When Flu Shots Arrive: First Come, First Served

Asian flu vaccine shots, recently ordered by the college, will be given to students on a first-come, first-served basis in the College Clinic, according to a statement made by President Stewart H. Smith Monday.

Dr. Charles H. Hagan, college physician, has stated that "Experience with this infection leads us to believe that 20 to 40 per cent of the population of Huntington and the campus will be infected with this disease. We cannot predict when this will occur but it is expected with the coming of cold weather."

Dr. Hagan went on to say that "the vaccine has been ordered but according to reports from the manufacturer, the quota for West Virginia has been exhausted and until new quantities can be made, it will not be available to the college."

The vaccine is free. Two thousand shots of the vaccine have been ordered by the clinic for inoculating the student body against any widespread outbreak of the flu on campus.

In view of this, President Smith announced that the administration is aware of the possibility of such an epidemic and are considering possible means of coping with it.

A complication that could arise would be the problem of isolating flu victims. Since we have no campus hospital, special provisions would have to be made for these victims.

If the epidemic becomes severe here as it has on other campuses, mass gatherings such as athletic contests, Artist Series, and classes may be stopped.

The vaccine has proven to be

Baseball Player Reynolds Injures Leg In Car Accident

By LOWELL CADE

Hugh Reynolds, East Bank sophomore, was admitted to the Cabell-Huntington Hospital Sunday evening following complications that resulted from his being struck by an automobile Saturday evening.

Reports says that Reynolds was hit by an unidentified car on Fifth Avenue near Twentieth Street at 7:20 P.M.

He was taken to the Cabell-Huntington Hospital, where he was checked for broken bones and was released after tests showed only bruises.

However, Mrs. Delmer Romine, owner of the house at 1702 Sixth Avenue where Reynolds makes his college residence, said that his right hip began to swell late Saturday and when it became worse, Reynolds was again taken to the Cabell-Huntington Hospital.

Mrs. Romine added that Reynolds was being treated for a blood clot on his hip and that hospital officials have called in a specialist to decide whether or not an operation will be necessary.

Reynolds came here last fall on a football scholarship but gave up football to play baseball.

Baseball coach Bill Chambers said, "I am banking on him (Reynolds) to be one of my starters this coming spring."

Reynolds spent his summer playing baseball and working for International Nickel Company. Following a successful season with Inco, he was offered contracts by several professional baseball teams but elected to return here this fall.

New Tone Planned For Homecoming

By BOB ROGERS

The addition of a Queen's float, more trophies, and a special newspaper will spirit Homecoming festivities for 1957, according to Charles Kesmodel, Charleston senior and Homecoming chairman.

Adopted by the Homecoming committee this year, construction of the Queen's float, on which Miss Marshall will ride to the stadium, will be awarded to the organization holding the float trophy of the previous year. This year's float will be constructed by Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

The organization building the Queen's float will automatically be excluded from competition during that year, thus assuring well rounded opportunities for all organizations.

Distribution of trophies has been increased this year. Also, the trophies will be standardized in size.

For the first time, trophies will be presented to each class queen, in addition to Miss Marshall, the winners of first and second places in men's and women's competition and the builder of the Queen's float.

Four editions of the "Homecoming News" will be distributed to the student body beginning next week. The paper is to provide students with information concerning Homecoming, and to bring the significance of the season closer to the student body. The paper will be published by the Homecoming commission.

Members of the commission include, besides Kesmodel: Betty Bick, Huntington sophomore, in charge of queens; Patricia Cooper, Huntington senior, publicity; Martha Dudley, Huntington sophomore, questions and judge; Roselyn Harman, Huntington sophomore, secretary; Jim Johnston, St. Mary's senior, and Charles Turner, Huntington junior, parade marshals; Sam King, Wayne senior, Field House and decorations, and Glenn Ryburn, Northfork senior, ticket chairman.

New rules governing house decorations and floats have been adopted this year. They include:

1. Costs of materials will be limited to $100 per organization. Itemized accounts of purchases and expenditures must be presented to the parade marshal at the beginning of the parade.

