Nancy Young Is Chosen Future Teacher Of Year

Nancy Morgan Young, Charleston junior, was named West Virginia's Future Teacher of the Year during the regional convention of the West Virginia Education Association in Charleston Week.

NANCY MORGAN YOUNG
Teacher With Future

Mrs. Young was chosen by the WVEA selection committee which consists of the president, executive secretary and the director of public service of the group. Nominations from each college of the state are sent to the committee to make the final decision.

The award is given each year to the person "who best symbolizes the best to be found in all the young people who are training to be teachers."

Mrs. Young is majoring in secondary education with library science and biology as her main fields. She is State President of the Future Teachers' Association and National President of the Student National Education Association. She is also a member of Alpha Beta Alpha, library science honorary, and Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority.

Campus Influenza Decreasing; Clinic Has New Vaccine Supply

The influenza and cold epidemic, along with its various fevers, sniffles, and coughs, is beginning to disappear from the campus, according to reports from all dormitories.

No flu victims are reported in freshman and Hodges dormitories this week although some students are still at home recovering from the illness. College and Laidley Halls show a large decrease as compared to the number of cases last week.

Both academic offices have reported a slackening in the excuses due to illness since last Wednesday.

Miss Mary Summers, clinic nurse, said Monday that the college clinic still has a large amount of the influenza vaccine on hand.

Nurse Summers added that a small amount of the first shipment of the serum was still available in addition to the 500 cc's which was received last Thursday. She went on to say that approximately 350 students took the influenza inoculation the day the serum first arrived and since that time the number has been steadily decreasing.

The clinic plans to give students a 1 cc shot until the serum supply drops to 100 cc's. After this point, one-tenth of a cc. will be given.

Ice Tickets Cut

Students will be able to buy tickets at half price for the matinee showing of "Holiday On Ice," on Saturday, November 9, at the Field House. The first show is scheduled for November 7.

These half-priced tickets may be purchased at the Star Furniture Company and at the Field House box office by showing ID cards.

The tickets will be good only for this one performance.

"Reluctant Debutante" Almost Ready

College Theatre Play Scheduled For Next Week

By JUDY O'DELL

Casts for the college theatre's production of William Douglas Hume's English drawing room comedy, "Reluctant Debutante," which opens November 12 and runs through the 15, have been announced by Clayton Page, associate professor of speech. Playing the male and female leads, Jimmy and Shelia Broadbent, all four nights will be Herbert Proffitt, Spencer junior and Faye Murray, Milton senior.

Opening on November 12 and playing the 14 are; Linda Gard-

Playing November 13 and on closing night, the 15, will be Kay Humphrey, Huntington senior, as Jane Broadbent; Carol Compton, Huntington senior, as Mabel Crosswaite; Joe Boradaille, Charleston senior, as David Bulloch; and Norman Keyser, Huntington freshman, as David Hoylake Johnston.

The play, "Reluctant Debutante," concerns the annual rat race of British mothers' attempts to out-manuever each other while trying to get the most eligible noblemen to escort their daughters to the various debutant functions.

Staging is under the direction of James A. McCubbin, assistant professor of speech.

Senate Orders Study Of Deferred Rushing

By KEITH RAY

A committee has been set up in the Student Senate to make a study of deferred rushing, according to Dave Kirk, Student Body president.

The committee appointed by Kirk was approved by the Student Senate Wednesday, October 23. It will begin an extensive study which will cover rushing methods in several colleges across the country.

President Kirk suggested the study to the various fraternities, sororities, and organizations during the first of October. The groups discussed the project and expressed their approval.

If a deferred rushing system were enacted, first semester freshmen would be ineligible to pledge a fraternity or sorority. The fraternal organizations would then depend on second semester freshmen and upperclassmen for their pledges for the first year.

Each organization that a deferred rushing plan might effect will have an opportunity to discuss it with the Deferred Rushing Committee.

