'Udder' Confusion Reigns At 'Pike's Peak'

Sigma Kappas Capture Pig To Win First Annual 'Pike's Peak' Trophy

A frightened and bewildered pig sent a four-foot trophy into the Sigma Kappa sorority house Sunday afternoon at the "Pike's Peak." The last and determining event of the inter-sorority meet saw 60 girls converge on a defenseless pig which ran into the relentless arms of Sharon Haselip, Huntington junior and first vice president of Sigma Kappa.

Miss Haselip hung on to the squealing pig while the other entrants played a game which resembled tackle football in their attempt to capture the animal. In fact, even the officials had a difficult time rescuing the pig from her arms.

Sunday's competition was the first annual "Pike's Peak" which is sponsored by Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. Held on the intramural field, the outing included such events as the 50-yard dash, the broad jump, cow milking, rolling pin throwing, egg throwing, mud hunt and tug of war.

The event which required the most skill or experience was the cow milking contest. Betty Sue Leach, Union freshman and daughter of a dairy farmer, copped the five points awarded for this event.

The tug of war contest was one of the most competitive events of the afternoon. Sigma Kappa "pulled" their way to victory when they defeated semi-finalists Delta Zeta.

The "dirtiest" of the events was probably the mud hunt which saw two entrants from each sorority on their hands and knees in a puddle of mud searching for a small metal ball.

The greasy pole event proved to be the most difficult of the contest. No sorority was able to succeed in climbing the greased pole, so each organization was awarded one point for effort.

Sigma Kappa, who claimed the trophy with 17 points, and Sigma Sigma battled back and forth for the lead during the entire afternoon. Tri Sig came in second with a total of 14 points. Other scores were Alpha Sigma Alpha, five; Delta Zeta, four; Alpha Chi Omega, two, and Alpha Xi Delta, one.

In an individual break-down, Barbara Charles, Huntington junior, won the 50-yard dash. Claren

Research Program To Draw Student

Stuart Thomas, Huntington senior, is one of nine students selected for the 1962 Undergraduate Research Program at the University of North Carolina. The program is sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

Thomas, a psychology major, has selected "computer simulation of human problem solving" for his research. He will attend seminars and research conferences in his field of interest.

Brooks, Arlington, Va., sophomore, won the broad jump and Margaret Bond, Salem junior, claimed the shotput contest.

Sonja Robinson, Charleston junior, took the moose horn blowing event while Connie Sergeant, Wheeling freshman, came in first in the rolling pin contest. Joannette Veazey, Charleston freshman, won the egg roll contest in which the entrants had to roll a fresh egg up a hill with their noses.

Phyllis Wright, Huntington senior, won the egg throw; Elaine Thompson, Charleston sophomore, the sack race, and Lobeda Noe, Kenova senior, the posture race where contestants had to race 25 yards with a container of water balanced on their head.

Linda Ranson, Huntington sophomore, won the coke drinking contest while Susan Stephenson, Huntington freshman, won the pie eating contest. Brenda Maxwell, New Martinsville sophomore, found the metal ball in the mud hunt and Sharon Haselip, Huntington junior, caught the pig in the "runt hunt." Five points went to Betty Sue Leach, Union freshman, for milking the cow. The three points for the tug of war went to Sigma Kappa.

Serving as judges were Ray Cumberledge, assistant athletic director; Prof. F. A. Fitch, chairman of the Physical Education Department, and Mr. Charles Bowers, a local insurance agent.

Jolley Resigns As Chairman Of Business Administration

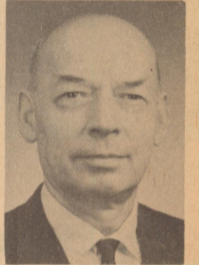

By FRAN ALLRED
Assistant Campus Editor

The Departments of Business Administration and Economics will merge to form the Department of Business and Economics, probably effective Sept. 1. The consolidation first must be approved by the West Virginia Board of Education.

Vernon D. Jolley, professor of business administration and chairman of the department, has resigned the chairmanship, but he will continue to teach a regular class load.

