Tyson Named To Head English Dept. Here

Dr. A. Mervin Tyson, former head of the English department at Kutztown, Pa., State Teachers College, will officially begin his duties as English department head the second semester, January 28.

The appointment was made by interim action of the West Virginia Board of Education.

Dr. Jack R. Brown, professor of English, has been acting chairman of English since last September when Dr. Robert P. Sechler resigned to accept an appointment with the U. S. Information Agency.

Dr. Tyson holds a Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Pennsylvania and has done further graduate work at Harvard University.

His other degrees are Master of Arts in English from the University of Michigan and Bachelor of Arts in Latin and English from Gettysburg (Pa.) College.

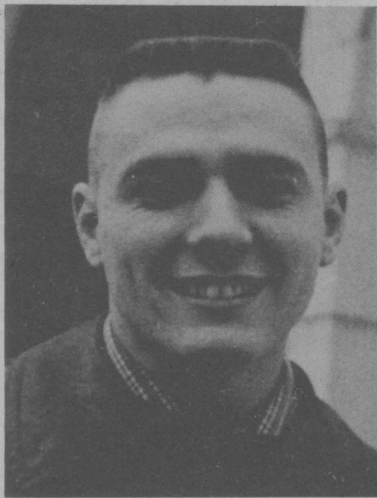

Dr. Tyson from 1931 to 1946 was a teacher and assistant chairman of the English department at William Penn Senior High School at York, Pa.

His position there was interrupted by World War II service in the Army Air Corps. Following military service, Dr. Tyson for the next six years was chairman of the English department at Rider College at Trenton, N. J. He moved to Kutztown in 1952 as professor of English and Department chairman.

At Kutztown, Dr. Tyson also served as college editor in charge of all official college publication. He supervised student teaching in English and was chairman of the faculty committee on academic standing. He also served as a consultant in English with the Lehigh Valley School Study Council.

Dr. Tyson has been a frequent participant in state and national conferences on college composition and the teaching of English. He holds membership in Phi Beta Kappa, Modern Language Association, College English Association, National Council Teachers of English, Kappa Phi Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi, Phi Sigma Iota and Alpha Tau Omega. He is married and has one daughter.

FORMER PROFESSOR DEAD

A former Marshall sociology professor, Dr. Paul Lasakow, teaching at the University of Alabama, was killed Sunday in a head-on auto collision near LaFayette, Indiana.

Dr. Lasakow was returning from a visit with his parents in northern Indiana over the Christmas holidays. He is survived by his wife. He had no children. The thirty-two-year old teacher left Huntington three years ago to teach at Alabama.

Two other persons were killed in the mishap.

Registration Counseling Set Today

By AL POSTI

The pre-registration counseling period will begin today, and will continue through until Thursday, January 17.

The pre-registration counseling period is part of the "streamlining" of the registration process. According to Luther E. Bledsoe, Registrar and Director of Admissions, the new process of registration will benefit the student because of the time that will be saved and at the same time will aid the registrar's office in the amount of work involved.

During the pre-registration counseling period, it is necessary for every student to consult with his advisor and have his trial schedule approved. Two copies of the trial schedules will be made. The one will be kept by the student for his convenience and the other is for the student's academic dean. In addition to this, as part of the renovation of registration, each student must choose two alternate courses on the trial schedule. The reason is that should a class that a student has chosen be closed, the student will take one of the alternate classes and thus avoid going through registration for another class. This again is a step to aid the student.

Having completed the counseling period, the student will be ready to begin the actual pre-registration. Pre-registration, however, will be conducted on January 16 and 17.

As part of the pre-registration counseling, the students are asked not to see their advisors between classes to approve their schedules, but to visit them during their regular office hours.

More information concerning registration will appear in The Parthenon, however, is necessary for the students to complete their counseling with their advisor before the actual registration.

Charlie Snyder Replaces Royer As Grid Coach

By STRAT DOUTHAT
Co-Sports Editor

As the new year rolls in and the old year woefully bids adieu, so goes it with Marshall College's head football coach.

Coach Herb Royer is leaving and Charley Snyder will start the new year as head football coach.

Snyder, a former Marshall great under Cam Henderson, was the choice of the Marshall Athletic Board to replace Royer, who resigned earlier. President Smith confirmed Snyder's appointment.