The committee is composed of six representatives from six campus organizations. They are: IFC representatives, Jim Johnston, St. Marys senior, and John Corns, South Charleston senior. Pan-Hellenic representative: Roberta Chafin and Shirley Mitchell, Huntington seniors. ISA representatives, John Glover, Charleston senior; Kay Leach, South Charleston junior. Senate members, John Mayberry, Huntington senior; Bob Nixon, Huntington graduate; Mary McKinney, Grafton senator, junior; Ann Crockett, Huntington junior. Administration representative, Ed Zornes of the Comptroller's office, Dean Buskirk and Dean Willey. Executive Cabinet representatives, Hoyt Wheeler, Ravenswood junior and chairman of the committee. Faculty representatives, Mrs. T. W. Harvey, associate professor of English, Joseph J. Jablonski, professor of art, and James A. McCubbin, associate professor of speech.

Pep Pilgrimage Planned To Miami Football Game

By BOB FANNING

When the Big Green travels to Oxford, Ohio, Saturday to do battle with Miami's Redskins in a game that may decide the Mid-American Conference championship, six fraternities, along with individual members of the student body, will accompany the team for the big game.

Even Jiggs Wants To Go

(See Editorial on Page Two)

ARTIST VERN GREENE has Jiggs all enthused over his trip to Oxford where he will help boost the Big Green team in its contest with Miami University Saturday afternoon. Jiggs is one of many fans who plan the trip for the all-important game. (Courtesy of King Features Syndicate and Chicago Tribune.)

The Alumni Association of Sigma Alpha Epsilon has made plans to charter two buses, which will leave here early Saturday morning with approximately 80 men.

Pi Kappa Alpha is considering chartering a bus, and possibly two, for transportation to the game. Members of the group will travel in several cars, should they decide not to charter a bus.

Kappa Alpha will join the motor caravan with five cars, decorated with Confederate flags and crepe paper. Sigma Phi Epsilon, Lambda Chi Alpha, and Tau Kappa Epsilon will also send representatives to join the cheering section. All will travel by car.

Bob Morris, athletic director, said Monday that there was a limited supply of tickets available for the game, "first come, first served." All are reserved seat tickets, on sale for $3 apiece. There are approximately 70 tickets left, and they will be on sale until Friday at noon.

Morris said that 30 of the tickets are for reserved seats on the 35-yard line. The remaining tickets are for seats on about the 5-yard line.

The teams are presently tied for first place in the Conference, with four victories apiece over Mid-American Conference foes. Both have suffered defeats at the hands of non-conference teams, but are undefeated in conference play. Miami's Redskins will enter the game as slight favorites.

Should the Big Green upset the Redskins in Saturday's battle, it will bring home its first Mid-American Conference championship in football since Marshall entered the conference in 1953.

Rifle Enthusiasts Organize Club

A rifle and patrol club has been organized on campus to expand and coordinate the marksmanship program at the college, according to John P. Killoran, Lewisburg junior and newly elected president of the group.

The organization plans to become affiliated with the National Rifle Association which has over 4,000 senior clubs in the United States. The N.R.A. was founded in 1871 to foster marksmanship training and is now recognized by the United States Congress as an important element in national defense. It has also contributed much to the development of small arms training in the armed forces.

Membership in the rifle club is open to the entire student body. Meetings are held in the Engineering Building every Tuesday at 11 A.M.

Cole's Corner

Oxford, Anyone?

Gomflit sat alone under the table in his booth in the Union. He was in one of those rare moods of his when he feels that people are good for something, after all.

He was thinking of the people who planned to go to Oxford this weekend for the championship game of the Mid-American Conference football season. He was thinking that it was good that the people were finally going to pay off the debt they had gradually incurred throughout the last seven weeks.

"After all," he mused, "an undefeated team that can be the champ of its conference is rather rare here. Most of us were wearing diapers—with no buckles in the seats, nor vertical stripes—the last time Marshall had a football champion. That was in 1937 in the old Buckeye Conference."

"Now, we have a chance . . . to be champion of a conference which includes six other universities, besides our COLLEGE!"

Gomflit was now becoming very enthused. His left ear lobe twitched.

"Oh, boy, we can help. We can go to Miami. We can cheer the team on. M-A-R-S-H . . ."

Gomflit was now more enthused. Both ear lobes twitched.

"A-L-L, go, go, go—to Miami. Back the Marshall eleven in '57 and all that!" Gomflit was now losing control. His Adam's apple was doing a broken field run across his tonsils.

