College Theatre Presents Final Performance Tonight

Pitts Return From European Sojourn

Professor W. Page Pitt, head of the journalism department, and Mrs. Pitt have returned from a month and a half tour of Europe.

The purpose of Professor Pitt's tour was to discover the means by which other journalism schools, both in Europe and this country, train their personnel.

IN EUROPE, the Pitts visited England, Scotland, France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, and Sweden. While touring these countries Prof. Pitt talked with numerous newspaper executives to determine what journalism training means to the newspapers in Europe.

Soon Professor Pitt will begin a tour of the southern states to determine to what extent journalism schools are meeting the present needs of small city newspapers in the training of personnel. West Palm Beach will be his headquarters while he is making the study.

Professor Pitt will return to his duties here next semester.

Fay Murray, Milton sophomore, will play the woman's lead, "Liz-zie Curry," in the final performance tonight of "The Rainmaker," first production of the College Theatre for the 1955-56 season.

The play, under the direction of Professor Clayton R. Page, will begin at 8:15 in the College Auditorium. Jane Ann Garrette, Huntington sophomore, is assisting the director.

Lewis Yeager, Parkersburg freshman, will play opposite Miss Murray in the role of "Bill Starbuck," the "Rainmaker."

Students will be admitted by activity cards. Members of the faculty may obtain their complimentary season tickets from the College Secretary.

Ten Men Pledged To Omicron Delta Kappa Tapping Ceremonies Are Tomorrow Night

Ten men will be tapped by Omicron Delta Kappa, men's national honorary leadership fraternity, during the halftime ceremonies of the Marshall-Youngstown football game tomorrow night at Fairfield Stadium. Those chosen for membership in the honorary include: Alvin Arnett, South Charleston junior; James Baylor, Huntington senior; William Clark, Ashland, Ky. senior; Peter Donathan, Huntington senior; Danny Goulding, Huntington junior.

ROTC Rifle Team Begins Practice

Twenty members of the ROTC rifle team, which started preliminary training two weeks ago, have begun target practice in the ROTC indoor firing range, according to SFC Eugene J. Barnum, assistant instructor.

The practice will continue until Thursday, November 17, when the 10 best marksmen will be chosen to compete with a visiting rifle team.

AN ATTEMPT is being made to form a women's rifle team to compete with teams from surrounding industrial plants and schools. Women interested in marksmanship activities are requested to contact Major Robert Wensley or Sgt. Barnum in the ROTC headquarters.

JAMIE JOHNSTON, Huntington junior; William Keesee, War senior; Robert Miller, Huntington senior; Jack Theurer, Huntington senior; and John Walker, Barbourville senior.

The annual fall tapping ceremony will consist of the active members of the Circle welcoming the new pledges. The actives will assemble on the field during the ceremonies and as the pledge's name is called, he will walk onto the field and be welcomed into the Circle.

The new pledges for the organization must go through a pledge period before they become active members. During this pledge period they must plan and accomplish a pledge project of their choosing and present it to the school. Typical of these projects are the ODK terrace in front of the Student Union and the sign over the entrance to the college on Third Avenue.

THE PLEDGE officers for the fall pledge class are: Jamie Johnston, president; James Baylor, vice-president; and William Keesee, secretary. A part of the two-fold pledge project is the solicitation of money to establish a fund for the building of a College Chapel.

Omicron Delta Kappa has a threefold purpose as a campus organization. It is designed to recognize campus leadership, to bring together faculty and student leaders to increase mutual understanding and interest.

Interest in extra-curricular activities is not the only basis for acceptance into ODK. At the same time a man must maintain a better than average academic average.

TO BE ELIGIBLE for the group, a man must have a junior, senior or graduate status in the college, have a 2.5 overall average, receive approval of the active membership of the local Circle and meet definite standards of leadership in at least two unrelated fields of endeavor based upon a point system.

The point system used by the local Circle allows a candidate a certain number of points for a term of office if he performs his duties well.

Faculty members are also eligible for the honor organization. To become members they must fulfill any three of the requirements for student members. Honorary members must fulfill only two of the requirements.

FIGHT SONG

Copies of the verse of "The Sons of Marshall" which were handed out at Thursday's pep rally will be distributed to students at the football game Saturday night by The Robe and The Press Club.

AN OPEN LETTER

To The Faculty and Students of Marshall College:

I would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank everyone connected with making this past Homecoming weekend a huge success. Since this is probably the biggest function of the school year, Student Government has tried to give the students and alumni of Marshall College a Homecoming they will long remember. I hope that we were successful in attaining this goal.

A very special thank you goes to Nancy Williams for her tremendous job of directing and coordinating the activities of the Homecoming committee. The work of planning for a Homecoming is much greater than most people realize; and a lot of preparation goes into making it successful.

