting lineup has Tod Fugate at end, Vernon Howell and John Beiletti at tackles, Dick Allen at guard, Bob Wagner at quarterback, Dick Jackson at halfback and Sonny Sirianni at fullback.

The only newcomer to this lineup is Dick Jackson, whose running against the Redskins last week earned him the starting berth from Roy Goines.

Hess and Wagner, who were injured in the Redskin game, will start tomorrow but in case the injuries should become worse Royer has capable replacements.

Jim Maddox proved last week that he is more than able to direct the team in the absence of Wagner. And Royer's trial moving of Howell from tackle to guard worked so well against the 'Skins that should Hess be sidelined, Howell will move to guard and Jim O'Conner will move into the tackle slot.

Coach Doyt Perry's Falcons will field an experienced team of seven seniors and four juniors. The line averages 210 pounds per man with three seniors—200-pound end Ed Jarneway, 206-pound Tim Murnen, and 195-pound center Jim Dreher—leading the way.

Ray Reese, 215-pound junior, will start at the other end while the tackles will be manned by senior Karl Koepfer (225) and junior Larry Baker (225). Bill Page, a 204-pound senior, will start at the other guard.

The backfield will start with Don Nehlen, a senior, at quarterback, Vic DeOrio, senior, and Hal Furcron, junior, will be at halfbacks with Sturg Russell, junior, will be at full.

Freshmen In Better Shape For Greenbrier, Says Chambers

By LOWELL CADE

"We'll be in better shape for this one because now the boys have a good idea what college football is like."

That was what freshman Coach Bill Chambers has to say about his team's chances tomorrow afternoon at Lewisburg when the Little Herd meets Greenbrier Military at 2 P.M.

"We were definitely outclassed last weekend," Chambers continued. "That Xavier team compared with the University of Cincinnati freshman team that beat us 70-0 two years ago. The thing that made the difference this time was the fact that we didn't give up."

"We'll have a couple of boys out. Kent Bailey has a pulled muscle in his back and will see little or no action. Vic Quinet, who did a fine job last week, has a ruptured blood vessel in his nose and has been weakened quite a bit because of treatment of it.

"Paul Hess will start at right half (wingback) in place of Bailey. We thought he did a good job against Xavier both on offense and defense."

Changes on the line will find Greg Porter at right end instead of Harry Underwood. Porter was named to start last week but was hit by a light case of flu.

The guard and tackle positions on the right side of the line are questionable. Either Jim McCallister or Dan James will be at the guard and Fred Lewis, Cafery, or Glen Williamson will get the call at tackle. A lot depends on who kicks and who receives.

Expected to start at the same backfield spots they held down last week are quarterback Ron "Tags" Meredith, fullback Jim McDoDonald, and left halfback Kenny Parsons.

Again on the line will be center Lester Little, guard Lathan Wilson, tackle Norman Mullens, and end Larry Jarrett.

This will be the final game of the season for the Little Green and White. It was slated to play three games but flu and injuries forced the opener with Ohio U. to be cancelled.

Last season the little Herd gained a tie with Greenbrier

The Stanley Steamer

By SAM STANLEY

The Thundering Herd ends a football season tomorrow.

And during the course of a nine-game span we have achieved at least a tie for second place in the Mid-American Conference and our team has proven itself to the local press and fans as a winner.

But have we raised any eyes outside of Huntington and vicinity?

Let's look at the season first with the view that the Herd has finally arrived.

We started out with a six-game winning streak, an accomplishment for any team. We have assured ourselves of a second place tie in the MAC. We defeated a respected Kent State team to the surprise of almost everyone except maybe a few wishful thinkers.

Excluding a dismal five and a half minutes we outplayed the MAC champs Miami.

Looking at the season from this viewpoint puts the Thundering Herd among the best in the MAC.

But there is also the other side of the picture that some are taking in argument to all the accomplishments rung up by Herb Royer's eleven this fall. They are:

(1) The MAC is weak this season and one or two upsets in the loop have really shuffled the standings.

(2) We had an easy schedule to start with and it is just now catching up with us.

(3) Kent State is no more a MAC power but an also-ran.