He poked his head from the darkness beneath the table. He rasped to people above, "Why don't we go to Miami, too? Let's all back the team," he chortled.

Why can't you catch the bug? You caught the flu, and a trip to Miami would be MUCH more fun—and less confining.

Tickets are on sale in the athletic department. Buses can be chartered. Oxford is only 170 miles away.

Cartoonists Feature Doodles And Drawings In An Unusual Convocation Appearance Here

By DICK McHENRY

A conversation resplendent with doodles, drawings, a history lecture and the awarding of a prize was featured Thursday, October 31 in the Old Main Auditorium.

Three nationally known cartoonists, Al Posen, Vernon Greene, and Michael Berry, making their first appearance together on a college campus, recreated their famous characters Sweeney and Sons, Maggie and Jiggs, and Berry's Babes for the audience.

In addition to demonstrating some stunts which have proved popular to audiences throughout the nation and to servicemen in Italy, Greece, Turkey, Japan, and Korea, the trio of artists provided a short history lecture on how the cartoon strips became what they are today.

Al Posen, the master of ceremonies for the program, introduced the other two members of his troupe with remarks such as: "Highest paid in the business. You would think he'd wear better clothes." (Speaking of Vernon Greene) "Looks like a cross between an international spy and a head waiter." (Concerning the mustached Michael Berry).

R. Wayne Hugoboom, associate professor of music, as he provided the organ music during the affair, was asked by MC Posen to play "Way down upon the Sweeney River" while his famed character Sweeney was drawn using the figures 1-2-3.

Lenora Greenlee, Huntington senior, volunteered later on in the drawing fest to serve as the model for a contest between artists Greene and Berry. After Posen had called for two gentlemen to assist the competing duo in producing the better sketch, Norman Haddad, Beckley senior and Jim Forbes, Huntington sophomore rapidly ascended the stage. After the audience had applauded Vernon Greene's drawing as being the "winner," which did not resemble the model in any way, his assistant Forbes was awarded the prize, which was a well-placed kiss from the model.

Another highlight of the program was Vernon Greene's lecture on the history of cartooning. From this session, this reporter retained the facts that Jimmie Swinerton's "Little Bears and Tigers" was the first published cartoon and that this preceded the "Yellow Kid," which was the first cartoon in color. This year, 1957, is also the fiftieth anniversary of comic strips.

After returning to New York, the three artists will appear next in Terre Haute, Indiana.

Dyed Hair Earns Croix de Gomflit

By JIM JONES

On February 4, 1939, the Croix de Gomflit, the college's highest award for bravery, was presented, posthumously, to Marvin Sludkins, a freshman from Pestilence, W. Va.

Young Sludkins, in an effort to show his devotion, had dyed his hair green and white. Unfortunately, young Sludkins was shot on the same day by a color-blind coon hunter.

The hunter, who by some strange coincidence happened to be Marvin's father, maintained that it was a fair kill, inasmuch as Marv possessed the characteristics of a coon. A court decision, however, ruled that, since the Marshall campus was a legal game preserve, the elder Sludkins was at fault. He was given a severe tongue-lashing.

Marvin's body was taken back to the taxidermist's shop, where it had been sent to be mounted, and presented to the zoology department.

There are 148 steps in Hodges Hall, men's dorm.

CAMPUS BRIEFS

KDC MEETS TOMORROW

Kappa Delta Chi, religious honorary, will meet tomorrow at 8 P.M. in the Science Hall auditorium. The program will consist of a question period on "What is a Baptist?" The Rev. Liston O. Mills, assistant pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, will be the speaker. Non-members may attend the program.

SPANISH CLUB MEETS

The Spanish Club will meet tomorrow at 7:30 P.M. in the Honor Council room. Several guests who are natives of or have visited Mexico will answer questions from members concerning Mexico.

DEBATE SQUAD MEETING

George E. Munn, associate professor of economics, will talk to the debate squad tomorrow at 11 A.M. in Old Main 211, concerning the "right to work laws," announced Ben W. Hope, associate professor of speech and debate squad coach.

WAC Officer Cites Need For Recruits

"WAC officers are badly needed and the Women's Army Corps offers excellent opportunities to those young women who can qualify," explained Captain Nancy B. Wood, assistant deputy for WAC officer appointment, in a recent visit to the campus.

