State Is Foe In Herd Opener Tomorrow

COACH HERB ROYER

Turn to Pages 5, 6, and 7 for Football Season Pictures

By SAM STANLEY

Football will be ushered in on the campus scene tomorrow night at Fairfield Stadium as the Thundering Herd hosts the Yellow Jackets of West Virginia State.

Game time is 8 P.M.

For the first time since Herb Royer became coach five years ago, the Big Green can field two units of similar caliber. Royer is set on his first unit and the second eleven is certain except in three backfield spots.

The only injury to a front line man is the shoulder separation of end Olen Jones. Jones, a 190-pound junior letterman, is expected to be ready for next Saturday's game with Morehead. Ramon Dunlap has been bothered with a bad knee, but Royer is confident the speedy halfback will be ready for the opener.

The bevy of Morris Harvey transfers seems to have given the Herd the depth they have been lacking in past years, and three of these newcomers have landed spots on the first two units. These are tackle John Beiletti, center Fred Lipscomb and halfback Jim Thornton.

The starting squad has lettermen Donzil Hall and Bill Ray at ends, letterman Vernon Howell and Beiletti at tackles, co-captain Herb Hess and sophomore Dick Allen at guards and co-captain Jim Simpson at center.

Bog Wagner, understudy to Bill Zban last year, will start at quarterback. Last season's top scorer, Ray Dunlap, along with sophomore Paul Miller, will open at the halfback posts and Sonny Sirianni has won the fullback spot he shared in 1956.

The second team is composed of sophomores Danny Frank and Toddy Fugate at ends, Rudy Columbo and Jim O'Conner, also sophs, at tackles. Two juniors, Bob Gardner and letterman Paul Buford will be at the guard slots flanking center Lipscomb.

The second unit backfield is very undecided and only quarterback Jim Maddox has a sure spot. Dewey Ballengee, Roy Goines, Cable Curtis and Richard Jackson are all in line for the two backfield spots and Thornton or Robert Wilson will hold down the fullback post.

Plenty of beef will be available as the starting time averages 201 pounds per man. Allen is the heaviest of the seven men with his 224 pound frame. Howell is next at 216, followed by Beiletti at 210, Simpson at 200, Hess at 194, Ray at 191 and Hall, the lightest starter, at 168.

Tuesday Artist Series Features Les Brown

Les Brown and his "Band of Renown" will open this year's Artist Series schedule at the Keith-Albee Theatre, Monday, September 24. The concert will begin at 8:30 P.M.

Students may obtain tickets today in the front corridor of Old Main from Mrs. Will Mount by presenting their activity card and ID card. This program is not one of the six regularly scheduled programs and all students are eligible to attend.

Les Brown's band is known throughout the world. He was with Bob Hope on radio and television for eight years, has made many recordings and personal appearance tours, and has played for armed forces units in Europe, Japan, Alaska, Korea, and other countries.

He is a graduate of the Ithaca Conservatory of Music, New York Academy and Duke University.

During his freshman and sophomore years at Duke he played tenor sax with the Blue Devils. In his junior year he became leader of the band which became one of the best known college bands. In 1936 Les took the Blue Devils to Budd Lake, N. J., for a summer engagement which led to recordings and world transcriptions. After a year of travel, the band disbanded. In 1940 he organized his "Band of Renown."

The name Les Brown has become a symbol of good, danceable music. Time Magazine recently quoted him as saying: "We prefer consonance to dissonance, we prefer sound to noise, we prefer the beat over effects, and we like the melody if it is good."

Les has always been noted for his vocalists. Doris Day, Eileen Wilson and Lucy Ann Polk are but three of his former singers who now are stars in their own right. Currently the band is featuring Jo Ann Greer, who hails from Hollywood. She appeared with several other famous orchestras before joining the "Band of Renown."

GREENBACKERS

"The Greenbackers," Marshall's newly formed card section, will show off their stunts Saturday evening at Fairfield Stadium when the Thundering Herd clashes with West Virginia State.

All members of the card section are asked to be at the field and in their seats by 7:45 P.M.

"The Greenbackers" will display their patterns five minutes before the game starts and at halftime with the band.

MARCHING BAND

At Saturday's opening football game, the College Band will make its first appearance of the year. Under the direction of Professor Thomas O'Connell, the band will perform a series of formations at all the home football games as well as at some of the away games.

This year, the band will make two trips. A one day trip will be made to Miami, and an overnight trip is scheduled for the Toledo game on October 12.

