SHOWDOWN SET IN MAC

Same Situation 20 Years Ago Big Green Can Cop Title By Knocking Off Redskins

By SAM STANLEY

Most of us aren't used to Big Green football teams playing conference championship games and therefore don't know just how to adjust to the situation. Maybe we can take a cue from the riotous display here when the Big Green last entered, and won, a showdown game such as tomorrow's Miami tilt.

Ironically, this earlier game came under almost the same circumstances as is tomorrow's.

This showdown was the last time Marshall won a conference football championship, back in 1937. Then they were members of the old Buckeye Conference, the playoff opponent was Dayton University, and the Big Green was a more powerful ball club than at present. But, outside of those particulars, tomorrow's tilt and the historic game of November 20, 1937, had a lot in common.

Back then, as today, both contenders had to win the game to take the title. Marshall came into the game with a 3-0-1 league mark and an overall mark of 7-0-1. Dayton was 4-0 in the loop and 7-1 against all comers. In 1957, the Green is 6-1 on the year (Continued on Page Two)

A surprising Thundering Herd eleven finally with the hopes of achieving a Mid-American Conference football championship must defeat the loop's perennial power—the Redskins of Miami University—to fulfill this dream tomorrow afternoon at Oxford, Ohio.

The winner of this game will be the MAC grid champs of 1957 as both teams will be taking a 4-0 conference record into the fray.

The coaches of the opposing schools both have high respect for the other team. Coach Pont of Miami remarked, "The competition in the MAC gets tougher every year and Marshall's success proves this point. Herb Royer went out to get good football players and his record shows that he has done it."

When asked how he thought his Herd team would do tomorrow, Royer replied, "We have a good opportunity. If the ball bounces the right way we have a chance, but we will have to play exceptionally good—over our heads. If we play average ball or below average we can't expect to win."

A win would be sweet for Royer, who finally has a winning season after four years of failure in the won-loss column. Almost two years ago Herb stated publicly that he would quit if he didn't field a winning team. His (Continued on Page Four)

College Theatre To Open Tuesday

By JUDY O'DELL

College Theatre will begin its thirty-second year on this campus when the curtain opens at 8:15 P.M., Thursday, November 12, with the production of "Reluctant Debutante," a British comedy by William Douglas Hume.

Many plays have been produced in the past three years. The first play given was "Menonite Mind," in 1925. Others were "Children of the Moon," 1927; "The Tempest," 1931; "Cradle Song," 1932; "Everyman," 1935; "Candida," 1936; "Our Town," 1939; "The Importance of Being Earnest," 1941; "Arsenic and Old Lace," 1943; "Antigone," 1948; "The Crucible," 1956, and "Glass Menagerie," 1957.

"Emphasis is placed upon development of confidence, poise, initiative, self-reliance and cooperativeness. In College Theatre personalities are trained to live together in democratic cooperation," said Clayton Page, associate professor of speech and play director, during the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of College Theatre in 1950.

A further purpose of College Theatre is to develop the appreciation of dramatic literature.

The cast for Tuesday's opening and Thursday's performance includes Faye Murray, Milton senior, as Shelia Broadbent; Herbert Profitt, Spencer junior, as Jimmy Broadbent; Linda Gardner, Huntington freshman, as Jane Broadbent; Nancy Sparks, Charleston sophomore, as Mabel Crosswaite; Linda Henderson, Huntington freshman, as Clarissa Crosswaite; Charles Ricketts, Huntington sophomore, as David Bulloch, and Bryan Compton, Huntington senior, as David Hoylake Johnston.

On Wednesday and Friday nights, Shelia and Jimmy Broadbent will again be portrayed by Faye Murray, Milton senior, and Herbert Profitt, Spencer junior. Others in the cast include Jane Broadbent, portrayed by Kay Humphrey, Huntington senior; Mabel Crosswaite, portrayed by Carol Compton, Huntington senior; David Bulloch, portrayed by Joe Boradaille, Charlseton senior, and David Hoylake Johnston, portrayed by Norman Keyser, Huntington freshman.