Captain Wood, who is stationed at 2nd Army Headquarters at Fort Mead, Maryland, explained that the three main qualifications are age, educational requirements, and physical fitness. A women must be between 20 and 27 years of age to qualify for a Second Lieutenant position and must be from 28 to 33 in order to secure the rank of First Lieutenant. Four years of college training are necessary for acceptance into the corps.

Captain Wood said that if any student was interested in the WAC procurement program, she may acquire further information by contacting Lt. Col. T. E. Carter of the ROTC or WAC Captain Regina Honack in Ashland.

SIGMA DELTA PI

Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish honorary society, will meet tomorrow in M216 at 11 A.M., to elect new members. They will also discuss plans for the annual banquet.

Herd Bubble Burst By Xavier 18-0

Passing Game With Help Of Refs Deciding Factor

By SAM STANLEY

A wide open attack, a hard charging line and the judgment of the officials handed the Thundering Herd its first defeat of the season, 18-0, at the hands of Xavier University.

The Musketeers, fired up by a homecoming crowd of 7,000, completely dominated the game and had the ball in Big Green territory throughout the affair.

Thus the Herd grid bubble was burst as was a string of six victories, but still very much alive is the chance of Herb Royer's eleven grabbing a Mid-American Conference football championship as Xavier is not in the MAC.

The Herd is still on top of the MAC with a 4-0 mark along with Miami who dealt defending champs Bowling Green a 13-7 blow.

The Muskies moved the ball with ease all through the game and went to the air successfully on crucial plays. In fact, almost every time the Herd defense seemed to have Xavier in a hole, quarterback Jerry Casper would come through with an aerial dart that would send the Muskies on their way again.

Casper completed seven of 12 passes and of the five that were incomplete, three of them came in the first period and these three were almost perfect passes which were dropped by the receivers.

One thing which helped Casper and his throwing game was the perfect protection he had. Casper "ate" the ball only once and on all other occasions the Musketeer line gave their quarterback all the time he needed.

This was just the opposite on the Big Green side. Herd quarterbacks Bob Wagner and Jim Maddox were rushed so hard that they had to hurry most of the passes.

The long passing game which the Herd has used so much this season was stalled because the passers were smothered before the receivers had a chance to outdistance the defenders.

The judgment or refusal to judge on the part of the officials paved the way for two Xavier scores and kept the Big Green from paydirt on one occasion.

The first Xavier drive was successful because of pass interference. The Herd defender actually hit the ball but the refs ruled that the Xavier receiver's sight was hindered by the waving arms of the Big Green defensive man. The pass was ruled complete and it gave the Muskies a 37-yard gain to the Marshall 35. A little later Xavier had its first touchdown on a fourth down pass. End Bob Young jumped high in the air to snag the two-yard touchdown pass from Casper.

The officials then "missed" what looked like interference on Xavier as the Big Green tried to move after the Muskies' first score.

Ray Dunlap, in reaching for a beautifully thrown pass from Wagner inside the Xavier five, was hit by a trio of Muskies defenders before he could try making a catch. No ruling was made.

The referees then came into the spotlight again when Xavier scored its second touchdown. Casper hit his end Dan Boyle on the far edge of the end zone and the official covering the play ruled that Boyle was outside of the end zone when he finally gained possession of the ball and disallowed the score. But the official, who was standing 30 yards up the field, overruled the decision and handed Xavier a touchdown.

So Xavier left at half time, thanking the official for a 12-0 lead.

The Big Green did have one chance to score in the first part of the initial quarter and they have no one to blame but themselves. End Donzil Hall took a Maddox thrown pass and wiggled his way into the open but was mowed down by a teammate trying to throw a final block. All-in-all, the play covered 43 yards and accounted for all of the Herd's passing yardage in the contest.

The Muskies' final score came on a 68 yard march with Casper going the last six yards. All three of the Xavier attempts for extra points were mide.

Xavier, in evening its record at 4-4, completely dominated the statistics. They had 19 first downs to the Herd's seven and the Herd was outgained on the ground, 181 yards to 81, and in the air, 163 to 43.