The Athletic Board received fifteen applications for the post but Snyder was the only applicant to be interviewed. He was in line for the coaching job

Dr. Whitelaw To Speak Tomorrow

Dr. John B. Whitelaw, chief for teacher education of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, will address the student body on the Convocation at 11:00 A. M. tomorrow morning. His subject will be "The Challenge of Soviet Education to Teacher Education in the U.S.A."

Tomorrow evening at 7:30 P. M., Dr. Whitelaw will appear on the Forum discussing "The Challenge of Soviet Education to America." A question and answer period will follow his talk.

While on campus tomorrow, Dr. Whitelaw will speak to several classes in education and will attend a luncheon at 12:00 noon in the cafeteria. The luncheon is sponsored by the Education Department.

Dr. Whitelaw was a member of a team of ten educators who were in the Soviet Union from May until June of the past year studying Soviet education in general, but particularly the ten-year school and teacher education program. The team made a 6,500 mile tour within the U.S.S.R. visiting Moscow, Kazan, Leningrad and several other of the larger Soviet cities.

The visit to the Soviet Union was made possible by an agreement between the governments of the United States and Russia on exchange of missions in cultural, technical and educational fields.

In addition to his present capacity with the government, Dr. Whitelaw has served as an educational and training consultant to the War Manpower Commission, the Department of State, and the Central Intelligence Agency.

Dr. Whitelaw has held teaching and administrative positions at Smith College, Northampton, Mass., The George Washington Teachers College, University of Chicago, and Johns Hopkins University.

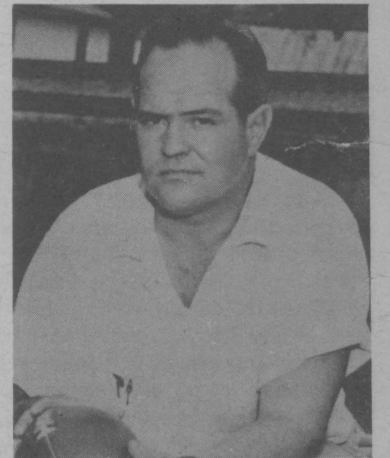

He is the author of numerous articles, concerning teacher education and related fields and has written "The School and the Community."

ator for two years.

She was married December 28 to Mr. Philip M. Brown, in the South Williamson Presbyterian Church. Mr. Brown attended college here.

The other two cheerleaders who married and lost their jobs were Mrs. William Stroud (formerly Miss Jackie Poling) and Mrs. William "Sonny" Allen (formerly Miss Carol Haddix). These women were chosen last spring and were married during the past summer. They were replaced by Betty Bick and Jennie Windsor, former alternates.

The present squad includes Misses Lowe, Bick, Windsor, Gloria Brothers, and Susan Daugherty.

CHARLES SNYDER
New Grid Boss

here twice before, the first when Henderson retired in 1949 and the second at the end of Pete Peterson's reign in 1952.

Marshall's new mentor played his college football under Cam Henderson in 1941 and 1942, then took time out to spend three years in the Navy before returning to Marshall to play in 1946 and 1947.

Snyder graduated in 1948 and took over the coaching job at Catlettsburg, Kentucky, High School, his alma mater. After nine winning seasons with the Wildcats, he was named head football coach at Lafayette High School in Lexington, Kentucky, where he enjoyed another winning year.

After his one year stint at Lexington, Snyder was appointed line coach for the freshman squad at the University of Kentucky last July.

When questioned about his eligibility for the position at Marshall, Snyder replied, "I have always been interested in returning to Marshall and would consider the position an honor."

When Herb Royer was told of Snyder's appointment, he wished Snyder luck and called him an excellent selection. Royer completed his playing career at Marshall a few years before Snyder came to Marshall.

Snyder said that he knew all the coaching staff at Marshall and if the matter can be worked out to satisfy all concerned he would be happy to have them stay on the job. Spike Underwood, Bill Hillen, Bill Chambers and Ed Prelaz compose the Marshall staff.

The new Big Green boss is a strict disciple of the late Cam Henderson in the fundamental and condition departments.

Special Cheerleader Tryouts Tomorrow In Lab School Gym

"Wedding bells have broken up that old gang of mine" might well be the theme song for the cheer-leading squad.

Since married women were prohibited to be cheerleaders last year, three women have gone down the aisle and right out of the pep picture.

