MARSHALL COLLEGE STUDENT NEWSPAPER

VOL. 51 HUNTINGTON, W. VA. WEDNESDAY, APRIL 8, 1959 NO. 53

Kampus Kix

Konfused Kollegiates Kut Kapers

By RON HUTCHINSON
Staff Reporter

In the spring when the thoughts of young men turn to what young women have been thinking of all winter, the carefree college student usually turns to other, if not less adventuresome pursuits.

All Yale University undergraduates were placed on probation due to a snow ball throwing fracas involving local police, who took a dim view of the students extra-curricular activity.

But not all campus frolicking is limited to such mundane efforts. Now our fathers disdainfully regard, while forgetting their goldfish swallowing undergrad days, our present springtime diversion. The monotony of college life is now broken by such worthwhile pursuits as cramming as many of the student body as possible into a telephone booth, scavenger hunts by male students with certain articles of wearing apparel as their objectives and the attempts by students to give a reasonable imitation of a can of sardines by wedging themselves into imported cars.

Now students have shown their dislike of judges decisions of a campus variety show at Ball State Teachers College by staging two demonstrations Sunday night. Police dispersed the hooting crowd by using tear gas.

Maybe Marshall's Veteran's Club should begin Spring combat maneuvers in preparation for next year's talent show.

Ann, Blossom Parade On Television Saturday

NOW HERE'S A LITTLE NUMBER . . . says Steve Jacobson, public relations manager of the Smart Shop, which furnished gowns and mink stole for Cherry Blossom Princess Anne Crockett.

By SUSAN ATKINSON

As a climax to her visit in Washington, D. C., as West Virginia's Cherry Blossom Princess, Ann Crockett, Huntington senior, will appear on the nationally televised Cherry Blossom Parade on Saturday, April 11.

Miss Crockett left Huntington last week-end with relatives and drove to Washington. She is staying with other relatives while she is there.

Immediately upon arriving in Washington, she called Congressional Representative Ken Hechler of West Virginia's 4th congressional district, who introduced her to the other members of the West Virginia State Society. The State Society selected her to represent West Virginia.

Tuesday morning Miss Crockett registered along with 48 other girls. A whirl of receptions, luncheons, dances, and teas, and radio and television appearances will fill the five day affair. Throughout the activities, the state princesses will be escorted by specially selected officers of the United States armed forces.

As the West Virginia princess, Miss Crockett will have an opportunity to become the festival queen. The queen will be chosen from among the 49 state princesses by a spin of a wheel of fortune at the Festival Ball on April 10.

When she is selected by the wheel of fortune, the Cherry Blossom Queen will receive a specially designed gown, pearl necklace, and crown. Each of the princesses will receive a memento of the festival.

The queen thus chosen will reign through the remaining two days of the festival which will include the festival pageant and the nationally televised Cherry Blossom Festival Parade, and the Queen's Ball.

Sunday morning Miss Crockett will meet with the 48 other girls for a farewell luncheon. She will return to Huntington after this.

Miss Crockett's wardrobe for the trip was furnished by the Smart Shop of Huntington.

Speech Deadline Is Friday

Friday, April 10, looms as the deadline for entering the oratory and extemporaneous speaking tryouts for the state speech festival. Ben W. Hope, associate professor of speech, has entry blanks at the speech office in the science hall.

"U. S.-Latin American Relations: Problems and Solution" is to be the topic for extemporaneous speaking tryouts. Students intending to try out should study this field. They will be given an hour to prepare a 6 minute speech on a specific aspect of this topic at the April 16 contest.

In the oratory contest, May 16, speakers will deliver 10 minute speeches designed particularly to persuade or inspire. The oratorical topic is left to the choice of the speaker, but the subject should be one of general appeal.

The State Intercollegiate Speech Festival will take place May 7-9 at Jackson's Mill, state 4-H camp. Debaters, orators, extemporaneous speakers, and dramatic troupes from colleges across the state will be pitted against each other.

SENIORS!!

Seniors are again reminded that April 11 is the final day for orders to be accepted for caps and gowns by Percy L. Gallo-way, bookstore manager.

ACT NOW!!

The deadline for filing for candidacy for the forthcoming elections is 4:00 P.M. tomorrow, according to Charles Ralston, Weirton sophomore and election committee chairman.

A $4 registration fee per credit hour has been added for the nine weeks summer school by the 1959 Legislature. This was done to raise money for campus building programs and increases in salaries and allowances for current expenses.

THE INSTALLATION of this traffic light at the corner of Fifth Avenue and Seventeenth Street was a part of The Parthenon's editorial efforts last year. 'Just Don't Want Them'

The Parthenon learned today that the Inter-Fraternity Council has denied a request by the Cavaliers to participate in the annual Mother's Day Sing.