The Big Green completed one of seven passes while the Musketeers hit on 10 of 21. Fumbles also hurt the big Green as we lost the ball on fumbles three times in the first period and once more in the last half.

MAC Roundup

Battle For Conference Crown Down To Two--Herd, Redskins

By LOWELL CADE

One down and two to go.

Miami turned the tables on Bowling Green on the losers' home turf and moved into a tie with Coach Herb Royer's Thundering Herd for the leadership of the Mid-American Conference standings.

Thus, with Bowling Green's defeat, the field in the running for the loop championship was reduced from three to two--the Herd and Miami.

In other conference action, Ohio U. notched its first MAC win of the season by dumping Western Michigan, 20-7, and Toledo surprised the slipping Kent State eleven, 21-7.

A fourth quarter touchdown and a goal line stand were the big factors that gave the Redskins their fourth victory of the season against no defeats.

The Redskins climaxed a 75-yard drive to score the game-winning touchdown with Hal Williams going over from the one. The first Miami score also come as the end result of a 75-yard thrust in the second period. Sophomore halfback Bill Miller carried over for the first TD from five yards out.

The king-pin of the winning TD was all-conference fullback Dave Thelen. He carried for 52 of the 75 yards on the drive

Following the kickoff BG took the ball on its own 30 with quarterback Bill Lyons, who replaced the injured Don Nehlen, directing the attack.

With the trio of Vic DeOrio, Sturser Russell and Floyd Lennox carrying the mail, the Falcons drove to the Miami two-yard line.

On a fourth, and two situation for the TD, Miami's Mack Yoho spilled Russell on the one and the drive was stopped.

Ohio U. struck early and late to hand Western Michigan its fourth MAC loss in five outings. The Broncos have a tie with Bowling Green to their credit.

The Bobcats built up a 13-0 lead in the first two periods before Western Michigan managed to score. OU iced the game in the final stanza with a third touchdown.

Larry Buckles capped the first period 47-yard drive with a one-yard plunge and Dave Keuhzli went over from the four early in the second period. The final 'Cat tally came on a 15-yard pass from Charles Stobart to Paul Gallagher.

Toledo wound up its conference season with a come-from-behind victory.

Kent held the Rockets to a 7-7 drawn in the first half but the passing of Sam Tisci strengthened as the game progressed and he pitched for two third period touchdowns plus his first quarter toss.

Gene Cook was on the receiving end of two of Tisci's pitches. The first was a 20-yard pass and a 42-yard run. Kent knotted the score at 7-7 in the second period when Al Jackson went over from the two to climax a 55-yard Golden Flash drive.

Then in the third period Tisci caught Cook in the end zone for the second time and Roy Hodge for the other.

Teke Dethrone Fairmont Wins Sig Eps In IFC Battle, 12-7

Tau Kappa Epsilon's No. 1 team defeated the defending champion Sig Ep team 12-7 to win the Inter-Fraternity Council football championship last Wednesday. The Tekes with a 5-0 record finished ahead of the second place Sig Eps, who had a 5-1 slate.

The Tekes' defensive unit was the big difference. The Sig Eps were within the Teke 20-yard line several times but the defensive team of the Tekes held fast. The Tekes led 6-0 at the half with Barry Myers scoring on a pass from Jim Harrick.

Harrick hit Dick Mayberry for the Tekes' deciding score in the opening moments of the second half to put the champs ahead 12-0.

The Sig Eps then rallied with Neil Doaks hitting Ivan Mielke in the end zone and Bunny Naum throwing to Tim Delbrugge for the point after. The Tekes' defensive team tightened up and the game ended with the Tekes winning, 12-7.

There were two forfeits last week: The TKE No. 2 team won over the VM No. 2, 9-0, and the Pike No. 2 team beat the Fumblers, 9-0.

The cross country meet will be held today at 3 P.M. at Fairfield Stadium.

The finals and semi-finals will be played tonight in the cageball tourney. Two Sig Ep teams, a Teke, SAE, and a Pike squad will be in the playoffs.

James Freeman, KA, won the placekicking accuracy contest with a perfect score of 45. Second was Barry Myers, TKE, 41, and third, Jim Conard, SAE, 40.
