A Note From The Chair...

The eyes of the nation will be on central Kentucky during the last week-end of March. Interest in the Appalachian Studies Conference in Berea will be high, and we expect some 400 to attend our 8th Annual Conference. And there will be many thousands attending the N.C.A.A. Final Four Tournament in Lexington. Few of you will be following the fortunes of your favorite basketball team that far, but you will all need to get your reservations in early in order to avoid disappointments.

Anne Campbell and your Program Committee have met, and efficiently developed a program around the general theme, "The Impact of Institutions on Appalachia." When you receive your copy of the program, you will see what I mean about the strength of the papers accepted. Though not all parts of the "Appalachian Conversation" are equally represented, the breadth of interest shown in the papers accepted is remarkable. Papers focussing on education, schools and various aspects of Appalachian literature, seemed particularly strong.

As a historian I was a bit disappointed that more papers were not submitted probing various periods and problems that are most troublesome in understanding the Appalachian past. I remember only one paper concerning the pioneer period of settlement, and none concerning the Indian (especially Cherokee) way of life that pioneer Euro-Appalachians supplanted in the early 19th century. The role of slavery in Appalachia is still, outside a few articles, a largely unexplored area, as is the nature of antislavery agitation in the region. Ron Eller and others have raised certain questions concerning social groupings in the mountains, and the way that sympathy for slavery and the Confederacy seems to be connected with those who were "progressives" and championing modernization and industrialization following the Civil War.

Although the papers submitted showed a great deal of interest in Social Science modeling and comparisons with other mining areas throughout the world, there were no papers that I recall that probed the reason for the continuing conservatism and strong identification with the Republican Party as a political vehicle in a region suffering from high unemployment and endemic economic problems. So many unanswered questions continue to baffle students of the region that we have a sufficient rationale for this and many future Appalachian Studies Conferences.

See you in Berea on March 29 to 31!

APPALINK readers will be receiving information regarding the upcoming Appalachian Studies Conference at Berea under separate cover. If you have not received your conference program and registration forms, they are available from: The Appalachian Consortium, Inc., University Hall, Appalachian State University, Boone, NC 28608. The following information concerning lodging in the Berea area has been provided by the Appalachian Center at Berea College:

Hotel/Motel Registration for the Conference - Following is a list of accommodations in Berea. You are expected to make your own reservations. However, we have reserved blocks of rooms at Boone Tavern Hotel, Prince Royal Motel, Holiday Motel, Mountain View Motel and Hart's Motel. Please use the form below to register so that the managers will know to put you in the rooms that are reserved. If you telephone for a reservation, be sure to state that you are attending the Appalachian Studies Conference. Please note that reservations are on a first-come first-served basis. Also note that this is NCAA Finals week-end in Lexington and rooms will be scarce. Our block reservations will be held only through March 10. THEREFORE, MAKE YOUR RESERVATIONS AT ONCE or you may not be assured a room.

We will try to clear a few dormitory rooms, and we have arranged a few rooms through the Emmaus Center in Berea and the Family Life Center in Renfro Valley of the Christian Appalachian Project for students and other persons of limited means. If you need such accommodations, get in touch with the Appalachian Center, College Box 2336, Berea, KY 40404, (606) 986-9341, ext. 453.

OPPORTUNITIES AT ARROWMONT - "Friends of Arrowmont" scholarships up to $250.00 are available for summer 1985 one- and two-week workshops scheduled June 3-August 16. Applicants should submit (1) a resume, (2) a letter of application citing financial need and how you perceive the benefits of the program to you, and (3) three letters of reference sent directly to Arrowmont. Deadline is April 1, 1985.

Also available are assistantships for the eleven weeks of workshops scheduled June 3 to August 16, 1985. Assistantships are available for six-week and five-week periods with a choice of two dates: June 1-July 13, or July 13-August 18. Applicants should have at least four years of completed course work in one specific medium or equivalent practical or professional experience. Applicants should send (1) a completed application, (2) three current reference statements, and (3) slides of most recent work. Deadline for this program is also April 1, 1985. For further information, contact: Clare Verstegen, Program Coordinator, Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts, P. O. Box 567, Gatlinburg, TN 37738 or call (615) 436-5860.

THE 1985 AUGUSTA WORKSHOP SUMMER SESSION - The workshop is presented by the Augusta Heritage Arts Workshop of Davis & Elkins College and will be held July 11 through August 18. Over 70 traditional arts classes--from White Oak Basketry to a week-long immersion in to Scottish Music--are planned, complemented by evening roundtable talks on traditional culture, weekly square dances, and concerts of traditional music. Highlights of the summer will include Bluegrass Week, centered on the music of the Carter family, and a special Vocal Week class, focusing on songs of southern labor, and coordinated by songwriter/activist Si Kahn. A detailed brochure is available from the Augusta Heritage Arts Workshop, Davis & Elkins College, Elkins, West Virginia 26241. (304) 636-1903.