MINICK

MINICK IN CHARGE

Dr. John D. Minick, associate professor of economics and chairman of that department, will head the consolidated department.

President Stewart H. Smith said the merger is "to bring about a closer liaison between two closely related departments. It will also simplify administration."

Dr. Minick came to Marshall in 1960. Previously he had been an assistant professor at the University of Nebraska. He is now serving on the state Council of Economic Advisors which submits periodic reports on the state's economy and proposals for improvement to Gov. W. W. Barron.

AIDS FORD STUDY

Dr. Minick received his bachelor's degree at Temple University in Philadelphia. He completed his graduated work at the University of Southern California, receiving the A.M. and Ph.D. degrees. He is also a member of a Ford Foundation project team studying the Area Redevelopment program.

Professor Jolley came to Marshall in 1949 from the University of Cincinnati. Previously he had taught at Wheaton College. He is a member of the American Accounting Association, the American Economic Association, and the National Association of Accountants.

'South Pacific' Opens Tonight

The long awaited production date of "South Pacific" has arrived. The curtain will go up at 8 p.m. this evening for the opening night performance of the Music and Speech Departments' adaptation of the famed Broadway musical.

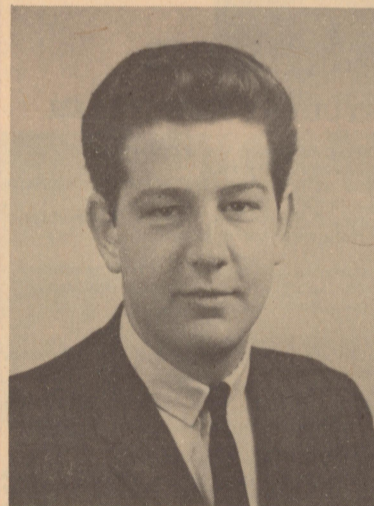

Judie Skeens, Kenova junior and music major, is cast in the female lead as Ensign Nellie Forbush, originally portrayed on Broadway by Mary Martin.

In the male lead again this year will be John Bressler, Huntington senior, who will portray Emile de Becque, originally played by Ezio Pinza. Bressler won praise last year for his performance as Frank Butler in "Annie Get Your Gun."

John Sayre, publicity director of the production, has announced that some general admission tickets may be available for the Saturday night performance. Sayre said this would be possible because several out-of-town parents will attend the performances on Thursday and Friday nights.

Parthenon Editors Named

LARRY ASCOUGH
... Editor-In-Chief

FRAN ALLRED
... Managing Editor

Ascough, Allred Picked

Larry Ascough, Logan junior, has been selected as editor-in-chief of The Parthenon beginning Sept. 1, 1962. He will replace Johnny Hines, Huntington senior, who is graduating this month.

Following his selection, Ascough announced that Fran Allred, Huntington sophomore, would be managing editor. She will replace Patricia Poliskey, who also will graduate.

The new editor-in-chief is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon and has worked on the student newspaper for two years. His appointment was approved by the Committee on Public Relations and Publications, the staff of The Parthenon, and the Journalism Department faculty. The Student Senate approved the appointment at its meeting last Wednesday.

Miss Allred is a Fourth Estate pledge (women's journalism honorary). She has been The Parthenon's assistant campus editor this year.

Moffat, Rollins In Charge

Fall Honors Program Arranged

ROLLINS MOFFAT

Dr. Charles Moffat

Prof. Charles H. Moffat received his M.A. degree from the University of Mississippi and his Ph. D. from Vanderbilt. He is president of the Kiwanis Club, a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Pi Eta Sigma, freshman honorary. Moffat will lecture in the Far East this summer under the sponsorship of the Department of Defense. He has published numerous articles in professional journals.