Underwood Appearing On Forum

By EUGENIA DAMRON

Governor Cecil H. Underwood will speak in Old Main auditorium Monday, September 30, at 7:45, as the first presentation of the 1957-58 Community Forum. This will mark the first time in thirty years that a governor of West Virginia has appeared as a speaker at Marshall, according to Stewart H. Smith, college president.

Governor Underwood will speak on the topic "West Virginia and Its Future." A panel discussion will follow the speech and the audience may ask questions.

Members of the non-partisan panel include Mrs. Ray K. Sullivan, past president of the Federated Women's Clubs of West Virginia; Hugh D. Stillman, division manager, Appalachian Electric Power Company; Professor Conley H. Dillon, political science department head; and Tom E. Carter, Huntington junior.

President Smith will serve as moderator and chairman will be Raymond Brewster, editor of the Huntington Herald-Dispatch.

Admission to the program will be by forum membership cards, or student activity cards only, according to Curtis Baxter, Forum director.

A public dinner honoring Governor and Mrs. Underwood will be given at 6:15, September 30, in the cafeteria, prior to the Governor's appearance on the Forum.

Only 150 dinner reservations can be accepted. Persons desiring reservation will be served on a first-come basis. Tickets, which will cost $2.25, may be purchased by contacting William D. Birke, vice-president, Huntington Publishing Company, or Kenneth Stettler, president of Stettler Tire Company.

Special military honors will be afforded the Governor by the ROTC unit during his visit to

Honor System Proposed Here

By MARJORIE CAPPELLARI

Tentative plans for the implementation of an honor system on campus are underway following adoption of a resolution urging establishment of such a system at Leadership Camp this month.

Tom Carter and Asa Meadows, Huntington juniors, were appointed chairmen of a steering committee to investigate the possibility of inaugurating the honor system similar to that used at Washington and Lee University, Wittenburg College, the University of Virginia, and other schools.

AN OPEN LETTER

Students' Honor

Fellow Marshall Students:

For some time conscientious students and teachers on our campus have been concerned about the problems of dishonesty and cheating on our campus. Many approaches to the solution of the cheating problem have been taken with less than desired success. Because the faculty alone cannot stop the problem of dishonesty and cheating, the next step in solving these problems must come from us students. This step should embody the spirit of personal respect and individual integrity.

Recognizing this responsibility, the students participating in the recent Leadership Conference spent much time discussing possible solutions. These discussions resulted in a resolution calling for the adoption of an honor system. In connection with this resolution, our Student Senate has formed a Steering Committee to guide us along these lines.

Thus it is obvious why this may be such an important year. To insure the success of this undertaking, we must reflect the positive attitude taken by our leaders at the Conference when they unanimously endorsed this resolution. The project will be doomed unless we face its problems with an open mind and take our steps cautiously and deliberately.

We must realize that this is primarily a student responsibility, but we must recognize the importance of cooperating with the faculty and administration. We do not consider this step to be an easy one, but we do know that it may be made easier by the cooperation and positive thinking of all concerned.

Soon the Steering Committee will begin working toward its goal and will greatly appreciate any helpful suggestions.

TOM E. CARTER
ASA M. MEADOWS Chairmen

Such a system had been discussed at Leadership Camp last year, and President Stewart H. Smith, in his opening address at camp expressed his disagreement with last year's report in which campus leaders expressed the view that the honor system would be impractical on this campus.

Discussion at this year's camp originated among members of the Standards of Student Activity and Student Conduct discussion group, headed by Tom Carter and faculty advisor Otto "Swede" Gullickson.

According to Carter, enthusiasm for the honor system increased among the student leaders and discussion was carried on in several other groups. At the conclusion of camp the resolution calling for the honor system was approved.

The resolution read in part "Recognizing the general lack of concern for high moral standards and the integrity of the individual, and believing that these conditions are not conducive to the formation of a well-rounded and well-educated individual, we recommend that a steering committee for the adoption of the honor system be established under the leadership of the Student Senate..."

Carter, in discussing the makeup of the steering committee, said that it will represent as nearly as possible all campus groups including such organizations as fraternities, sororities, independents, veterans, religious organizations, and others.

A meeting of the committee is planned for some time this month as soon as presidents of the various organizations have been contacted.

In an open letter to students Carter and Meadows stated, "For some time conscientious students and teachers on our campus have been concerned about the problems of dishonesty and cheating on our campus. Many approaches to the solution of the cheating problem have been taken with

Guyan Country Club Offers Men Caddy Jobs

The Guyan Golf and Country Club has set up a caddying program to aid college men in finding part-time employment.