The play concerns the attempts of two English mothers trying to out-manuever each other for the most eligible escorts for their daughters during debutante season. "Reluctant Debutante" will run for four nights, opening November 12 and closing November 15.

James A. McCubbin, assistant professor of speech, and his play production class are in charge of the stage setting.

Students will be admitted to the performances by activity cards.

Next Wednesday Is Blood Drive Day

By DICK McHENRY

The Huntington Red Cross Blood Center will be operating the fall semester blood drive with their own personnel and equipment Wednesday, November 13, from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M. in the Student Union.

This local unit has facilities for obtaining 200 pints which have been set as this semester's goal.

In addition to Red Cross personnel carrying on the work involved in this campaign, the pledges of Alpha Xi Delta sorority will be working in the canteen where coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Unless the quota, 200 pints, is obtained, the bank will be discontinued. The minimum donation required to make a fraternity or sorority eligible for the $25 savings bond, which will be awarded over a period of two semesters, is 10 pints.

After asking Co-chairman Gloria Brothers whether she thought all organizations represented would be eligible for the awards, she answered, "Not all of the sororities have been over the minimum mark set this year and if no enthusiasm is shown in this drive, these organizations will find themselves ineligible to receive the award."

President Stewart H. Smith released a statement from his office concerning absences during the drive. Anyone coming to class late because they donated blood will be issued a written excuse in the Union to be given to the instructor upon the student's arrival in class.

Same Situation

and 4-0 in the Mid-American Conference as compared to Miami's 5-2 and the same league slate.

Marshall was the visiting team then, having to journey to Dayton. Tomorrow they go to Oxford, Ohio.

Marshall was the underdog, despite its undefeated mark and the coaching of the immortal Cam Henderson. Dayton was a 6-5 favorite. Tomorrow Miami is a slight favorite.

A gentleman named Herb Royer had a lot to do with that '37 game. He was the star halfback and signal-caller of Henderson's single wing powerhouse, and his punting and field generalship were prime factors in the Herd's historic win. Tomorrow, he will attempt to direct his wing-T warriors to what would be just as important a victory.

Then, as they did this year, the Big Green had come back from a frustrating season the year before (1936) to zoom to the top of the league. Dayton had had a poor year in '36, too; Miami didn't win the MAC crown in '56, so that was on off-year for the usually dominant Redskins.

A siege of bad weather hit the area just before that Dayton encounter, and the game was played in a blinding snowstorm. The sudden cold didn't chill the fever of the Big Green backers, though, as a crowd of approximately 2,000 made the trip to Dayton over the icy, dangerous roads. A similar pilgrimage is planned to Miami this weekend. We hopes it comes off, and doesn't have to brave such travel hazards.

We would like to see history continue its consistency on through tomorrow's game—and then hope to see such a celebration as jubilant Marshall faithful threw back yonder.

The Big Green won the game, 7-0, on an 80-yard first quarter touchdown dash by fullback Bob Adkins and then depended upon vicious defensive play and Royer's punts to keep Dayton bottled up in its own territory the rest of the game.

Here's Hoping, Marco

After the game, the hysterical Herd fans mobbed the field and outfought Dayton's team and fans for the goal posts. Then the championship-crazed Johnny Marshalls came back over the icy roads that night so they could greet the team upon its arrival here Sunday morning.

The team came back by train and arrived at the C. & O. terminal about 2 A.M. A mob of about 1,500 students and townspeople greeted them, carrying Henderson and all the players on shoulder rides around the station platform. It was quite a spectacle, with co-eds doing "The Big Apple," that era's dance craze... snake dancers winding through the crowd... and general riotous conditions prevailing.

Even the college administration bowed to the prosperity. President James E. Allen freed the students from classes after 9 o'clock on Monday and the rest of the day was spent in celebrating the victory. There was a special assembly called and a downtown parade staged. (The mayor had left Huntington open to the college for the celebration.)

Yes, those were the golden days of athletics here. Apparently, the success of the team inspired the students to action, too. We would like to see that parallel instituted again in these modern times. Here's hoping tomorrow.