Dr. Ronald Rollins

Prof. Ronald G. Rollins received his A.B. from Glenville State College in 1951 and his M.A. from Marshall in 1953. He graduated with honors from the U.S. Army Counter-Intelligence School in 1954. He attended George Washington University as a special student in 1955-56, and also graduated "With Distinction" from a six-month seminar in French, limited to Army Central Intelligence Corps agents, offered by the Georgetown Institute of Languages and Linguistics. He received his Ph. D. from the University of Cincinnati in 1960. Rollins was twice awarded the Taft Teaching Fellowship, the highest academic honor available to graduate students in English at the University of Cincinnati.

Rollins has published eight articles in his two years at Marshall.

By SANDY O'SHEA
Feature Writer

The Academic Standards and Planning Committee last Thursday approved plans for an Honors Program to begin here at Marshall in the fall of 1962. Dr. Charles H. Moffat, professor of history, has been named chairman of the program, and Dr. Ronald G. Rollins, assistant professor of English, has been appointed coordinator.

The program is made up of two main divisions. Dr. Moffat is in charge of the departmental or "In Course" honor offerings, while Dr. Rollins will head an Interdisciplinary Honors Seminar.

The "In Course" offering consists of additional reading, additional research, special projects and laboratory experiments which according to Dr. Moffat, will "challenge and whet the appetite of the able and talented student." "In these perilous times," he continued, "when the survival of the nation is precariously hanging on the balance, and when only the fit may survive, it is obligatory that colleges foster what Jefferson called 'an aristocracy of the intellect.'"

A total of 13 departments in Marshall intend to offer honors courses of one type or another during the 1962-63 academic year. Ten of these departments have already established such courses. However, a renewed emphasis will be placed upon these courses and in some cases revisions have been effected. These 10 departments include English, Economics, Psychology, Political Science, Business Administration, Spanish, Mathematics, Physical Science, Education, and History. Three departments have created entirely new honors courses. These departments are Military Science, Sociology, and Speech.

Eligibility for participation in these honors courses will be set up individually by the department concerned. Dr. Moffat explained that a 3.5 average or better would be a prime requirement.

Moffat said that 385 of the finest colleges and universities in America have established honors programs and the one at Marshall will be the most complete in the state of West Virginia.

Honors 395-396 has been designated as the course number for the Interdisciplinary Honors Seminar. This Honors Seminar, meeting one evening a week from 6:30 to 9:00 in the Campus Christian Center, will be concerned with the exploration of great issues, and will be limited to approximately fifteen undergraduate students, selected by the Interdisciplinary Honors Committee, who have achieved an academic average of 3.5 or higher. Aside from academic proficiency, Dr. Rollins explained that the students will be distinguished by certain "vitalizing" characteristics—abiding intellectual curiosity, imaginative vision, patience, reliability, and tenacity.

Dr. Rollins describes the purpose of the seminar as two-fold. "It will aim to provide a continually engaging curriculum designed to arouse strenuous, systematic reflection among Marshall's academic elite. The seminar will also offer a diversified course of study which will cut across many areas of knowledge, exposing the students to certain curricula which they otherwise would be compelled to miss."

The major portion of the lecturing in this seminar will be done by members of the university faculty whose specialty has relevance to the seminar subject. Whenever possible, distinguished guest speakers will be asked to participate in the program. The topic to be discussed during the first semester of operation will be "Freedom: Its Meaning." The course will offer 2 credit hours per semester.

Members of the Interdisciplinary Honors Committee are Thomas Olson, J. T. Richardson, Ben Hope, Paul Alexander, Joseph Lichtenstein, Bruce Dunn, Howard Mills, and Co-ordinator Rollins. Members were chosen to represent all three undergraduate colleges.

"It is imperative that the exceptional students at Marshall University be presented with the opportunity for cultural enrichment," Dr. Rollins said. "It is the mental questing of adventurous and original minds that prevents tragic cultural stagnancy in human life; imaginative minds must manifest a bias for truth and must work to keep in motion fresh and recurrent patterns of creativeness."

In describing the honors program objectives, Dr. Rollins refers to a quote from Dr. Nathan M. Pusey, president of Harvard: "It is of the utmost importance that we turn to the task of developing an exciting and demanding kind of formal education designed to draw out the ablest members of each age group. For it is the exceptional person—one might say the eccentric person—who all along has been opening the way toward a fuller life for us all. It is the gifted student who must be stimulated; we must find them, prepare them, and encourage them to stick to their tasks."