Due to the "just pass out what we want printed" policy which has been adopted by the IFC, we were unable to learn which representatives voted against the request. However, it matters not which members voted against the request for the IFC as a whole must shoulder the responsibility for this decision.

Ordinarily we would think that the Inter-Fraternity Council would take it upon themselves to extend an invitation to all interested organizations to participate in this wonderful event. But sadly we see that such is not the case.

Unfortunately the IFC has chosen to discriminate against the non-Greek organizations and completely ignores the opportunity of enhancing the beauty and prestige of the Mother's Day Sing by refusing to grant permission to the Independents to participate. Not only did the IFC ignore this opportunity, but also we wonder if they even realized that it was within their grasp.

We fail to see why the IFC persists in maintaining such a hostile attitude toward the independent organizations of our campus. It seems as if the IFC has said, "go home Cavaliers, you can't play with us today."

When asked why the IFC had acted in this manner, Dennis White, Danville senior and IFC president, could only say, "we just don't want them."

In view of the present situation, we take this opportunity to suggest the following recommendations. To begin with, the abolition of the "just pass out what we want printed" policy would be most gratifying to the Parthenon and the student body. As we have said before, the student body has the right to be kept informed of the proceedings of any student regulatory organization.

We would be very pleased to see the IFC drop that infantile "you can't play with us" attitude and begin functioning as a group of men. The adaption of a more friendly attitude toward the Independents would certainly gain the respect which is now so utterly lacking and sorely needed by the IFC.

Most important of all, if the IFC were to reverse its present policies, such action would greatly develop harmony and cooperation among the Greeks and the Independents.

In conclusion, we leave you with this thought; remember the phrase "we just don't want them (Independents)" as election day draws near . . .

FTA Holds Annual Meet Here

The eighth annual regional conference of the Future Teachers of America will be held this Friday at Marshall College.

Sponsored by Marshall and the West Virginia Classroom Teachers Association, the conference is expected to attract approximately 100 delegates.

Dr. Harold L. Willey, dean of men at Marshall, will deliver the major address of the one day meeting during the noon luncheon. "Ethics in Teaching" will be Dr. Willey's subject.

Another morning highlight will be a panel discussion on "Problems of F. T. A. Clubs." Dr. T. S. Turbyfill, sponsor of the Marshall Student National Education Association chapter, will be the moderator.

Other panel members will be Betty Lou Halle, president of the Delbarton F. T. A., and Peggy Hill of the Chapmanville F. T. A.

MARCH CLINIC REPORT

A total of 729 patients registered at the Student Clinic during the month of March, compared to 857 in the same period a year ago, according to Miss Mary Summers, Clinic Nurse.

The high total this year was due to R.O.T.C. members in for shots in preparation for summer camp, Nurse Summers said. She went on to say that the large number for March of 1958 was caused by the demand for Asian Flu shots.

Nurse Summers also said that 258 students were in for treatment of colds

HOW TO BE A THUMPING BIG SUCCESS ON CAMPUS

While up in the attic last week hiding from the tax man, I came across a letter, yellow with age, that dear old Dad had sent me when I was a freshman. I reproduce it below in the hope that it may light your way as it did mine.

"Dear Son, (Dad always called me Son. This was short for Sonnenberg, which used to be my first name. I traded it last year with a man named Max. He threw in two outfielders and a left-handed pitcher. . . . But I digress.)

"Dear Son, (Dad wrote)

"I suppose you are finding college very big and bewildering, and maybe a little frightening too. Well, it need not be that way if you will follow a few simple rules.

"First of all, if you have any problems, take them to your teachers. They want to help you. That's what they are there for. Perhaps they seem a little aloof, but that is only because they are so busy. You will find your teachers warm as toast and friendly as pups if you will call on them at an hour when they are not overly busy. Four a.m., for instance.

"Second, learn to budget your time. What with classes, activities, studying, and social life all competing for your time, it is easy to fall into sloppy habits. Set up a rigid schedule and stick to it. Remember, there are only 24 hours a day. Three of these hours must be spent in class. For every hour in class you must, of course, spend two hours studying. So there go six more hours. Then, as we all know, for every hour studying, you must spend two hours sleeping. This accounts for twelve more hours. Then there are meals—three hours each for breakfast and lunch, four hours for dinner. Never forget, Sonnenberg, you must chew each mouthful twelve hundred times. You show me a backward student, and I'll show you a man who bolts his food.

"But college is more than just sleeping, eating, and studying. There are also many interesting activities which you must not miss. You'll want to give at least three hours a day to the campus newspaper, and, of course, another three hours each to the dramatic and music clubs. And let's say a total of eight hours daily to the stamp club, the debating club, and the foreign affairs club. Then, of course, nine or ten hours for fencing and bird-walking, and another ten or twelve for ceramics and three-card monte.