Thanks also to each student and faculty member of the committee, and to the five people who gave of their time to chaperone the Homecoming dance.

Congratulations are in order, of course, for "Miss Marshall" and her attendants, and also for Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity and Delta Sigma Epsilon sorority for winning the coveted first place float trophies.

If by chance I have missed mentioning someone who played an important role in the Homecoming festivities, it is not intentional. The 1955 Marshall Homecoming is now history, and everyone connected with it can be proud of a job well done.

Sincerely,
Maywood C. Ellifritt
Student Body President

The Philharmonia Orchestra of London presented a medium-weight program of three symphonies at Monday evening's Artist's Series presentation.

Beginning with Mozart, and using a larger group than Mozart probably ever intended, they gave a careful rendition of the first of Mozart's last three symphonies — No. 39.

It is generally agreed that Mozart was not at his best in symphony. Be that as it may, his symphonic themes are less popular than his lighter works. The disturbing changes in this particular symphony render it more difficult to play than perhaps any other the orchestra might have chosen.

The surprise of the evening came when the orchestra seemed to double in size for the playing of the controversial "Variations on a Theme by Haydn" by Johannes Brahms.

One who prefers Haydn in pure oratorio and Brahms in uncomplicated melody finds it hard to get a clear picture of the "Variations," regardless of who is playing it. The listener wants to ask, as generations of music lovers have, whether it is actually Haydn's theme or that of the obscure piano manufacturer, Ignaz Pleyel. Regardless of its questionable authorship, anyone is compelled to agree that "Variations" is one of the gems of symphonic repertoire.

Sibelius seemed the best solution of the evening, as far as the Philharmonia itself was concerned. Jan Siebelius has remained an influence in the music world for more than 60 years, not so much through any outward modernity of musical speech, as by the power and freedom with which he has used traditional material to gain new and expressive results.

Gloom and mystery was once thought to predominate Sibelius' musical efforts, but much of his later work refutes that belief.

His revolutionary methods of construction, that of developing short units into a complete work, are perhaps the trademark of his success. No other composer has been able to accomplish this without destroying the continuity of the whole.

Applause for the orchestra was polite, which is unusual for a Huntington audience. I couldn't help wondering if most people hadn't gone because they felt it was the thing to do, rather than from any inward desire to hear great music played by an outstanding orchestra. I realize that the city never goes overboard over anything short of a Liberace.

Therefore, the surprising thing to me is always the realization that,

Penguins Face Thundering Herd Tomorrow

Royermen Looking For Second Win In Y. U. Series

By STEVE POSTI
(Parthenon Sports Editor)

Marshall's Thundering Herd will "switch from hots to KOOLS" tomorrow when they meet Youngstown University's Penguins at Fairfield Stadium in a non-Mid-American Conference tilt. Coach Herb Royer's squad will be making their seventh appearance of the season and will be in search of their third win of the campaign. Kickoff time for Saturday's game is 8 P. M.

The Penguins, sporting a record of 3 wins and 3 losses, will be looking for their first win over a

Big Green TT Squad Turns In Win Over Bobcats

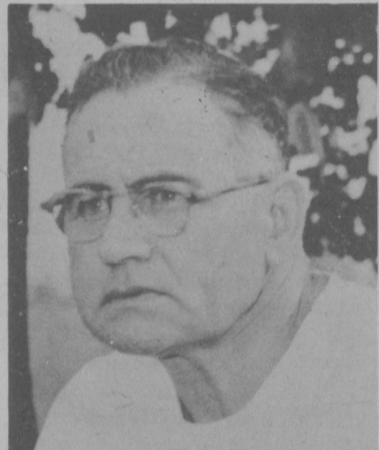

Marshall's newly formed varsity table tennis team defeated Ohio University 5-2, last Sunday in the Marshall gym.

Ohio University is rated sixth in the nation in intercollegiate table tennis. This was Marshall's first match in intercollegiate competition this year.

In the singles matches, Dave Wegner of Marshall was defeated by Jim Erwin of Ohio 2 to 1. Bill Seidel of Marshall defeated Gary Simpson of Ohio U. by winning two straight games. Don Weaver of Marshall also won his singles match when he beat Wendell Dillon of Ohio 2-1.

In the doubles matches "Dub" Morris and Bill Seidel won their match over Gary Simpson and Jim Erwin 2-1. In the other doubles match Don Weaver and Bill Tweel of Marshall defeated John Brohard and Jack Kemp by winning two straight games.

The two final singles matches of the afternoon ended in a split for Marshall. "Dub" Morris of Marshall lost to John Brohard 2-1, and Bill Tweel of Marshall defeated Jack Kemp of Ohio U. by winning two straight games.