Series Production 'Rivalry' Stars Massey, Morehead

RAYMOND MASSEY

By LaDONNA CROCKETT

The fourth Artist Series program of the year, "The Rivalry," a Paul Douglas presentation, will be featured Wednesday, November 20, at 8:30 P.M., at the Keith-Albee Theatre. Raymond Massey, starring as Abraham Lincoln, will head the cast which includes Agnes Moorehead as Adele Dougless, and Martin Gabel as her husband, and Lincoln's rival, Stephen Douglas.

The program will be one of the four that all full-time students may attend, according to Curtis Baxter, director of the Artist Series. Students may get tickets by presenting their activity cards to Mrs. Mount in the corridor of Old Main Monday and Tuesday, November 11 and 12. No tickets will be held over.

"The Rivalry," written and directed by Norman Corwin, is the story of the contest of Lincoln and Douglas for the presidency. The play, hailed throughout the country as timely, thrilling, and masterful, is breaking all records on its short tour prior to opening on Broadway.

This is the second Broadway play to be featured on this year's Artist Series. "No Time For Sergeants," which appeared here four weeks ago, was well received by the student body.

Gregory, the producer of "The Rivalry," is nationally known for his productions of "Don Juan in Hell," "John Brown's Body," "The Caine Mutiny," and "Three For Tonight."

Danforth Aid Program Begins

Graduate fellowships for use at any accredited university by teachers college graduates were announced today by the Danforth Foundation. The fellowships are made annually to approximately 75 men preparing for the college teaching field.

The procedure of gaining an appointment can only be made through Clarke F. Hess, associate professor of education. Every accredited college in the United States is invited to present to the foundation two and not to exceed three men, not over 30 years of age, for consideration to the appointment as a Danforth Fellow.

Selection for a fellowship is made on the basis of outstanding academic ability, personality congenial to the classroom, and integrity and character, including serious inquiry within the Christian tradition.

Pep Band Going To Miami

A large contingent of students is planning to make the trip to Oxford, Ohio, Saturday to see the MAC championship game with Miami.

According to Thomas S. O'Connell, band director, a small pep band will make the trip to Oxford to play for the game.

Marshall hasn't won a football championship since 1937, when it traveled to Dayton to win the old Buckeye Conference flag. Saturday, they face a similar situation in Miami with the winner of that game copping the 1957 MAC bunting.

Several of the fraternities are taking groups to the game in addition to individual students making the trip.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity is making plans to take a chartered bus to the game. The Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity also plans to take one bus.

Members of the Kappa Alpha fraternity and the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity will make the trip in cars.

Ticket sales progressed at a moderate rate. However, there were still plenty of good tickets on hand and it was by no means a sell-out, according to athletic department officials.

Tickets were on the 35-yard line and on the minus-five yard line. Tickets remained on sale until noon today.

A spokesman for the SAE's said approximately 45 men would attend the game in their party, while the PKA's reported that about 36 would travel on their bus.

KA and Sig Ep reported that smaller groups would represent them at the game.

Colleges May Govern Entrance Rules

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Attorney General's Office has interpreted the law as giving West Virginia's state-supported colleges the power to set up admission regulations going beyond purely academic requirements. The opinion of Asst. Atty. Gen. Virginia Mae Brown said such regulations would be subject to approval by the State Board of Education, which administers nine state colleges. The interpretation is of major importance to the colleges because, as President Paul N. Elbin of West Liberty State College said today, they have heretofore operated on the assumption that they had to admit any graduate of an approved West Virginia high school. Mrs. Brown's opinion was in reply to a letter from Elbin, who had asked: "On what grounds may we deny admission to a graduate of a West Virginia high school or to any legal resident of the state of West Virginia?" Mrs. Brown gave the opinion that there is authority for promulgation of admission regulations, with State Board of Education approval. But she added, "I have checked with the office of the State Board of Education and I am informed that there are no rules and regulations promulgated or approved by the State Board of Education relating to the admission of students to such institutions."