(4) Should we just gain a tie for second place, which would come by a loss to Bowling Green, our victories would have been over the bottom four teams. And there was only one touchdown difference in three games and a single point margin in the other.

These skeptic views may have some foundation and the only way to dampen them is to defeat Bowling Green. Should we lose, no matter what the margin, it would back these beliefs.

A win tomorrow would make it known to the rest of the conference that the Big Green is tired of being the patsies and means business for once.

I feel that Royer has showed us quite a football team this year with all the necessities it takes to make a good team.

It has good depth all the way around. It has a big, fast and rough line. It has fast backs that really know how to carry a pigskin. It has two smart quarterbacks that are talented in team generalship and passing. And most of all it has the spirit, the desire and the love of the game that all football teams need in order to succeed.

This team needs to be congratulated on its showing this season and no matter if they win, lose, or tie tomorrow, it is a team the students will be proud to call OUR CHAMPIONS.

Statistics Do Not Win Football Games

If statistics won ball games, Bowling Green would dump the Herd tomorrow afternoon and they would be in undisputed second place in the Mid-American Conference.

However football games are won on the field not on paper and tomorrow's is no exception. As the famed Knute Rockne put it, "It's not the dog in the fight but the fight in the dog, that counts."

Going into tomorrow's hassle for second place, the Falcons are the loop's leading defensive team and are second on offense while the Green and White takes third in both departments.

BG has rolled an even 1,500 yards on offense, 1,031 rushing and 469 passing for an average of 300. Defensively, it has permitted its opponents only 995 yards in five games for an average of 199 yards per game.

The Herd has averaged 267.2 yards per game and five opponents have averaged 232 yards. However, where Bowling Green has been strong—passing—the Green has permitted 163 less yards than the Falcons.

Miami is the MAC's leading offensive team with a total of 1,546 yards which averages 309.2 per game.

In the individual departments, Bowling Green has a number of

The intramural soccer tournament got under way this week with four teams advancing to the quarter finals.

The Tekes drew a bye and the Sig Eps downed an SAE squad 3-0. In the lower division, the Pikes defeated the KA's 4-1, and the Rascals overwhelmed the Sig Ep No. 2 team 9-0.

The winner of the Teke-Sig Ep game will face the victor of the Pike-Rascal match for the championship.

Intramural basketball began Tuesday night with four games being played. The Sig Ep quint proved to be too much for an SAE five as the Sig Eps won handily in a low scoring game 45-42. Alex Lawrence and Ivan Miele sparked the victors with 10 points each. Gene Cunningham led all scorers with 16.

The KA's won easily over a LXA team 56-23. Fred Reeder and Al Ferguson found the range with 12 markers apiece. Charlie Lieble led the losers with eight points.

In the third game of the evening a strong PKA five swamped a hapless ASQ quint 66-21 to provide the highest scoring game of the evening.

In the final game of the evening the SAE No. 2 team and the Sig Ep No. 2 quint played the closest match of all with the SAE's coming out on top 43-36.

Silence Salute To Hungary At B. G. Game

A tribute will be paid between halves at the Bowling Green football game this Saturday, November 16, in honoring those students who fought in the Hungarian Revolution one year ago.

This program is set up to include an explanation of the occasion's significance by Lloyd Calvert, Diamond senior, one minute of silence, a rifle salute by the Pershing Rifles, Marshall's ROTC drill team, and taps by the ROTC drum and bugle corps.

The organization sponsoring this activity throughout the nation on college and university campuses is the Christianform of Washington, D. C.

This group has stated its purpose as being "a non-profit, non-sectarian organization dedicated to the defeat of atheistic Communism and the liberation of all peoples enslaved by its tyranny."

The Christianform is mailing to every college in the country a poster reprinting an article which appeared in The Daily Pennsylvanian by a former "freedom-fighter" now enrolled at the University of Pennsylvania entitled "Hungary—A Grim Anniversary."

Several colleges throughout the country are paying tribute to the cause.

Of the 1958 graduating class in Teachers College, it is anticipated that only one-fourth will remain in West Virginia to teach in schools below college level.