1st Campus Track Meet In Years Slated Today

The Big Green track team will host West Virginia State this afternoon at 3:30 p.m. in the first track meet to be held on the campus in so long a time that even Swede Gullickson can't remember the exact date of the last one.

The event will be staged on the field behind the Men's Health and Physical Education Building instead of at Fairfield Stadium as has been the custom for at least the past 20 years. The coaching staff has been busily at work this week getting the field into shape for the meet, marking off the grounds and building pits for the field events.

The track team won its first meet of the season last Saturday, sweeping first place in all but two events in a dual meet at Fairmont State. The final score was a one-sided 67-38.

The thinclads also have a meet scheduled Friday at Morehead, Ky. It's their last of the regular season before entering the Mid-American Conference tournament May 17-18-19 at Kent, Ohio.

Outside of the track victory and two triumphs by the golfers it was a disappointing weekend for the Big Green. The baseball team lost two games to Western Michigan at Kalamazoo, Mich., and the tennis team dropped a 6-3 decision to Miami at Oxford, Ohio.

The Broncos shutout Marshall 8-0 last Friday and edged the Big Green 4-2 Saturday even though the visitors outthit them 9-5. The losses were Marshall's seventh and eighth straight against two early season wins.

MU played Rio Grande, Ohio, College yesterday at St. Clouds Commons after The Parthenon's press time, and has two more baseball games scheduled this weekend. The Big Green will take a two-day swing through Athens, Ohio, for single games on Friday and Saturday against Ohio U.

Fall semester catalogues will be available in the Registrar's office tomorrow.

Doubles partners Bill Price and Don Wassum were dealt their first defeat in the Miami tennis match. The pair, undefeated in four previous conference outings, lost to Dave Kalosky and Fred Bonsack of the Redskins', 7-5, 1-6, 8-6. Bill Jefferson and Bill Carroll scored all three of Marshall's points, posting singles victories and teaming up to win a doubles contest.

The netters were scheduled to meet West Virginia State on the campus courts yesterday and will play Morris Harvey at Charleston Friday and wind up the weekend against Ohio U. at Athens Saturday.

MU Golfers Face 2 Final Matches

Marshall will close out its regular season golf schedule this weekend in two Mid-American Conference tri-angular matches on the road.

The once-beaten Big Green, winner of 16 matches, meets Western Michigan and Toledo at Toledo, Ohio, Friday and Kent State and Western Michigan again Saturday at Kent, Ohio.

Then the all-important conference tournament, in which Marshall will probably be rated a co-favorite along with Ohio U., comes up next week on the 17th, 18th and 19th at Kent.

Coach Neal (Whitey) Wilson's golfers played two matches last week, suffering their lone defeat against Ohio U. Tuesday at Athens, Ohio, and then taking both ends of a tri-angular affair against Bellefonte all-star teams Friday.

Marshall defeated the country club's No. 1 team 14½-3½ and the No. 2 squad 12½-5½ at the Ashland, Ky., course.

The two victories extended the Big Green's record to 6-0 against Tri-State area all-star teams and 10-1 against college foes.

Harry Hoffer turned in the most sparkling performance of the day, taking medalist honors with a 71 and blanking both of his opponents. He topped James Ryan Jr. of the No. 1 team and Lawless

McKenzie of the No. 2's by seven strokes each.

In the other matches Jim Ward carded a 77 and defeated both of his opponents, Pete Byer had a 76 and swept two, Chip Woodring's 72 clipped Bellefonte's low-scoring golfer, John Patterson with a 74, Dave Whipkey had a 79 and lost one match and tied another, and Bill Spensky had a 79 and split even in two matches.