KNOW YOUR SENATE

Editor's Note: This is the first of a regular series on the members of the Student Senate. The articles will contain answers from those interviewed as to their reasons for having become representatives of the student body, the reasons for their having taken strong stands on particular issues and in general what work they have done in Senate. John (Dick) Mayberry, Wheeling senior, is serving his third elected term in the senate. When Mayberry was asked why he wanted to enter student government, he answered the question in this manner: "There were three purposes behind my decision. These were (1) because I am interested in other people and believe this will benefit me later in my teaching career (2) to help me to understand other people's thoughts as well as my own, and (3) I am unbiased and can represent a larger number of my people through my membership in many organizations on campus. Since Dick has been chairman of the scholarship committee, the election commission, co-chairman of the state tournament and on this year's homecoming revision committee, he has been exposed to many situations dealing with the welfare of the student body. The third-year senator believes: "The senate is strong as far as campus affairs are concerned with the exception of a few petty jealousies. There is overemphasis on parliamentary procedure, not as far as running the meetings, but with relation to certain technicalities." Mayberry also felt that some advice was in order for those who would desire to seek office in the student government. "First, I believe that anyone wanting to run for office should be unbiased and able to accept other people's ideas. Secondly, these persons should be able to make their own decisions but should have a definite set of facts as to why they are making this decision. My third point of advice is that they must have an interest in addition to giving up some of their time and should desire to do a job completely and not half way. Should you become a senator and find that you have neither the time nor interest, I recommend that you resign."

THE PARTY WEEK END: ITS CAUSE AND CURE

With the season of party weekends almost upon us, my mail of late has been flooded with queries from young inmates of women's colleges wishing to know how one conducts one's self when one has invited a young gentleman for a weekend. This morning, for example, there were more than 30,000 letters, each containing a lock of hair. I gave the hair to a bombsight maker and the lanolin to a dry sheep of my acquaintance, and I turned instantly to the question: How should a young lady deport herself when she has asked a young gentleman to be her guest at a party weekend?

Well, my dear girls, the first thing to remember is that your young gentleman is far from home and frightened. Put him at his ease. You might, for instance, surprise him by having his mother sitting in a rocker on the station platform when he gets off the train.

Next, what kind of corsage should you send your young gentleman? Well, my beloved maidens, orchids are always acceptable.

If you find, my esteemed fillies, that your local florist has run out of stock, do not be dismayed. Make a corsage out of paper. But pick good, stiff, durable paper—twenty dollar bills, for example.

Remember at all times, my fond wenches, to show your young gentleman courtesy and consideration. Open doors for him, walk on the traffic side of the path, assist him to the punch bowl, zip his parka, light his Marlboros. (What, you ask, if he doesn't smoke Marlboros? Ridiculous, my precious nymphs! Of course, he smokes Marlboros! Don't you? Don't I? Doesn't everybody who knows a hawk from a handsaw?? What other cigarette gives you such a lot to like? Such filter? Such flavor? Such flip-top box? No other, my sweet minxes, no other. Marlboro stands alone, and any man worthy of you, my estimable damsels, is bound to be a Marlboro man.)

Serafina sat anxiously by the mailbox...

I am in mind of a party weekend some years ago at Miss Pomfritt's Seminary for Genteel Chicks in West Linotype, Ohio. Serafina Sigafos, a sophomore at this institution, majoring in napkin folding, sent an invitation to a young man named Fafnir Valve, a junior at the Joyce Kilmer School of Forestry, majoring in sap and boles.

Anyhow, Serafina sent an invitation to Fafnir, and he came, and she showered him with kindness and cuff links, and then he went away, and Serafina sat anxiously by the mailbox, wondering whether she would ever hear from him again. Sure enough, two weeks later she got a letter: "Dear Serafina, Can you let me have fifty bucks? Yours, Fafnir."

Whimpering with ecstasy, she ran to the bank and withdrew the money and mailed it to him. From then on, she got the same request every week, and as a result, she became very well acquainted with Ralph T. Involute, teller of the West Linotype Bank and Trust Co., and their friendship ripened into love, and today they are happily married and live in Stamen, Oregon, where Ralph is in the extruded molasses game and Serafina is a hydrant.