Now the squad is one member under its regular number of six and has also run out of alternates to replace the married ex-cheerleaders. This occurred when head cheerleader Barbara Nell Varney was married over the Christmas holidays.

So a special tryout to find replacements is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at 4 P.M. in the Marshall High School gymnasium.

The five remaining varsity cheerleaders will give a cheering demonstration to start the tryout. The candidates will be given a chance to show their pep. They will be graded on ability to jump, showmanship, gymnastic ability, and ability to work with a group.

A five-member committee will judge the tryouts. The committee includes Dean of Women Lillian H. Buskirk; Miss Ruth Robinson, head of women's physical education department; student body president Asa Meadows; Mrs. Philip M. Brown (formerly Miss Varney), former head cheerleader; Anne Durkin, chairman of cheerleading commission.

One regular cheerleader and two alternates will be chosen tomorrow. These cheerleaders will hold their positions until this spring when next year's squad will be chosen in a more lengthy tryout. Alternates chosen tomorrow will be eligible to take over regular cheerleading position if any occur before this spring.

No first semester freshmen may try out; all other classifications are eligible. Also, candidates must have a 2.0 academic average, be full-time students, and be in good physical condition.

Men are encouraged to turn out for the tryouts. As cheerleader Bev Lowe, Williamson junior, puts it, "It seems a crowd will often respond better for a male cheerleader. It would help us if more men would try out."

Maybe more men would help ease the marriage problem, although a married man would not be eligible for the positions, as the rules deny all married students.

The ex-Miss Varney had been a cheerleader for three years here and four years in high school. She is also a member of Alpha Xi Delta social sorority, Fagus, Who's Who, Kappa Omicron Phi home economics honorary, and has been a student sen-

Presbyterian Fellowship Maps Spring Program

By JUDY STEVENS

The Community Club, a branch of Westminster Fellowship, an organization for Presbyterian college students, is making plans to expand its current program in the early spring.

A group of approximately ten underprivileged boys from ages twelve to sixteen meet with college student leaders at the First Presbyterian Church every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon and on Saturday mornings. At the present, this is a craft and Christian training program.

Future plans, hope to include girls in the program and lower the age level to ten years. Under the new program the group will participate in public service activities and operate on a big brother-little brother and big sister-little sister basis with the college students.

"The Community Club invites for membership not necessarily under-privileged children from the slum areas of Huntington, but children from lower class urban areas where the family situation may be unpleasant," explained Gene Andrews, Elkins senior, chairman of the project.

Although the First Presbyterian Church supplies financial help, the college students of Westminster Fellowship are undertaking projects such as refinishing bicy-

20 Schools Swap Books With C-J

By BOB VACHERESSE

The 1959 Chief Justice will exchange yearbooks with 20 colleges and universities which will be of great interest to the staff.

Many of the schools have requested copies of the '58 book and will receive copies of the 1959 C.J. as well.

The exchange of yearbooks between schools allows each school to see variety in styles and ideas. This serves to supplement ideas and theories of future yearbook staffs.

The Chief Justice staff considers this a great aid to the editor and the staff in arranging picture and selecting color and style for the annual. Another reason is the sense of competition among schools for outstanding yearbooks.

The following schools will exchange books with Marshall this year: Kent State University, University of Wisconsin, West Virginia University, Baylor University, Boston University, Arizona cles to facilitate the financial burden.

Rev. Lander Beal, Marshall's religious counselor, will speak to the Student Christian Association at 6:30 P.M. in the Science Hall Auditorium, using the topic "Changing Values in College," which will be based upon a book of the same title. The book reports the results of a political science professor's survey of American colleges. The book seeks to answer such questions as "Does what you study determine your values?" "Does college break or alter the mold of students' values?" "Do students relate practical social science courses to their religious beliefs?"

Sharon Woods, Mullens sophomore, is program chairman for January.

Parthenon Reports

It's been a long time since we've visited with the hard working, labor loving Student Senate and their wonderful work. So last Monday we dropped by the Student Government office to peer into their star studded careers as dedicated, unselfish, conscientious, young public servants. The picture of their personal folders at left is visual proof of their strenuous efforts, possible only after many trying hours of personal sacrifice and political devotion to their beloved constituents.

Thus seen, you may assume that we of The Parthenon are proud in presenting some of the best work that has come out of the Senate in years.