Marshall squad. In two previous meetings, Marshall has whipped the Penguins on one occasion and tied them on another. Marshall's first win over YU was in 1950 and the deadlock came in 1952.

Penguin mentor "Dike" Beedee, now in his 15th year at Youngstown, has a crew of well-experienced lettermen returning from the 1954 squad that won 7 and dropped 2.

Heading the list of veterans are quarterback Frank Beck, the Penguins' triple threat man, halfback John Rouse, a speedy 165 pounder, end Don Delsinger, halfback Tom Mosure, a 180 pound senior, guard Norm Stafford, a 210 pound senior who is being considered for all-Ohio honors, fullback Dean Rose, a converted 191 pound tackle, Angelo Burrelli, a sophomore who lettered as a freshman last season, and several others.

Here on campus, the Herd's coaching staff has been putting the squad through rugged defensive maneuvers in order to make the necessary changes in plugging the gaps that have prevailed in the Marshall defense throughout the season.

The Royermen will also be confronted with another difficulty against the Penguins' tricky short-punt offense. To date, all of Marshall's opponents have been using the variations of the T.

No serious injuries were reported after last week's loss to Bowling Green, and the Herd should be in top physical shape for this week's encounter. Halfback Len Hellyer will probably move back to his regular halfback starting post this week after being out of it for two weeks because of injuries received in the Miami tussle.

Marshall has only two games remaining before they close out the season on November 19th at Fairfield Stadium against the rugged Musketeers of Xavier University. Next week, the Herd will close out their Mid-Am play when they travel to Toledo, Ohio to play Toledo University's Rockets.

Marshall must win all three remaining games to provide a winning season for Coach Herb Royer, who has yet to enjoy one.

Intramurals - -

The finals of the intramural touch football championship were played yesterday between Pi Kappa Alpha No. 2 and the Varsity M club.

The two teams entered the finals by defeating their semi-final opposition Wednesday. Pi Kappa Alpha No. 2 gained the finals by beating PKA No. 1 team 13-12. For PKA No. 1, Skillman passed to Keaton for 10 yards and the first touchdown. Skillman scored the other touchdown from 10 yards out. Parsley passed 25 yards to Seacrist for PKA No. 2's first TD. A 10 yard run by Parsley scored the other one. Parsley passed for the game winning point.

In the second semi-final game Varsity M defeated ROTC No. 3 20-7. Williams of Varsity M passed 10 yards to Ashley for its first score. Underwood then took to the air and passed to Parkins for the score and then completed another 20 yard touchdown pass to Ashley. Greer passed 42 yards to Stuck for the only ROTC score.

In the quarter-final rounds the results were as follows: Punks 14, Pussy Cats 0; KA 0, PKA No. 2 7; PKA No. 1 7, SAE No. 1 0; ROTC No. 3 13, Rinky Dinks 6; PKA No. 2 12, TKE No. 1 7; and Varsity M 14, Punks 7.

There will be an Intramural winter sports meeting in the varsity room of the gymnasium on Wednesday, November 9 at 3:15 P. M. All managers desiring to have basketball teams must attend this meeting. Also anyone interested in basketball should attend the meeting.

Besides basketball, the winter sports program will include wrestling, bowling, weight lifting, archery, aerial darts, checkers, chess,

HERDSMEN TO FACE hometown university foes tomorrow — Two of Coach Herb Royer's starting eleven for tomorrow night's game with Youngstown University will be playing against their hometown university. Quarterback Bill Zban and hefty tackle Ted D'Alessio — both of Youngstown, Ohio—will be in the Herd line-up. Both Zban and D'Alessio have been outstanding performers for the Herd thus far in the season. Zban's fancy ball-handling and passing has gained him considerable attention while D'Alessio's fine defensive work in the Marshall line has been highly notable by Herd opponents. Both will probably cause plenty of trouble for the Penguin's as Marshall will be pointing for win number 3.

Rivlin Opens Cage Drills; 16 B-G Prospects Report

Basketball drills got underway Tuesday afternoon on campus when 16 prospective varsity members greeted new coach Jule Rivlin at the gymnasium. Rivlin emphasized "conditioning" in the initial drills along with some of the basic fundamentals of ball-handling and shooting.

Three of last year's five starters are back this season to form the nucleus of the Big Green. Returning this season are big Charlie Slack, middle-man Cobe Price, and set-shot artist Paul Underwood.

Slack, who led the nation in the rebounding department last season, will be the chief defensive stalwart that Rivlin will work around while the offense will be built around Price, who last year as a sophomore paced the Green in scoring with an average of 23.6 points per game, and Underwood.

Both Slack and Price were selected to first team berths on the All-Mid-American squad in 1955 while Underwood was named to the second team. Marshall was the only M-A-C team to place two men on the first team of the all-star group.