Green At Top Strength For Title Contest

Goines Regains Back Spot

next team had a losing season, but given another chance Royer has come through in flying colors.

Reports from the Miami campus are that the Redskins will be weakened by the Asian flu bug.

Two quarterbacks, first stringer Ernie Jarvis and third stringer Dick Kinkoph, have been bedded by the flu. Also three tackles, Ed Hill, a 200-pound starter, Herb Fairfield, the second team's 225-pounder, and third stringer Dale Chamberlain, all of 210 pounds have been downed by the Asian pest. Another tackle, third team Tom Claphan, 210 pounder, has an injured ankle and may not play.

The loss of four of his first six tackles and two of his first three quarterbacks has kept the Miami practice sessions down to just running the past week. Coach Pont was afraid that scrimmages and rough practice sessions would lead to more injuries.

The Miamians are chiefly a ground team and the chief ground gainer is their fullback Thelen. Thelen, a 190-pound senior, is the team's leading scorer with six touchdowns and 36 points in six games.

Thelen is also the top ground-gainer in the conference as he has piled up 585 yards in 81 carries for a total of 7.1 yards per try. He has lost no yardage this season.

Halfbacks George Scott and Hal Williams rank behind Thelen in Redskin rushing. Williams has amassed 345 yards in 71 carries and Scott has picked up 128 yards in 14 tries.

The Big Green, who have been fairly lucky as far as injuries go, will be missing only one man through this medium. Second string Paul Burford is out for the remainder of the season with a dislocated shoulder. His place will be taken by Paul Gillespie, a sophomore.

The Big Green lineup will remain the same as it was against Xavier with the exception of the halfbacks. Royer said that Roy Goines has won his halfback spot from Paul Miller. Goines was sidelined by the flu three weeks ago, but has recovered.

Cagle Curtis will probably again get the call at the other halfback slot but Royer said that Ramon Dunlap may move into the spot. Dunlap is the team's leading scorer with 30 points but Curtis is right behind him with 24 points. Curtis is second in MAC scoring with all his four touchdowns coming against loop competition.

The second unit, which Royer calls as good as the first, will have Olen Jones and Donzil Hall at ends, Rudy Columbo and Jim O'Conner at tackles, Bob Gardner and Gillespie at guards, Dana Kirk at center, Maddox at quarter, Dunlap, Miller or Curtis at the halves and Don Thornton at fullback.

Marshall and Miami have met 12 times on the gridiron and the Redskins have been victorious nine times, with the Herd winning the other three. All of the Herd victories over Miami came in a three year span from 1937 to 1939 by the scores of 7-0, 41-0, and 21-0 respectively. Since then the Redskins have won five straight, and with the exception of last year's game have won by at least five touchdowns.

The Big Green's game with Miami last year was probably the best game the Herd played all year. Going into the game a four or five touchdown underdog, the Herd went down only 21-14 and came very near upsetting the powerful Redskins.

Miami had a 7-1-1 mark last year while Marshall had a 3-6 record.

The Redskins have lost two games and have won four thus far and play Dayton and Cincinnati after the Herd. The Green ends its season next Saturday by hosting the defending MAC champs Bowling Green, in a game that may decide second place.

The 'Skins' four victories came over Western Michigan, 20-0, Kent State, 27-14, Ohio University, 26-0, and Bowling Green, 13-7. All of these are conference foes. In their only two appearances outside the loop, the men from Oxford have gone down to defeat—to Xavier, 39-19, and Purdue, 37-6.

The Big Green has already clinched third place in the conference and should they lose to Miami, a win over Bowling Green will clinch the second spot.

Speed Tabbed As Frosh's Weapon In Opener At Stadium

By LOWELL CADE

"We won't be as big this season as we were last but we will be a little faster."

This is the way freshman football coach Bill Chambers summed up his Little Herd gridders on the eve of their first game.

The frosh tangle with Xavier's freshmen this afternoon at Fairfield Stadium. Kickoff time is slated for 3 o'clock.

Despite the fact that it is late in the season to be playing an opening game, the frosh have been busy since the varsity season got under way providing the MAC leaders with practice opposition.