Girl Watcher's Guide

Presented by Pall Mall Famous Cigarettes

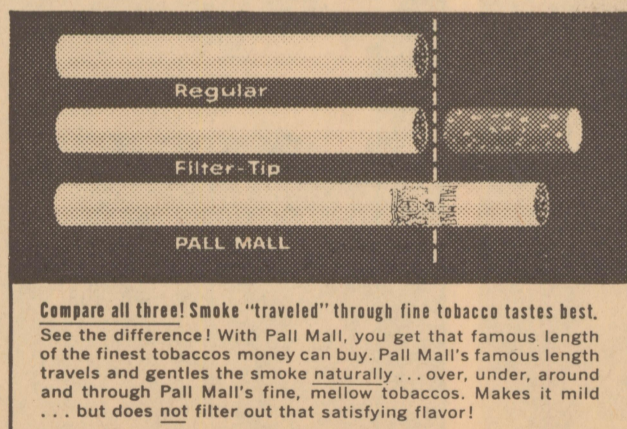

Don't watch while driving

LESSON 13 - A few "don'ts"

Now that we have learned the how of girl watching, let's consider a few safety precautions. They are presented, not as strict rules (since some experts with highly developed eyeball control enjoy watching while running the high hurdles, for example), but merely as friendly suggestions. 1. Don't watch while driving. 2. Don't watch while drilling teeth (dental students only). 3. Don't watch while removing tonsils (medical students only). 4. Don't watch while mixing chemicals in the lab. 5. Don't watch girls who are engaged to the captain of the football team. Our final suggestion is a do, not a don't. Taste Pall Mall—so smooth, so satisfying, so downright smokeable!

Compare all three! Smoke "traveled" through fine tobacco tastes best. See the difference! With Pall Mall, you get that famous length of the finest tobaccos money can buy. Pall Mall's famous length travels and gentles the smoke naturally... over, under, around and through Pall Mall's fine, mellow tobaccos. Makes it mild... but does not filter out that satisfying flavor!

Pall Mall's
natural mildness is so good to your taste!

So smooth, so satisfying,
so downright smokeable!

57 Teachers Due For NSF Institute

By DOROTHY LOCKE
Society Editor

Fifty-seven teachers have been accepted to participate in the Summer Institute for High School Physical Science and Mathematics Teachers, sponsored by Marshall in co-operation with the National Science Foundation.

Participation in this institute is open to high school physical science and mathematics teachers who are presently teaching in one of these fields, according to Dr. Donald C. Martin, professor of physics and director of the institute.

Nearly 500 applications were received for the institute, which offers classes geared to update the training of high school teachers, Professor Martin said.

Those who were accepted, including 42 from West Virginia and two former Marshall students from Florida, will receive full or partial stipends. The maximum stipend will be $75 per week for the participant, allowances up to $15 per week for each dependent (maximum of four), and one round-trip travel allowance up to $80. Regular university fees will also be paid.

The institute consists of two terms, coinciding with the regular summer school terms. Those participating will take two graduate classes a term, Professor Martin said.

The courses in chemistry, physics, mathematics, geology, and astronomy, will be taught by Dr. Allen W. Scholl, professor of chemistry; Dr. John H. Hoback, associate professor of chemistry; Dr. Martin; Dr. Thomas Bauserman, associate professor of mathematics; Dr. James J. Barron, professor of mathematics; Dr. Raymond E. Janssen, professor of geology, and Mr. Harold E. Ward, associate professor of science.

The courses may be applied toward a Master of Arts degree in Physical Science-Education, according to Professor Martin. Participants will also take field trips to industrial plants and other places of interest in the area.

This summer institute, Professor Martin pointed out, is one of 421 in the United States for high school teachers sponsored by the National Science Foundation. The Foundation also sponsors 60 such institutes for college teachers.

MRS. ROBERT V. SHEPHERD
... Appearing In CBS Series

TV Will Feature Music Professor

The "Look Up and Live" television series will feature Mrs. Robert V. Shepherd, associate professor of music, on three nationwide broadcasts this summer. The programs were recently taped by CBS Television in Orlando, Fla.