It is flattering that the honorable senators keep constant reminders before them to prompt their sincerity and imbue their motivations with divine right, as their personal senator folders tell us beyond reproach. We are pleased to conclude that apparently none of our honorable senators have missed their callings.

Green, Ohio Meet In MAC Tilt Tonight

Bobcats Should Be Rated With Best Of Them--Rivlin

By WALT LEONHART
Co-Sports Editor

Marshall's Big Green, after a 15-day layoff, gets back into action tonight at Memorial Field House when it tangles with the Bobcats of Ohio University. Game time is set for 8:15.

A preliminary contest is scheduled at 6:15 with Coach Mike Josephs sending his freshman charges against Owens-Illinois.

Tonight's game is a Mid-American Conference tilt. So far this season Marshall has met two MAC foes. The Big Green has defeated Western Michigan in Kalamazoo and lost to Miami at Miami. The game will be Ohio's first taste of MAC action.

Before the season started the Bobcats were rated only a dark-horse in the Mid-American. But coach Jule Rivlin rates them higher and has much respect for coach Jim Snyder's charges.

"Before the season started the coaches in the conference along with the writers and broadcasters figured Ohio was no better than a dark-horse," Rivlin said. "And, it was a pretty fair appraisal. But now, after eight games, it's a different story. Ohio must be rated right up there with Toledo, Bowling Green and Miami.

Coach Rivlin, who made the above statement last week before Ohio lost to Wittenberg College, still doesn't change his opinion about the Bobcats. And why should he. Wittenberg has been the only team this season to knock off Toledo.

The Big Green, sporting a 5-4 record, started drilling again last Friday after Rivlin gave his boys a much-needed rest over the holidays.

Discussing Ohio further, Rivlin said:

"Look, they're a smart ball club. They don't make mistakes. And, their offensive rebounding is the best in the league."

Coach Rivlin also pointed out that the Bobcats have some real good ball players.

Bob Anderson, 5-10½ senior guard, drew most of the praise from the Marshall mentor. Rivlin said Anderson is a very improved player "who supplies the spark and sets up the attack."

Rivlin also pointed out that a young sophomore named Bunky Adams is a promising prospect. Adams is the second leading scorer on the team and last year as a freshman tallied 378 points in 17 games.

Marshall's opponent tonight goes into the game fresh from a holiday tournament championship. The tournament was held at Owensboro, Kentucky, and is called the All-American City Tournament. The championship was Ohio's second straight at Owensboro. However, Ohio wasn't the only Marshall opponent to win a holiday tournament.

Little Green Wins Two

Coach Mike Josephs' Little Green basketball team emerged victorious in its two games played over the holidays.

In a preliminary to the College of Pacific game on the 18th of December, the yearlings downed Pikeville 99-59, and in a preliminary to the Seattle contest on the 22nd, Josephs' crew tripped Dick's Cleaners 93-77.

In the contest with Dick's, the Little Green trailed at halftime 42-49 but went ahead after eight minutes of the second half, 61-60. From there on the losers just couldn't keep pace. Three Marshall men, Charles Moore, Jim Gallion, and big Bob Burgess all scored 20 or more points.

In the Pikeville game, Big Bob Burgess got the Little Green back on the right track with a 99-59 triumph over the Pikeville College freshmen.

It was the highest scoring of the season for the Marshall frosh, but in their five games to date they have scored 90 or more points in four of them. The only time they didn't hit 90 was a 64-67 losing effort to the Cincinnati freshmen.

By JOHN MURPHY

Marshall students are serving as design models for "one of the nation's most exclusive manufacturers." Corbin Ltd., which has its manufacturing plant located in Huntington and its main offices on Fifth Avenue in New York, are using many students to "try-out" their new designs in trousers, shorts and slacks before they are put on the market.

"Marshall students help us physically by wearing the new samples we have created on paper and letting us see how they appear when finished and worn," explained Howard J. Corbin.

Both males and females are being used in the modeling program. "We use the students because they usually have the better figures, being of an average size, and they often wear our type of clothing, having good ideas on how, where, and when they might wear them," said Corbin.

At the present time, the students are modeling Spring clothes some of which are being used now for Winter cruises. Advertisements for these clothes are now being published in several national magazines such as "Esquire," "The New Yorker," "Sports Illustrated," "Holiday," "Glamour," and other fashion magazines.