2. Construction sites for floats must be made known to the parade marshal no later than 12 noon Wednesday, October 16.

3. Starting date for the construction of float or house decorations is 12 noon Saturday, October 19, or after. Prior to (Continued on Page Two)

Scholastic Groups Plan Tutoring

By TOM MILLER

Tutoring services for freshmen at Marshall College are being planned by the joint efforts of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's honorary fraternity, and Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary, for the 1957-1958 school year.

The primary aim of these two honor groups is to raise the freshmen scholastic level of the college by cutting down the number of failures, thus helping to prevent the discouragement of students who might leave school due to scholastic difficulties.

A fee of $1.00 per hour will be charged to insure that only those who are serious about wanting help will apply. Twenty-five cents will go to Phi Eta Sigma or Alpha Lambda Delta and the remaining seventy-five cents will go to the tutor for his service.

Only members of Phi Eta Sigma and Alpha Lambda Delta will tutor unless the demand requires qualified students. No tutor will be asked to tutor in a subject in which he is not qualified by previous membership in the same class and no tutor will be asked to tutor in a subject he does not want to instruct, even if he has taken the class before.

Students will have two means of obtaining a tutor. Through the cooperation of the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women's offices the student will receive an application slip, which, when filled out, will be deposited in the Phi Eta Sigma box in the Dean of Men's office.

A list containing classes tutored, tutors, and where they may be contacted will be placed in the Dean of Men's office, the Dean of Women's office, the Student Union, and other convenient places. The student can directly contact the appropriate tutor.

Tutoring will be done in vacant classrooms at the college at a time suitable to the tutor and the student. Due to the limited size of the two organizations, the number of subjects in which they will tutor will be limited to the principal sources of trouble classes, such as mathematics, English, languages, the sciences, and business.

In stating their policy, the leaders of the group had this to say, "We realize that in order for us to get the cooperation of the faculty and to be ethical, we must not become a means of buying information concerning previous tests by various teachers or even the tests themselves. We will not sell or give information to the student who comes to us since this would give him an advantage over other students.

"We will promise to endeavor to see as much as possible that the student covers and understands the material assigned to the best of his and our ability."

Gomflits Are Born

(See Cartoon on Page 1, Cols. 3-4)

A new organization is on campus. It was conceived recently in the dark, dank catacombs of the library basement by a union of Campus Need and Conscience. The name of this new organization is the Gomflits.

The nature of the Gomflits is vague. They can, at times, be social (or anti-social), political, honorary, observing, or just there. Most of the time they will be involved in campus activities, however, as they are campus-minded. The Gomflits don't claim to be the first of their breed, as similar groups may at this time be annoying people on other campuses across the nation.

The Gomflits first came to our attention when some of them dropped into our office and commented at length on their impressions of Saturday night's "spirited" cheering at the football game.

They were most complimentary in speaking of the Greenbackers' fine opening appearance. They were especially impressed by the direction of the card section, as handled by Messrs. Al Earls, Bob Nixon, and Murrill Ralston, who directed well each motion of the section.

They were even more enthused over the wonderful play-by-play cheering direction the cheerleaders used to instruct the crowd on the progress of the game. At first it confused the unoriented Gomflits, but they caught on that Marshall crowds just don't understand the game well enough to cheer of their own enlightenment when a neat play is pulled off or when an injured griddler walks off the field under his own strength.

So, the Gomflits soon appreciated the cheerleaders' directing the crowd's reaction to each play. And when they were told over the loudspeaker, "That was a first down, now you must cheer," or "Now they are coming out of the huddle, let us cheer to inspire them on to greater endeavors"—they responded accordingly.

In fact, one of the Gomflits even recorded some of the cheers so they could be played back Saturday night at the Morehead game, and thus save the apathetic crowd the added burden of having to follow the directions of the overworked pepsters.

An Open Letter

Band Asks Aid

To the Student Body:

Everyone would like to see a one-hundred-piece marching band, but it seems very few want to do anything about it. The responsibility doesn't belong to the music department alone, although all instrumental majors are members. The responsibility belongs to everyone on campus who plays an instrument, and to those who don't play, to encourage those who can to join the band.