Chambers has named a starting line that averages about 202 pounds and a backfield at about 171. The complete first eleven will average close to 191 pounds. Named to the backfield are quarterback Ron "Tags" Meredith, 150, or Vic Quinet, 175, both of St. Albans; fullback, Jim McDonald, 205, Chester; halfbacks, Kent Bailey, 165, Princeton, and Ken Parsons, 160, Ripley.

Expected to go at the ends, Larry Jarrett, 185, Charleston, and Harry Underwood, 168, Barboursville; tackles, Norman Mullen, 205, Man, and Fred Lewis, 225, Huntington; guards, Jim McCallister, 207, Huntington, and Wilson Lathan, 190, Charleston; and center, Lester Little 205, Nitro.

"We will do our best," said Chambers, "but that Xavier club is big and good."

To date the Little Muskies are undefeated and included in wins are Ohio U. and Miami frosh teams.

By SAM STANLEY

Victory over Miami is not only an accomplishment for the Thundering Herd to achieve, but also quite a thing for any other Mid-American Conference school to do.

Going over the history of the eleven-year-old league, we find that no grid team now represented in the MAC has beaten the Redskins since the loop was originated.

The powerful Miamians have compiled a remarkable 36-3-1 record against their loop foes. The only team to defeat the 'Skins in MAC play was the University of Cincinnati, whose members were the loop kingpins in 1947, 1949, 1951, and 1952.

The two teams didn't play in 1947 and Cincinnati won the loop with a 3-1 mark. Miami had a 2-0 loop record that year but they were not eligible for the championship.

In 1948, Miami handed the UC Bearcats their only loop defeat, 43-19, and won the crown with a 4-0 mark.

UC won the crown back in 1949 as they defeated second place Miami, 27-6, in the title deciding game. UC had a 4-0 mark that year, while Miami was 3-1.

The Redskins bounced back in 1950 and their 28-0 win over UC handed them the crown with another 4-0 record. Cincy won the league in 1951-1952 with 19-14 and 34-9 victories over Miami respectively.

The Bearcats had 3-0 records in both of these years while Miami was holding down second place both times with respective marks of 3-1 and 4-1.

Cincinnati, thinking it was too big for the MAC, dropped out of the loop after the 1952 season and Marshall took their place in 1953.

Ohio University, by virtue of more games played and a 7-7 tie with Miami, won the title in '53 with a 5-0-1 mark, with Miami second on a 3-0-1 season. The Big Green, not eligible for the title and its conference games not counted in the schedule, had a 1-2 mark. Its only win was a 9-6 upset licking of the already crowned champions, Ohio University.

In '54 Miami was back on top with a 4-0 mark and Marshall was down in seven place with a 2-5 record. The Redskins, with a perfect 9-0 overall mark, won the loop with a 5-0 MAC record in 1955. Marshall was sixth with a 1-5 team.

Then came last year when Bowling Green won the laurels with a 5-0 mark with Miami a second place team with a 4-0 year.

In short, Miami has won the loop four times and finished second five times.

Excluding the 7-7 tie with OU in '53, the Redskins have won 20 straight MAC games, the last one being to UC in 1952.

With a four game streak in loop play, the Herd has upped its overall MAC mark to 10-16. The Big Green has never finished higher than its fourth place tie with OU last year.

It is a policy of the student government to put on the Student Union wall a picture of Big Green players who make the All-MAC teams in football, basketball and baseball.

Hanging on the wall of the Union are such Herd heroes as: Gridders Albie Maier, Len Hellyer and Bob McCollins; Cagers Walt Walowac, Charlie Slack and Cebe Price, and Baseballers Eddie Walowac and Milan Zban.

I don't know if anyone has noticed it or not, but there is one picture missing. That is the one of Donzil Hall, who made the All-MAC baseball team as the third baseman last spring.

The MAC baseball team was announced early in the summer and there has been ample time to get a picture of Hall on the wall. If we place one or two men on the all-conference grid team, say Herb Hess or Bob Wagner, I hope for their sake that they won't have to wait until next year to see their likeness on the wall.