MOREHEAD STATE UNIVERSITY'S NINTH ANNUAL APPALACHIAN CELEBRATION - June 24-29, 1985, in Morehead, Kentucky. Traditional mountain music, dance, food and crafts will be featured during the weeklong Celebration while well-known Appalachian authors and scholars gather for workshops and meetings. Scholar-in Residence Cratis D. Williams of Boone, NC, will lecture throughout the week. The Jesse Stuart Symposium, the meeting of the Kentucky Heritage Quilt Society and bus tours of Eastern Kentucky add to the week of learning and recreation. Low cost housing is offered in MSU residence halls. For complete information, contact the Appalachian Development Center, Morehead State University, Morehead, KY 40351, or phone (606) 783-2077.

"WORKING LIVES" DOCUMENTARY RADIO SERIES - Production underway. . . release scheduled for February 1985. A series of 13 half-hour radio programs, "WORKING LIVES" explores 75 years of black working-class history and culture in the South. In these programs some 100 coal and iron ore miners, steelworkers, sharecroppers, union organizers, domestic workers, teachers, ministers, lawyers, business proprietors, and others recorded in oral history interviews over the last two years vividly recall the decades prior to the 1960s. For further information about the "WORKING LIVES" radio series, contact: Brenda McCallum, Archive of American Minority Cultures, The University of Alabama, P. O. Box S, University, AL 35486. Telephone (205) 348-5512.

THE COMMISSION ON RELIGION IN APPALACHIA commissioned Dr. Richard Couto to compile a report on trends and issues in the Appalachian region. Couto is Senior Research Associate at the Vanderbilt Institute for Public Policy Studies, and Director of the school's Center for Health Services. Jamie Harris, CORA'S Communications Director, condensed Couto's 25,000 word manuscript into a 4,000 word article for the Spring issue of The CORAspondent. A copy of Couto's report is available from CORA, P. O. Box 10867, Knoxville, TN 37939, for $10.00 plus postage.

APPALACHIAN HERITAGE has been moved from Hindman, Kentucky and is now being sponsored by the Appalachian Center and Hutchins Library of Berea College, Berea, KY. Sidney Saylor Farr succeeds Albert Stewart as editor of the quarterly magazine. The publication is a regional journal of Appalachian literature and culture. Scholarly articles, fiction, poetry, book reviews, photographs, drawings and other kinds of illustrations from writers and artists in the region will be welcome. Send them with a self-addressed stamped envelope to: Ms. Sidney Farr, Appalachian Heritage, Berea College, Berea, KY 40404.

APPALACHIAN BOOKSTORE OPENS IN BEREA - There is now a bookstore open which specializes exclusively in Appalachian books! George Brosi who has over five years experience selling Appalachian books and who has been involved in Appalachian Studies since he helped organize the 1971 Appalachian Studies Conference at Clinch Valley College, opened the storefront after selling mountain books from his home and at events for more than two years. Thirteen catalogs and thirty book lists of Appalachian books have been compiled and mailed since Brosi started the business in 1983. Although they are only mailed to regular customers, sample copies are sent upon request. The address is George Brosi, Bookseller, 123 Walnut Street, Berea, KY 40403. The store phone is (606) 986-1663 and home phone (606) 986-3262. The store is open by chance and by appointment.

THE NATIVES OF THE AMERICAS - The Thomas Jefferson Forum, D.C., has prepared a model course on the humanities of the Natives of the Americas. This course is unique not only because it systematically surveys the native American traditions in terms of the classical humanities but also in its scope which includes all the major traditions of the native Americans in its focus on the themes common to all these varied traditions. The Forum also provides information on qualified Native American speakers on all aspects of their traditions in the various areas of the classical humanities. We have resumes of 93 Native Americans having a Ph.D. For further information, contact: Mary C. Enevoldsen, Director, Thomas Jefferson Forum, D.C., 2805 Woodley Road, N.W., Washington, DC 20008 (202) 462-7561.

CALL FOR PAPERS/PRESENTATIONS

CALL FOR PAPERS - "FOLKLIFE AND THE PUBLIC SECTOR," - "Folklife and the Public Sector," a national conference to be held at Western Kentucky University, will focus on the dual themes of assessment and prognosis. Featuring a keynote address by Archie Green, the meeting is based on the premise that the public sector movement among folklorists merits a thoughtful, evaluative conference which pushes beyond the more immediate "nuts and bolts" concerns usually addressed at such gatherings. Papers, panels, and discussants which address the two themes and related issues are sought. A university press has expressed interest in an anthology of papers from the conference.
Full information will be sent upon request. Please send abstracts and requests for information to Burt Feintuch, Programs in Folk Studies/MLIS, Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green, Kentucky 42101 (502) 745-2401.