The largest complaint or reason to stay out of the band is that we work too hard. Of course we work hard. Did you ever see good results without hard work? The football team that beat State Saturday night would hardly be a football team without hours and hours of hard work. Examples are too numerous to list.

I believe everyone who saw the band Saturday will agree the band sounded and looked fine, but it was a wee bit too small. So come and help us grow and enjoy doing this hard, hard work everyone one is talking about.

Band President

In the Friday issue of the Parthenon, Alpha Sigma Tau sorority was not mentioned in the list of first parties. This party will be tonight from 7 to 9:30 P.M.

Specifications for float sizes include: maximum height, 12 feet, 6 inches; maximum width, 12 feet, 6 inches.
No float may exceed the length of one semi-tractor trailer.
Themes for floats and house decorations will be decided in meetings Tuesday, October 1, in Main 114 at 3 and 4 P.M., respectively. The order in which organizations appear in the parade will be exactly in reverse to the order in which they presented their ideas for decorations in the meeting, which will eliminate disputes pertaining to the parade order.

In a conference Monday with Mayor Frankel and Police Force Captain Duff, Kesmodel, Johnson, and Dean of Men Harold Willey concluded upon the parade route as follows:

At 11:30 A.M. the parade will begin moving from the Sixteenth Street entrance to the campus, westward on Fourth Avenue to Eighth Street, south from Fourth Avenue to Tenth Avenue, east on Tenth Avenue to Twelfth Street, south on Twelfth Street to Charleston Avenue, and east on Charleston Avenue to the Stadium.

Greenbackers' Show Result Of Planning, Practice

Card Section In Colorful Performance At Game

By GAIL TABOR

An idea which originated last spring became a reality Saturday night when approximately 400 members of the Marshall "Greenbackers" gave their initial performance before an almost capacity crowd at Fairfield Stadium.

The card-section, which was co-ordinated on campus by Alan Earls, Huntington senior, completed stunts at half-time and between quarters.

These stunts were the result of several months of hard work and planning to make their first showing a success. Actual work on the card-section began last spring when committees were formed and money was appropriated by the Student Senate to buy cards which are necessary for the execution of the stunts. The cards, which are 14"x14", are multi-colored and approximately 40 stunts have been completed so far, including both moving and stationary designs.

Work is now being done to perfect a pattern to accompany the fight song, "Sons of Marshall," with a different pattern for each stanza.

Bob Nixon, Huntington senior and member of the Greenbackers Committee, gave the purposes of the card-section as "to stir up enthusiasm and to cut down the fashion parade, since on one feels like yelling if they're all dressed up."

The Greenbackers section, which sits on the fifty-yard line, will perform five minutes before game time and at the half. Although there are four more home games, the group will have no more practices since the stunts are not difficult to execute. According to Nixon, the only difficult parts are the designing and arranging which are done by the committees.

The ease of the actual performing of stunts makes it possible to sit with members of the section.

INCO Increases Scholarship Aid To Students

The International Nickel Company has increased its scholarship fund for certain students in surrounding counties from $1,000 to $2,000 for 1957-1958, President Stewart H. Smith announced today.

Known as the Huntington Works of the International Nickel Co. Science and Engineering Scholarships, the awards are made to students majoring in mathematics, chemistry, physics or engineering, and students planning to teach these technical subjects in high school or college.

The scholarships, established in 1956, range in value each semester from $100 to $250. The increased grant enables the college to award five more scholarships this year.

Students receiving the grants must be legal residents of Cabell, Lincoln, Mason, Putnam, or Wayne counties in West Virginia. No applicant, who is otherwise acceptable, however, is denied a scholarship on the basis of legal residence if he or she is an employee or a dependent of an employee of the Huntington Works.

The company intends to continue the scholarship from year to year. A recipient will be in line for renewal of a scholarship each year until completion of a Marshall undergraduate program, provided he or she adheres to the required standard.