Whoever is responsible for this failure or delay should take notice and give honor to a deserving redhead like Donzil Hall.

ROBE HAS SENDOFF

The Robe, mens' leadership honorary, will have a sendoff for the once-beaten Thundering Herd today at 12:30 when the team leaves leaves for Miami, according to Dick Mayberry, Huntington senior and vice-president of the group.

Rivlin Has More Than One Worry

By LOWELL CADE

"I really can't say how much we'll miss Jacobsen," said Coach Jule Rivlin, "because we had not had a chance to scrimmage."

That was Rivlin's answer to the question, "How much will this season's basketball team miss Herb Jacobsen?"

HERB JACOBSEN
Giant Departs

Jacobsen, the 6-9 sophomore basketball hopeful, dropped out of school Monday because of academic difficulties.

Rivlin was quoted in the downtown papers as having said, "The departure of Jacobsen was something I didn't expect, but his departure didn't affect the squad's attitude. This current squad has more spirit than last year's and, I might add, more desire."

Of course the absence of the tallest cage candidate in the school's history leaves the question as to who will start at center!

However, that is not the only question mark that Rivlin is facing. Another is, "When do we get to use Memorial Field House for practice?"

"It has been so long since I've seen inside the Field House," said Riv, "that I can't remember what it looks like."

Getting back to the problem of finding a center, the fight seems to lay between 6-6 junior Dick Hall and 6-4 sophomore Herm Conner.

Hall, who saw limited action last year, has been pressing hard for the open berth. Conner, although short on experience, is given an outside chance.

Riv quieted speculation that Hal Greer would be switched back to the pivot spot that he so ably handled last season. Greer has been operating at forward and there he will stay.

As to where the 1957-58 cagers are practicing, they are using the limited facilities of the school's gym.

No scrimmage sessions have been held thus far, and only 28 days remain on the schedule.

A little behind on its schedule, the team has been working on its plays and fundamental drills.

Rivlin cited sophomore John Milhoan and junior John Darrow as the two most surprising candidates on the team.

Harriers In MAC Meet Tomorrow

At 11 A.M. tomorrow, while the Thundering Herd is resting quietly before its all-important clash with the University of Miami, the Big Green harriers will be off and running against five other Mid-American Conference teams in the eleventh annual cross country meet.

Cross country coach Jule Rivlin named his seven-man team Wednesday. It includes: captain John Mayberry, Carl Hickey, Al Ferguson, Vernie Bolden, Bill Muth, Jerry Blake and Bill Reese.

This will be third year that the Green and White has been represented in the running and hopes of a better-than-last finish are seen.

Miami has won the last eight runnings of the meet and nine of the 10.

The average starting salary for teachers in West Virginia with an AB degree, according to college officials, is $2,800. In Michigan the salary is $4,100 to $4,200.

Tekes, Vets Advance In Grid Playoffs

By STRAT DOUTHAT

Two teams, TKE No. 1 and the Vet No. 2 have advanced to the quarter finals in the intramural football playoffs.

The Teke No. 1 team defeated the South Side Sissys 34-12 in a game that was decided in the first half. The Tekes led 20-0 at the end of two quarters of play and the Sissys never really threatened to make it a close game.

Dick Bunch, Jerry Pierson, and Dick Mayberry did the scoring in the first half, all receiving aeriels from Jim Harrick. Harry Myers lateraled to Mayberry for the latter's second score of the contest and Harrick passed to Sonny Allen as the winners outscored the Sissys 14-12 in the second half.

Larry Bowen sparked the losers with two TD passes in the last quarter. Ron Simonton and Bill McNeer hit paydirt for the losers.

In the final game of the afternoon the Vet No. 2 team upset the Sig Ep No. 2 team 12-6 in a closely contested match that resulted with the Vets winning in an overtime period.

Both teams failed to score in the first half. Bob Nelson hit his favorite receiver, Dick Mason, to put the Vets ahead. Their lead was short lived, however, as the Sig Eps came roaring back with John Roy taking an aerial from Mike James for the score. Neither team could push over another TD and the game ended in a scoreless tie.