Professionally known as Jane Hobson, Mrs. Shepherd is accompanied by the Bach Festival Chorus of Rollins College and the Florida Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Henry Mazer. Mr. Mazer is the former conductor of the Wheeling Symphony Orchestra.

The mezzo soloist is singing in Honegger's "King David," a musical with spoken narration about the life of the Biblical character. Martin Gabel, actor and the husband of Arlene Francis, will do the narration.

The Bach Festival Chorus has some 200 singers and the orchestra numbers approximately 85 members, Mrs. Shepherd said.

The "Look Up and Live" series, which is televised on the CBS network on Sundays at 10:30 a.m., is a non-sponsored program affiliated with the National Council of Churches. The program features art and intellectual topics as well as music.

The three half-hour programs took 10 hours to film, not including rehearsal.

Mrs. Shepherd received this honor as a result of singing with the Bach Festival Chorus earlier, and through a recommendation to the producer by her friend Phyllis Curtin, soprano in the New York City Opera Co. Miss Curtin, formerly of Clarksburg, was featured on the Marshall Artist Series two years ago.

Mrs. Shepherd will perform in Beethoven's "Missa Solemnis" at the University of Nebraska on May 13. She sang with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra last fall and has been invited to sing with the Bach Festival Chorus in Winter Park, Fla., again. This spring she is going to Cleveland, Ohio, for a repeat performance of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony.

'Career Day' Pleased Many

Many members of the Federal Government commented about our first Federal Career Day, which was held at Marshall recently.

After Robert P. Alexander, Director of Placement received these comments about Career Day, and since it was so successful, he said, "Our office plans a similar day with industry this coming year."

Robert H. Schmidt, college relations representative, Aeronautical Systems Division, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, stated: "we attend a number of these conferences each year, and I can honestly say that your arrangements for the program and the warmth and hospitality received, far surpassed any others attended this year, as well as in the past. You are to be congratulated for a fine program in your first attempt. If all Marshall people are this efficient, we will be back for more of the same." W. T. Kesselring, recruiting representative, Third United States Civil Service Region, Philadelphia, Pa. added, "This conference was the most pleasant, well-organized, and productive venture that we have ever had on a college campus."

Dr. J. F. Bartlett, Dean of College of Arts and Sciences, stated, "In my opinion, the Federal Careers Conference was one of the best things that has happened on this campus in a long time."

Home-made knit slippers are the specialty of George Bukovich, mechanic at the Coalwood Mines in Coalwood, W. Va. Mr. Bukovich is the father of Linda Bukovich, Coalwood sophomore.

For Christmas, Mr. Bukovich knitted seven pairs of slippers for some of Linda's friends in Laidley Hall. Noelle Willet, Yvette Stickman, Nancy Meadows, Susie Cox, Brenda Foltz, Tomasina Soto, and Linda gratefully received their presents.

Among his hobbies—which include making bookcases out of pipes welded together, making chairs out of wood, and cooking excellent Italian food—Mr. Bukovich also has taken up crocheting. He says that it is a relaxing pastime. When he is at home, and has nothing to do, he knits. At present, he is knitting a sweater for Linda.

'Stars And Bars' Waved Again

SURRENDERING THE CAMPUS to the rebels is Dr. A. E. Harris, dean of the Graduate School. Standing by to accept the Yankee withdrawal is General Keith Brown, commander of the "southern forces" and president of Kappa Alpha Order. The KA's maintained their "stronghold" through the week-end.

SOUTHERN BELLE Elizabeth Hall, Charleston senior, was chosen the KA Rose for 1962. Escorted by Pete Mayo, Huntington junior, Miss Hall was presented a sheath of roses and a Confederate flag by General Keith. Following the ceremony the "southern forces" advanced to the Huntington City Hall where they were surrendered the city by City Manager Hoisington.

Campus 'Captured' By KA's

As a part of the annual Old South weekend, Kappa Alpha Order "captured" the campus Friday in the name of the Confederate States of America. General Keith Brown, Huntington junior and KA president, led his "troops" to the area in front of the Student Union and proclaimed the grounds to be Confederate territory.