The club will provide transportation to and from the club for men who wish to caddy and has set up a pay scale of $4.25 per round for caddying. If rain prevents the caddy's player from playing, the caddy will be paid $2.00 for the trip to the club.

Interested men may register for the caddying jobs in the Dean of Men's office.

After one week's work, college men who are caddying may use the club's facilities. Also, they may play free on Monday afternoons, as do regular Guyan caddies.

Arnold Browning is pro at the Guyan Course, on which the college golf team plays its home matches.

Pickup spot for the prospective caddies will be at the corner of the gymnasium or College Avenue.

less than desired success. Because the faculty alone cannot stop the problem of dishonesty and cheating, the next step in solving these problems must come from us students. This step should embody the spirit of personal respect and individual integrity."

At schools such as Washington and Lee where the honor system has proved successful, students are required to sign a pledge as a condition of acceptance in the school, that they will uphold the honor system or face expulsion from school if they are caught violating it.

Carter explained that the committee sponsoring the resolution realizes that the system cannot be instituted here overnight, and that it will be a long process.

They hope to see positive steps taken this year, and anticipate the inauguration of an honor system within the next two years.

The final decision of whether or not the system will be adopted will be up to the students, Carter continued. A student election will ultimately determine its future. Carter suggested also that a candidate for president of the student body might use the honor system as one of his party's planks, and undertake the support of it..

Among the positive steps hoped for this year, according to Carter, is the possibility that individual groups will pledge their support and carry out its principles as a model for the student body.

Sixty Per-Cent Of Chapel Funds Now Pledged

Reverend Lander Beal, college religious counselor, has announced that approximately $150,000 of the $250,000 needed for the proposed student chapel has been pledged.

A breakdown shows that $24,500 of this pledge money has been raised in the campus campaign. Reverend Beal said that the student pledges are beginning to "pour in" and that the students have paid approximately $2,000 of their pledges.

The bulk of the pledges so far have come from church resources in the state, approximately $65,000.

The remaining money in pledges has come from friends of the college and interested people in the community.

Reverend Beal said that work on the chapel would start as soon as enough of the pledges had been paid to give the corporation a working amount. He estimated that once work started, the chapel should be ready for use in approximately 2 years.

He also said that students wishing to donate to the chapel fund could address checks or send money to Chapel Fund, care of Reverend Lander Beal, Marshall College, or deposit them in the mail box provided for the Chapel Fund.

The Panhellenic Tea Sunday from 3 to 5 P.M. will mark the beginning of formal sorority rushing, according to Peggy Tolley, rush chairman.

The tea will be in the Student Union, and all women who are interested in pledging a Greek sorority are invited to attend and sign the rush book.

Rush rules are as follows:

1. Rushees are not allowed to visit the sorority houses after the Panhellenic Tea except to attend rush parties until the end of formal rushing.

2. Preference slips must be turned in to the Dean of Women's office on October 22, before noon.

3. Rushees cannot change their choice after signing preference slips.

4. Silence shall start at 8:30 Thursday, October 17, and will officially end Tuesday, October 22, at 12:00 noon.

5. Non-resident sorority girls cannot enter dorms during Formal rushing.

6. Freshmen on probation cannot rush.

7. No affiliated member of a sorority and a rushee may spend the night together.

8. Every party invitation must be accepted or rejected in writing and the answers placed in the appropriate sorority box in the Dean of Men's office, Main 110.

9. In the event that two third parties fall on the same date at the same hour, only one party may be attended.

10. If a rushee does not receive a bid from any of her preference choices, she is eligible for rushing and bidding by any sorority.

The schedule of the first parties is as follows:

Monday, September 23, 7 to 9:30 P.M.: Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Sigma Alpha, Delta Zeta, and Sigma Sigma Sigma.

Wednesday, September 25, 7 to 9:30 P.M., Alpha Sigma Alpha, Alpha Xi Delta, and Pi Kappa Sigma.

An invitation must be issued before a rushee is eligible to attend second parties, but she may attend as many second parties as she is invited to.

ALPHA CHI PARTY

Members of Alpha Chi Omega social sorority were entertained recently at a "back-to-school" party given by their president, Miss Barbara Thornburg, at the Police Recreation Center.

The all-day outing included a wiener roast and a buffet supper.

Asian Flu Shots Will Be Given To Students

Inoculation for Asiatic flu will be available for all employees, faculty members, and students of the college as soon as the serum is available, according to President Stewart H. Smith.