Ed Hussien proved to be the hero as he caught a Nelson aerial in the end zone for the winning tally in the last play of the overtime period.

Joe Krulich and Alex Darbes, Ind., downed Bill Tweel and Don Hensley to take top honors in the ping pong doubles tourney. Krulich and Darbes won out over a field of 46 contestants who played 42 games in 25 matches.

The Pikes No. 2 team downed the Teke No. 1 squad to walk off with top honors in the intramural cageball tournament. The Pikes won over the SAE No. 2 team in an overtime contest to gain the finals and the Tekes beat the SPE No. 1 group.

The finals between the Pikes and the Tekes ended in an 8-8 deadlock, but the PKA's scored five times in the overtime

"I'm in a business nobody dreamed of three years ago"

"In a company that develops new ideas by the thousands," says 30-year-old William K. Cordier, manager of General Electric's Man-Made Diamond pilot plant, "a young man's career progress need not be limited by his particular field. In my five years with General Electric, I've gained valuable experience in several different fields, and each assignment has helped me to move ahead. Right now, I have an exciting job. I run the world's first diamond-making plant — a business nobody dreamed of three years ago."

Diamond Making a Reality

The job Bill Cordier holds is an important one, created because General Electric has the scientific and technical resources needed to seek out new knowledge and swiftly translate it into products that people want and need. In 1955, the company announced a major scientific breakthrough — the production of real diamonds in the laboratory. Today, little more than two years later, General Electric is making and selling quantities of these diamonds for civilian and defense use.

Achieving Three-Way Progress

General Electric's ability to take on and solve big problems — in research and development as well as every phase of production — is constantly creating challenging new opportunities for the 29,000 college graduates at the company. As we see it, by providing a healthy climate for a young man's self-development in whatever area he may choose, we encourage not only his own progress, but that of the company and the nation as well.

Educational Relations, General Electric Company, Schenectady 5, New York

WILLIAM K. CORDIER received his B.S. in Mechanical Engineering from Purdue University (1949). He joined General Electric's Metallurgical Products Department in 1952.

The Second Army Chorus will present a concert in the union Monday, November 11, according to Lt. Col. Tiller E. Carter, professor of military science and tactics. Admission will be free.

The chorus, consisting 30 voices and directed by Rinaldo Massimino, was organized in September 1956 after a seven-state talent search conducted by Headquarters Second Army.

The organization is part of a department of the army program in which each post, camp, station and major command will have and maintain a soldier chorus.

Second Army's soldier chorus includes seven first tenors, eight second tenors, eight baritones and seven bases in addition to its director and accompanist. Their repertoire includes patriotic, religious, novelty, classical, semi-classical and folk songs.

The group stepped off its first tour series in February 1957, appearing at military reservations and presenting choral concerts for civilian audiences. Members travel to performance sites by bus, carrying their own stage equipment.

Mr. Massimino was graduated from Indiana (Pa.) State Teachers College in 1951 with a Bachelor of Science degree in music education. For three years he taught music and supervised elementary and high school choruses.

During his military service, Massimino was arranger for the Fifth Infantry Band at Indian-town Gap Military Reservation, and musical director for soldier shows there. In 1954 he organized and directed the Second Army Glee Club at Fort Meade.

He has also served as choral director for the Annapolis chapter of SPBSQSA—the Society for the Preservation of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc.

Collegiate Press Rates Year Book 'Second Class'

The 1957 Chief Justice has been graded a second class yearbook by the All American Yearbook Critical Service of the Associated Collegiate Press. The service is operated in conjunction with the University of Minnesota.

The CJ was evaluated by judges of this service who checked the entire book. It was judged in a class of colleges of Marshall's rank and size.

There are four classifications ranging from All-American to fourth class. The '57 CJ lacked almost 400 points to attain a first class rating.

The only superior rating given the CJ was for the index, which is an illustration of how thorough the yearbooks are judged.

However the evaluation of the 1957 yearbook should not be compared with previous editions because this marks the first time in the book's history that it has been submitted for this criticism.