In order to receive and keep one of the scholarships, a student must demonstrate good scholarship and good moral character. He or she must have need for financial assistance in pursuing a college program.

All recipients are selected by the student aid executive committee in consultation with college department heads.

Equal consideration is given in making the awards to students majoring in mathematics, chemistry, physics or engineering and to students studying to become high school or college teachers of mathematics, chemistry or physics.

Objectives of the scholarships established by International Nickel's Huntington division are to help alleviate the serious shortage of trained technical personnel in this area, including teachers needed to teach technical subjects properly in high school and college and to help Marshall in its efforts to build up its science and engineering departments.

German Club Fetes Tenth Anniversary

The German Club, celebrating its tenth anniversary, will hold its initial meeting of the year tomorrow, in the Honor Society Room, South East wing of Old Main, at 7:30 P.M.

The German Club, founded in 1947, invites every present and former student of German to enroll in its membership. The Club is dedicated to the promotion of knowledge and information about the German speaking countries in Europe.

It shows films, slides, plays original recordings of German classical and folk music, teaches folk dances and arranges stimulating discussions and lectures about life in Germany, with the support of veterans and foreign visitors

The Club life culminates each year in a large Christmas party in German style. The annual dues are $1 for the academic year.

Dr. Walter H. Pearl, associate professor of German, is faculty advisor.

THE MIXTURE AS BEFORE

Today begins my fourth year of writing this column and, as before, I will continue to explore the issues that grip the keen young mind of campus America—burning questions like "Should housemothers be forced to retire at 28?" and "Should pajamas and robes be allowed at first-hour classes?" and "Should proctors be armed?" and "Should picnicking be permitted in the stacks?" and "Should teachers above the rank of associate professor be empowered to perform marriages?" and "Should capital punishment for pledges be abolished?"

Philip Morris Incorporated sponsors this column. Philip Morris Incorporated makes Philip Morris cigarettes. They also make Marlboro cigarettes. Marlboro is what I am going to talk to you about this year.

Before beginning the current series of columns, I made an exhaustive study of Marlboro advertising. This took almost four minutes. The Marlboro people don't waste words. They give it to you fast: "You get a lot to like in a Marlboro . . . Filter . . . Flavor . . . Flip-top Box."

Well, sir, at first this approach seemed to me a little terse, a bit naked. Perhaps, thought I, I should drape it with a veil of violet prose, adorn it with a mantle of fluffy adjectives, dangle some participles from the ears . . . But then I thought, what for? Doesn't that tell the whole Marlboro story? . . . Filter . . . Flavor . . . Flip-top Box.

Marlboro tastes great. The filter works. So does the box. What else do you need to know?

So, with the Marlboro story quickly told, let us turn immediately to the chief problem of undergraduate life—the money problem. This has always been a vexing dilemma, even in my own college days. I recall, for example, a classmate named Oliver Hazard Sigafos, a great strapping fellow standing 14 hands high, who fell in love with a beautiful Theta named Nikki Spillane, with hair like beaten gold and eyeballs like two table-spoons of forgetfulness.

Every night Oliver Hazard would take Nikki out to dine and dance, and then to dine again, for dancing made Nikki ravenous. Then they would go riding in the swan boats, and then Nikki, her appetite sharpened by the sea air, would have 8 or 10 cutlets, and then Oliver Hazard would take her home, stopping on the way to buy her a pail of oysters or two.

To raise money for these enchanted evenings, Oliver Hazard took on a number of part-time jobs. Between classes he cut hair. After school he gutted perches. From dusk to midnight he vulcanized medicine balls. From midnight to dawn he trapped night crawlers.

This crowded schedule took, alas, a heavy toll from Oliver Hazard. In the space of a month he dwindled from 260 to 104 pounds—but that, curiously enough, proved his salvation.

Today Oliver Hazard is a jockey, earning a handsome living which, combined with what he makes as a lymph donor after hours, is quite sufficient to curb Nikki's girlish appetite. Today they are married and live in Upper Marlboro, Maryland, with their two daughters, Filter and Flavor, and their son, Flip-top Box.