The full course of serum will be offered free to an estimated 4,000 persons at the college and laboratory school. Dr. Charles H. Hagan, college physician, will be in charge of the program.

The president said the college has placed an order for enough serum to inoculate the entire group, and an early partial shipment is anticipated, with the remainder to follow shortly thereafter. Cost of the program is being met by the college health fund.

In announcing the plans for the program, President Smith said that it is hoped that inoculation before the fall months will prevent an outbreak of Asiatic flu on the campus.

CAGLE CURTIS, tabbed the team clown by his mates, demonstrates his famous pass catching form. However, Curtis's abilities go much further than clowning. He is a fine fullback and will prove it to row night.

THE STANLEY STEAMER

By SAM STANLEY

Hop in everybody, the ol' 'Steamer's' cranked up and ready to hit the road, and whether the highway be bumpy or smooth, it will try to take you to some interesting stops in the 1957-58 Big Green sports season.

Of course the first stop will be tomorrow night when our Herd meets West Virginia State from up Institute way. The outlook, compared to the same time last year, is somewhat cheerier because we are opening with State and not tough Xavier. Last season the defeatist attitude seemed to hit us before the first game and it carried on through the grid year.

But this year, as I stated before, is different. We don't meet a perennial powerhouse until Kent State visits Huntington in our fifth game in mid-October. The moulder of the slate, Athletic Director Bob Morris, needs to be congratulated on the job, which could very well determine the difference between a losing and winning season.

Also congrats are in order to Bob Hess and Jim Simpson for being chosen as co-captains of the grid squad. Hess and Simpson, both rugged linemen, have earned the positions and the leadership of the squad is in good hands.

Looking ahead in the year the overall varity picture seems more optimistic than in recent years. The basketball team has loads of material returning from last year's team. The freshman cagers of a year ago also will aid with talent galore and once again the Big Green will put a conference-contending team on the hardwood floor.

All the spring sports, with the exception of tennis, are likely to have a rosy future in store. The baseball nine will get help for their weak pitching department by a pair of good looking sophomores, a lefty and a righty, and power from the plate will again be head by All-Mid-American conference third baseman Donzil Hall.

Last year's terrific golf team lost only fourth man Drexel Meade, and this was not through graduation but through Uncle Sam. Back again will be the 1-2-3 punch of Linden Meade, Jack Freeman and Buddy Graham.

The track team can't do much more but improve and the wrestling and cross-country teams have enough lettermen back for at least an average year.

This leaves the tennis team. Gone will be the first three men on the ladder—Charles Bearden, Cebe Price and George Tmplin. So tennis aspirants, get on your rackets for Coach Lanny Brisbin will probably be doing some heavy scouting to bolster his net team.

I guess everyone knows by now that the most talked about high school athlete the Mountain State has produced in some time, namely Johnny Frye, has decided to say goodbye to this campus after a very brief stay. Johnny is now enrolled at Duke University with a basketball scholarship.

Although we hate to see Johnny go, he should be commended in the respect that his sudden switch was schblastically inclined and not athletically inclined. The Huntington East youngster picked Duke because of his desires to be a minister. It is my belief that he could make as big a name for himself in basketball here with the Big Green, but Johnny went for an education in his chosen profession.

Rivlin Issues First Call For Cross Country

New cross country coach, Jule Rivlin, has issued a call for candidates for the cross-country team.

The meeting has been set for Monday in the gymnasium at 3:30 P.M.

Rivlin pointed out that he had no idea whom to expect for the team due to the fact that he is starting his first season in the capacity of cross-country coach.

 The backfield averages out just under 190 pounds per man.

Wagner is the heaviest at 183, Sirianni and Dunlap are both 181 and Miller weighs in at 174.

The front wall of the second unit is bigger with an average of 108 pounds per man, but the two tackles, Columbo at 242 and O'Conner at 236, are the only two men over the 200 pound mark. The rest of the second unit linemen are all in the 190 pound class, however.

The roster released by West Virginia State lists 45 men on roster, but later releases say that only 40 men will make the trip here. As far as experience goes State will be lacking as they have only five seniors and three juniors returning. Since freshmen can enter varsity competition at State the 10 sophomores listed on the Yellow Jacket roster have probably had some experience. The rest of the team will be composed of 22 to 27 freshmen.

State had a 4-3 mark last year, mostly against colored schools and not much information has been gathered about them. However Royer said that one boy they were told to watch was Clayburn Jiles, a 192 pound half-back transfer from Ohio State.