In rushing, Bob Ramlow has picked up 310 yards in 69 carries to hold third place while Cagle Curtis is the Green's top carrier in total yardage against loop foes with 210.

Dave Thelen of Miami is far and away the leader with 507 yards and an average of 7.2 yards per carry. He is also out of reach in the scoring race with 42 points. Here, Curtis is second with 24 points.

Aerialwise, Falcons take second place in both passing and receiving. Don Nehlen has completed 25 of 46 tosses while Bob Wagner holds third with 21 connections in 46 attempts.

Ray Reese and Ed Janeway, both of Bowling Green, follow the league's leading receiver, Gene Cook of Toledo. Reese has caught 10 passes for 177 yards and three TDs while Janeway has pulled in eight for 74 yards.

Advanced Fellowships Offered

The National Science Foundation plans to award approximately 850 graduate and 85 postdoctoral fellowships, each valued at $1600 to $2000 a year, to individuals undertaking graduate study in the science during the 1958-59 academic year.

These fellowships will be awarded in the mathematical, physical, medical, biological and engineering sciences, including anthropology, psychology (excluding clinical psychology), geography, certain interdisciplinary fields, and fields of convergence between the natural and social sciences.

Certain students who are citizens of the United States, and who have demonstrated ability and special aptitude for advanced training in the sciences are eligible for one of the fellowships.

A person must also be in one of the following categories: students studying for either masters' or doctoral degrees; students entering graduate school for the first time or having completed less than one normal year in graduate study; students who will have completed an amount of graduate training considered by the institution at which they are in attendance to be a normal year of graduate study; students who expect to complete the requirements for a doctoral degree within one calendar year from the date on which they enter on the tenure of their fellowships; and individuals who, as of the beginning of their fellowships, have earned a doctoral degree in one of the fields of science listed above or have the research training and experience equivalent to that represented by such a degree.

Applications for graduate fellowships must be submitted to Dean Frank E. Bartlett of the Arts and Sciences College. Deadline for their submission to the Fellowship Office of the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council, which assists the National Science Foundation in the screening of applicants, is January 3, 1958.

Applications for post doctoral fellowships must be received in the Fellowship Office of the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council by December 29, 1957. Awards will be announced on March 15, 1958.

Blame Refused By Merchants In Homecoming Decorations

Ed. Note—This article is the gist of a letter written by the Huntington merchants in retort to the Personal Column in the November 3 issue of The Herald-Advertiser written by Editor Harold R. Pinckard, which said, in essence, that the downtown merchants did nothing to support the recent Homecoming weekend, and also in defense of the supposed feeling that they do not want to cooperate with the school on such events.

Huntington merchants have stated that their lack of interest in the recent Homecoming weekend was not due to disinterest but to improper planning.

This statement was the appeal of a letter directed to H. R. Pinckard, editor of The Herald-Advertiser, in reply to his Personal Column of November 3 which said that no welcoming signs for homecomers were displayed in the downtown business district and that merchants seemed unaware that Marshall is one of the city's "major industries."

The letter, from the Retail Merchants Association, went on to say, "Marshall College, in our opinion is one of the greatest assets a town like Huntington could have. Almost four thousands students from many states and every county in West Virginia go to school here. Millions of dollars are spent here each year by these students and the faculty.

"Marshall College has a great many problems. You, as editor are in a position to bring before the public, Legislative and other influential groups the type of publicity that would be effective in helping to properly insure the future needs of Marshall College.

"It is our combined opinion that editorials regarding Marshall College should be concerned more with solving the above problem rather than in criticizing businessmen for laxity in Homecoming participation.

"As to your remarks concerning the lack of welcoming signs in our windows, display window decoration, and other participation, we would like to reply with the pertinent question: Should the merchants take the initiative in the Homecoming activities or should the Homecoming Committee make suggestions as to how they would like for us to cooperate with them?"

"In closing, the Retail Merchants at a recent meeting voted to actively work with the Alumni and Homecoming Committee in future Homecoming observances if the Committee in charge desires our participation and will inform us as to how we can be helpful in making this occasion the gala event that it rightfully should be."