The makers of Marlboro take pleasure in bringing you this free-wheeling, uncensored column every week during the school year . . . And speaking of pleasure, have you tried a Marlboro?

Gripes are being heard on the campus concerning the lack of parking area for students' cars. This situation has long been a thorn in the side for students who must drive to get to classes. The police force is to be commended for being so alert and prompt in handing out tickets. However, many of our classmates who live on a budget will have to do without lunch in order to pay their fees to the law.

Rumor has it that the student body will be on an honor system this year. Some spirited souls will contend that we've always had an honor system. This may be true. But if the rumor becomes a fact, I expect to have returned to me one black hat, one brown shoe, a black purse containing dirty Kleenex and burnt matches, and one tranquilizer pill. The latter was a gift from a well-meaning friend and was snatched before I had a chance to get "all shook up" enough to use it.

Latest dance sweeping the country is the "Chalpsa," a combination of the cha-cha and the calypso. And this comes before I've mastered the "Chicken" and the "Fish." Wonder what the next set of gyrations will be called? Best suggestion sent in gets the tranquilizer pill—if it's returned. You'll need it.

Hechler's Book To Be Released In November

By BOB LYNN

Recent associate professor of political science at Marshall College, Dr. Ken Hechler, has added to his literary accomplishments the first complete authoritative book about the historical crossing of the bridge at Remagen during World War II.

"The Bridge at Remagen," to be released November 15, is an account of American soldiers spearheading the final surge to Berlin in 1945 by capturing the mysteriously undestroyed bridge across the Rhine River.

Hechler, a combat historical who was there to interview the first men over, presents the reasons why the Germans failed to blow up the bridge and what happened to the American troops who captured it.

General Matthew B. Ridgeway said, after reading Hechler's book, "In war, time and timing are of vital importance. Nowhere is this better illustrated than in the epic of Remagen. Ken Hechler has produced an account of deep and lasting human interest, a gripping portrayal of the reactions of seasoned soldiers in decisive moments of combat. It is an absorbing story, backed by extensive research, and should prove to be a great contribution to military history."

The first man across Remagen Bridge, Sergeant Alex Drabik read the book and said 'Hechler tells it as it happened. People will understand exactly what it was like and how we felt going across that bridge. Maybe they'll understand the value of time, and what it means not to have time enough to be scared'."

Hechler in one semester of teaching at Marshall captured the imagination of the entire student body with his originality and personality. Impressed by the city of Huntington and its people, Hechler recently told Dr. Conley H. Dillon, head of the political science department, (in New York City), that he planned to return to Huntington soon and establish residence.

ROY GOINES, who broke loose for a 37-yard touchdown in Saturday night's opener with State, here picks up about 10 yards. Coach Herb Royer was pleased with Goines' performance Saturday night and it earned him a spot on the first eleven.

Herd Settles For Seven Point Margin In Opener With State

By SAM STANLEY

As the Thundering Herd eleven left the field last Saturday night you would have thought they had won a championship of some kind, not just a 14-7 victory over West Virginia State.

The Herd, which went into its opening contest a two or three touchdown favorite, settled with this slim margin of victory which almost turned out to be a losing cause.

Only a break in the late stages of the game put the inspired Yellow Jackets down to defeat.

The crowd of 8,000 saw the Herd outdo State in everything but spirit and until Roy Goines' final touchdown run of 37 yards, the fans had a disappointing evening.

Goines' winning six-pointer came on the next play after State quarterback Jermer Burney

Thirty Gridders On Frosh Squad

(See roster in columns 4 and 5)

The 1957 edition of the Little Green freshman football team will not make its first appearance until late October, but already the first year gridders are well into their third week of practice.

Freshman Coach Bill Chambers expressed that the Frosh are "very busy now helping the varsity out" by running offensive and defensive formations against Coach Herb Royer's upperclassmen.

A squad of 30 makes up the present frosh squad and 28 of these are West Virginians. The two others on the team hail from Marion, Virginia.