"Finally we come to the most important part of each day—what I call 'The Quiet Time.' This is a period in which you renew yourself—just relax and think great thoughts and smoke Marlboro Cigarettes. Why Marlboro? Because they are the natural complement to the active life. They have better 'makin's'; the filter filters; the flavor is rich and mellow and a treat to the tired, a boon to the spent, a safe harbor to the storm-tossed. That's why.

"Well, Sonnenberg, I guess that's about all. Your kindly old mother sends her love. She has just finished putting up rather a large batch of pickles—in fact, 350,000 jars. I told her that with you away at school, we would not need so many, but kindly old Mother is such a creature of habit that, though I hit her quite hard several times, I could not dissuade her.

Keep 'em flying,
Dad."

Here's more advice to freshmen—and upperclassmen too. If non-filter cigarettes are your pleasure, double your pleasure with Philip Morris, made by the makers of Marlboro.

Hogle Quits Lectern For Pulpit

By BRUCE GRUBER

From the classroom lectern to the minister's pulpit, the King's English will take on new meaning for C. Alan Hogle, English instructor who is retiring in May.

A graduate of Baldwin-Wallace, the 29-year-old Hogle received his M.A. from Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1957.

Having applied to a number of colleges in New England and the Southern section of the United States, he plans to enter one of these Divinity Schools culminating the three year period of study with a Bachelor of Divinity degree.

Since Christmas, Mr. Hogle has been working on his Local Preaching License, which is a required prerequisite for a Methodist ministerial hopeful. This requires the successful completion of five written examinations given by the Methodist Board of Education in Nashville, Tennessee. "It is more than half done," says Hogle.

A native of Brooklyn, New York, Hogle is the father of two children, Mark, almost four, and Heather, 7 months. When asked the reason for his change of careers, he replied, "Life tends to be very fragmentary or specialized. We are

English majors or physical education majors, but we are neglecting our whole being. I feel that religion aims more at the unity of man than any of the other areas of human endeavor."

His father who has been the minister of the First Methodist Church in Waterbury, Connecticut, for thirty-three years, did not attempt to direct his son in this profession during his formative years. His 86-year-old grandfather, who is also a minister, "his preached in half of the Protestant churches in the world," exclaims Hogle.

Accordingly, neither of these individuals prompted the English instructor's decision to be a conscientious objector when entering the army in 1952. His defense of this controversial position was explained thusly, "A conscientious objector is essentially an idealist. He feels that war is never justified on two grounds.

"For practical reasons alone, war has never solved any problem, and in fact often creates new ones. Certainly for religious reasons, the conscientious objector must decry war because human life is sacrificed to a minor god at best—the state. It's the same old problem of rendering to both God and Caesar that which each is entitled to. That which we feel obliged to render to the state depends on our higher obligation to the Supreme Being."

He served as a medical corpsman for two years.

Cuba Spring Cuba

By HANIABLE HENSLEY

Spring has kindled fond memories in the minds of two students, who are still beguiled by the Latin living they experienced last spring.

Ronald "Ron" Lester, Kenova senior, and Charles "Chuck" Johnson, Kenova freshman, recall their last year's trip to the Republic of Cuba with vivid memories, while they make new plans for a return trip this summer.

With a little more than two weeks to go before the beginning of the fall semester, Lester and Johnson departed here with plans to remain in Cuba for three or four days. After one look at Havana their stay was lengthened to ten days.

After analyzing the South-bound motorist they made signs calculated to help their plans to hitch-hike to Miami. The signs read: "Miami U, Will Pay Toll" and "Willing to Drive." Casually but neatly dressed, they held their signs for the motorist to see. They had little trouble obtaining rides.

Lester and Johnson spent one night with a friend in Miami, then-boarded a plane for Havana. When they arrived in the Cuban capitol, the customs officials were suspicious of the strange signs which the two carried. They had forgotten to get rid of their hitch-hiking "aids" and the custom officials, not having a complete command of English, thought the signs carried political implications. After more officials were summoned and many explanations were made, they were allowed to pass through customs.

"L&M is kindest to your taste," says James Arness. "There are two good reasons why I know you'll like 'em. They're truly low in tar, with more exciting taste than you'll find in any other cigarette."

LOW TAR: L&M's patented filtering process adds extra filter fibers electrostatically, crosswise to the stream of smoke . . . makes L&M truly low in tar.

MORE TASTE: L&M's rich mixture of slow burning tobaccos brings you more exciting taste than any other cigarette.