CALL FOR PAPERS - THE THIRD CONFERENCE ON APPALACHIAN GEOGRAPHY will be held at Pipestem State Park, a modern resort in Southern West Virginia, on March 15, 16, 1986. Papers, proposals for special sessions and media presentations are welcomed. There will be sessions for student papers. All papers and presentations must be related to the geography of the Appalachian mountains. The deadline for submission of title of papers and abstract is September 15, 1985. For information write: R. T. Hill, Geography Department, Concord College, Athens, WV 24712. Telephone: (304) 384-3115, Ext. 250.

CALL FOR PRESENTATIONS - BLUE RIDGE PARKWAY 50TH ANNIVERSARY CONFERENCE, September 9-11, 1985. The Appalachian Consortium invites Abstracts of Presentations to celebrate fifty years existence of the Blue Ridge Parkway. The Abstracts can reflect a diversity in both theme and format. You are invited to participate through presentations of papers, oral history, slide/tape programs, photographic exhibits, and reports of research in progress. Suggested presentation topics include, but are not limited to: History, Landscape Architecture, Economics, Law/Ethics, Folklore, Planning and Design, Recreation, Oral History, Literature, Values, Travel and Tourism, Land Use/Management/ Acquisition, Engineering, Art, The Future, Photography. For additional information, contact Dr. Barry Buxton, Appalachian Consortium, Appalachian State University, University Hall, Boone, NC 28608.

AMY FOUNDATION'S FIRST ANNUAL WRITING AWARDS - We are searching for creative, skillful writing that presents in a sensitive, thought-provoking manner, God's position on issues that affect the world today. Issues must be of public interest or concern and be relevant, timely and deserving of national attention. To be eligible for the award, submitted articles must be published in the secular media. In addition to the $10,000 first prize, a $5,000 second prize will be awarded, a $2,500 third prize, $1,500 fourth prize and $1,000 fifth prize. Articles and/or inquiries may be submitted to: The Amy Foundation, Writing Awards, P.O. Box 16091, Lansing, MI 48901.

CALL FOR PAPERS - FOURTH ANNUAL NEW RIVER SYMPOSIUM - The New River Gorge National River, National Park Service, is sponsoring the fourth annual New River Symposium, scheduled for April 11, 12, 13, 1985. The three-day symposium will be held at Pipestem State Park, Pipestem, West Virginia. The multi-disciplinary symposium is open to all those with a professional or avocational interest in the New River, from its North Carolina headwaters down to its mouth in West Virginia. Papers for the symposium are being sought in natural history, folklore, geology, history, archaeology, geography and other sciences, social sciences and humanities. All papers should share the common theme of treating some aspect of the New River Valley, past or present, including its natural, physical and/or human environments, or the interrelation of these. Proposals for sessions and panel discussions are also sought. For further information contact: William E. Cox, National Park Service, New River Gorge National River, P.O. Drawer V, Oak Hill, West Virginia 25901; telephone (304) 465-0508.

GRADUATE ASSISTANTSHIPS IN FOLKLORE 1985-1986 - The Curriculum in Folklore of the University of North Carolina will have assistantships in the coming academic year for students entering its Master of Arts program. Many of these assistantships will offer work experience in the John Edwards Memorial Collection and other strong archival holdings. We would welcome applications from your students. The deadline is February 15. For catalogue and application form write: Graduate Admissions Office, 200 Bynum Hall, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, NC 27514.

HEADWATERS, APPALSHOP'S TELEVISION SERIES about mountain culture and concerns, has begun distribution to public television stations in our region. Kentucky Educational Television has contracted with us for seven shows this first season. Blue Ridge Public Television, serving southwest Virginia, and WSWP, the Beckley West Virginia station, plan to broadcast these programs this spring. WSJK of Sneedville has expressed interest in the series. We plan to continue our use of cable systems, and view this experiment as a model for community programming on PBS. We hope in the future to be able to say that we penetrate to homes throughout Appalachia with a kind of programming that allows mountain people to speak with their own voice. The seven shows are: "A Tribute to Carl Perkins," "Women's Miners Conference," "Five Conversations About Violence," "Frontier Nursing," "Dance Residency," Yellow Creek, Kentucky," "Sarah Bailey." For further information contact: Appalshop, 743, Whitesburg, KY 41858. Series runs 1/8-2/26, Tuesdays, 7:30 p.m. on KET.