Ronald "Tags" Meredith is probably the player to watch as a freshman. "Tags" was the outstanding performer on St. Albans' state championship team of 1955 and was named the top high school player in the state that year. Last year Meredith went to a prep school and he picked this college to complete his education. Meredith weighs 150 pounds and plays quarterback.

Mural Grid Season Well On Its Way

By STRAT DOUTHAT

The Intramural Touch Football League got off to a good start Monday and Tuesday with eight teams getting in on the two first days of action.

Action continues today at 3:15 P.M. with the SAE No. 2 squad going against the Fumblers and the PKA No. 2 grid-ders meeting the TKE No. 2 team at 4:15 P.M.

Tomorrow's first contest finds the SAE No. 2 team in action again against the Vets No. 2 in the first game, and at 4:14 P.M. the Pikes No. 2 go against the Tekes No. 2.

No action is slated for Friday. According to "Swede" Gullickson, he has organized the largest intramural program in the country. During the '56-'57 term 109 different events were staged on the campus, with over 3,000 contests taking place.

Other sports offered besides football are: tennis, horseshoes, croquet, volleyball, cageball, aerial darts, speedball, and soccer.

Getting back to football, "Swede" also has kicking, place-kicking, passing for distance, dropkicking, and passing for accuracy.

For those who are more interested in indoor sports, there is a large variety including: checkers, ping pong, billiards, carom, straight pool, pinochle, cribbage, and cross country.

This is the fall schedule for intramural activities.

The defending champion in the football league is the VM No. 1. They defeated the SPE No. 1 for the championship last fall.

failed to pick up a first down running out of a punt formation.

End Donzil Hall suffered the only injury by a Big Green player. Hall was carried off the field with a kidney injury and he has been listed by coach Herb Royer as a doubtful starter in Saturday night's game with Morehead.

Regular first string end Olin Jones, who missed the State game with a bad leg, will be back to fill in for Hall against the Eagles.

Parking Permits Now Available

By PAUL THOMAS

Effective last Monday, students will be allowed to park on the Student Chapel lot by permit only.

Students desiring a permit may contact Warren Reeser, 409 11th Avenue, Huntington, between 5:30 and 7:30 P.M., or call JA 3-6912 between these hours. Permits will also be issued at the parking lot, located at Fifth Avenue and Seventeenth Street, between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30 A.M.

Students parking on the lot without a permit will have their names turned in to the dean of men for necessary action. A second offense will result in a $5 fine.

Parking permits will be issued for $6 a semester and the students will be allowed to park all day. However, there will be no parking on rainy days or when the lot is muddy. This is one reason for the low parking fee.

The parking lot will accommodate approximately 40 cars and all the money collected will be turned in to the Student Chapel Fund.

Marine Officer Plans Visit For Applicants

Captain D. J. Hunter, marine procurement officer from Pittsburgh, will be on campus Monday and Tuesday, September 30-October 1, to interview and accept applications from undergraduates interested in the Marine Corps Officer Training Programs.

The two officer candidate programs open to college undergraduates and recent graduates are the Platoon Leaders Class and the Officer Candidate Course.

As far as statistics went the Green and White were by far the better ball club. They had 23 first downs to State's eleven, and outgained State on the ground, 391 yards to 67. The Jackets had the better passing game as they completed six of 15 passes for 85 yards while the Herd failed all nine times they took to the air.

Royer stated after the game that his team's strongest point was its ground game and its weakest was its passing offense. He backed up his pass defense by saying, "We let them complete the short ones but we kept them from throwing the long ones."

Goines was by far the best Marshall performer on the field. Besides his winning touchdown run he carried the ball on 14 occasions and picked up an overall total of 112 yards for a 7.4 average. Fullback Sonny Sirianni, who also put on a sparkling performance, picked up 74 yards in 11 tries for an average of 6.7

Ramon Dunlap, who capped Marshall's first scoring drive with a 1-yard plunge, averaged five yards per try with 69 yards in 14 attempts.

Big Jim O'Conner booted both extra points for the Herd.

State's only score came in the second period and was set up when they recovered a Marshall fumble on the Big Gren's 23