Big Green Takes Twin Bill From Concord

Majher, Meyers Lead Marshall Victories

By WALT LEONHART

Marshall's Big Green baseball team, getting some excellent pitching from Marion "Lefty" Majher and Berry Meyers, racked up victories numbers three and four last Friday afternoon at Inco Park when it downed Concord College in a doubleheader, 4-2 and 8-3.

The Big Green has lost only one encounter, that being a 7-5 defeat from the hands of the Camp Lejeune Marines.

Majher picked up his second straight win in the opener and in going the route gave up eight hits while striking out 11. Lefty was tight in the clutch and managed to get out of some close spots with a neat bit of hurling. Majher walked only four and was backed up by an eight-hit attack from his teammates. Lefty left eight Concord runners stranded on base.

Jack Pauley gave Marshall a big lift in the opener when he connected for the Big Green's first homer of the year. Pauley's round-tripper came in the fourth inning and was a tremendous blast that cleared the 340-foot mark in center field.

Marshall gave single runs in the second, third, fourth, and sixth inning for its margin of victory. Concord scored both of its markers in the fifth frame.

A brilliant relief job by Meyers saved the day for Marshall in the nightcap. Meyers took over in the second inning and pitched great ball the remainder of the way.

Walt Schoeder started the nightcap for the Green and struck out two men, walked one and gave up one run before Meyers took over. Berry gave up two hits and allowed but one earned run in the 4 and one-third innings he worked.

In the first game Pauley and shortstop Fred Conley paced the hitting attack for the Green with two hits apiece.

"Our pitching was only fair considering the weather," Coach Chambers said.

"The hitting looked good in pinches," Chambers added. "This time the boys hit when they had to."

"We did hit the ball well, but left too many men on base in the first game. But I think we did better in the second game."

Concord coach Kyle predicted a good year for Marshall.

"They don't seem to have the power that Marshall teams have had in the past," he said, "but they get enough timely base hits. I think they will be all right."

Marshall got back into action yesterday when it traveled to Concord for a return twin bill but the results were not known at Parthenon publishing time.

The Green gets its first taste of Mid-American Conference action over the weekend when it entertains Western Michigan, one of the big powers in the MAC. Marshall plays the Broncos in single games on Friday and Saturday afternoons at Inco Park.

In the second game the hitting was paced by outfielder Del Adkins and first baseman Alex Lawrence. Both came up with two hits.

Second baseman Bo Anderson, out the past two games with an injured ankle, sprained it again after getting a one-run single

Green-White Scrimmage Tomorrow

Weather permitting, Marshall football fans will get a chance to see new head coach Charlie Snyder's Big Green in action tomorrow. Coach Snyder has scheduled a "Green vs. White" intra-squad game tomorrow night at Vinson Memorial Stadium at 8 P.M.

The game will be of regulation length and will follow regulation rules. In case of bad weather, the game will be shifted to next Monday at 8 P.M.

Snyder has been impressed by the performance of his guards. Bill Gillespie, Don Trimboli, Ron Reynolds, Scott Jarrel, and Wilson Lathan, are all in the running for the two slots.

Two centers, Norman Mullins and Les Little, have been moved out to strengthen the tackle positions. Fred Lipscomb, Rucker Wickline, and Bill Legg are the top candidates for the center position.

Jim Maddox is holding down the quarterback slot, but is being given a run for his money by sophomore Tags Meredith.

Several sophomore backs have also caught the eye of Coach Snyder. Dixon Edwards, Malcolm Price, Emory Ross, Billy Joe Bruce, and Paul Adams are giving veterans Paul Miller, Dewey Ballengee and Bob Wilson plenty of competition.

Kalamazoo Downs Marshall Netters

Marshall dropped its opening tennis match to powerful Kalamazoo here Saturday, 8-0.

Marshall's fifth man, Jim Nutter was the only Big Green netter to win a match from the Michigan team. Nutter won the second set from John Brenne-man, 6-0, but Brenne-man won the other two sets, 6-3.

Bill Price, brother of former Marshall basketball star, Cebe Price, won an exhibition match from Kalamazoo's Don McClure. Price won 2-6, 6-2, and 6-3. The game was played after Marshall had foreited a match because of the illness of Dave Huffman.

Byrd Chosen For Pan-American

Leo Byrd, Marshall's All-American, has received another honor in being chosen to help represent the United States in the Pan-American Games at Chicago in August. Leo's selection distinguishes him as one of the top 14 players in the nation.

Although Leo only scored 22 points in the 3 trial games, he was selected for his brilliant defense and play-making.

Leo said that he was indebted to Coach Schaus (WVU & All-Star Coach) for giving him the chance to play. He also said that it is the greatest honor he has ever had.
