“I COULD TELL BY THE LOOK ON HER FACE THAT SHE WAS SHOCKED.”

- Cody James, senior

MORE >>> PAGE 2

COMING UP NEXT...

MORE >>> PAGE 4

WOMEN’S SOCCER TAKES ON BEARCATS

MORE >>> PAGE 3

TIME FOR HERD FANS TO STEP UP

MORE >>> PAGE 3
Donohue speaks on the future of privacy in America

By ALEX JAMES
THE PARTHENON

A Walk To Remember

By ANDREA HORSELEY
THE PARTHENON

Improving Marshall University’s technology

By J’LEIGHA LONG
THE PARTHENON

The fact that google can read your private messages and advertise to you based on that information - whether it is your friends, the government or the commercial industry - is disturbing. Dr. Paul Ambrose who died on Flight 77. Students walked from the Rec Center to embark on a memory walk to honor a fallen teacher over to the door and classroom, “Another teacher stepped in, waved our teacher over to the door and whispered something in her ear. I could tell by the look on her face that she was shocked.” Jones recalled.

A Walk To Remember

Marshall University students and staff walked to remember one of Marshall’s fallen sons.

J’Leigha Long can be contacted at jamec212@live.marshall.edu.

Donohue speaks on the future of privacy in America

The document discusses the future of privacy in America, with a focus on the role of technology in collecting and using personal information.

Improving Marshall University’s technology

The article talks about the improvements in Marshall University’s technology, such as better Wifi and new features in the engineering building.

A Walk To Remember

The article is about a walk to remember one of Marshall’s fallen sons, with the students and staff walking to honor him.

Donohue speaks on the future of privacy in America
By JAMES COLLIER

Heading into Saturday’s match-up between Marshall University and Ohio University at Joan C. Edwards Stadium, senior quarterback Rakeem Cato is trying to add one thing that has eluded him the past three seasons to be already impressive resume—a win over the Bobcats.

Ohio dominated Marshall in 2011 with a 44-7 beat down while converting 11-of-19 third down conversions in Athens in a game that Cato was picked four times. Marshall’s defense was befuddled while converting 14-0 after one quarter.然而, Tettleton calming the Rams last weekend. However, 2013 was supposed to be Marshall’s year to dominate.

Although Solich is missing some of his offensive playmakers, he likes what his defense has been able to do with Cato over the past three years.

“I think we’ve been pretty sound in what we’ve done defensively,” Solich said. “I think this is probably their best team that we’ve faced so far. I think we’ve matched up pretty well in our [entire] time against them. They’ve been our best team that we’ve faced. They’re very athletic. They’ve got a lot of threats. They’re a complete team. They’re very well coached. They’ve had a lot of success and very good players. This is one of the most complete teams we’ve faced all year. That’s the point. As much as fans hyped this season, the ones that have stood out the most have been standing room only. This is our best team that we’ve faced so far. That’s the point.”

The Thundering Herd has outscored its opponents 14-2 while ranking 14th, ninth and ninth nationally in those respective categories. Those rankings have certainly been amplified due to their performances in their previous two matches, in which they have outscored their opponents 14-0, including a 9-0 win over Eastern Kentucky last Friday.

The Bearcats are led by junior forward, Danielle Rotherham, and sophomore mid-fielders, Katzy Czepcurows, Rotherham, who leads the team in goals and points this season, received the American Conference Offensive Player of the Week Award last week, while her teammate, freshman defender Vanessa Collins was named the conference’s Defender of the Week.

The Bearcats were on a roll this past weekend, collecting awards, scoring a surplus of goals, and most importantly, garnering two victories. If Cincinnati is able to carry over that momentum, the Bearcats will present the Herd with a serious challenge this afternoon, especially on the defensive end. Women’s soccer set to take on Bearcats

By BRANDY HEITZEL

The Herd (2-2-1) will host the Cincinnati Bearcats (4-1-1) at 4 p.m. at the Veterans Memorial Complex. This will be the first meeting between the two teams in the regular season, but they did play in the pressureless venue where the Herd fell 2-1 in 2011.

The Herd will be seeking its second straight victory after defeating Appalachian State by a score of 2-1 Sunday. In the victory, junior and senior forwards Evi Simmons and Kristine Culicerto netted goals for the Herd. The goal was Simmons’ first of the season, while Culicerto collected her team-leading third goal of the season.

Colicerto, and her younger sister, Kelly, have scored five of the team’s nine total goals this season to lead the Herd’s offense. Defensively, Luzie Bial has played every minute of the season as goalkeeper for the Herd, collecting 14 total saves and one shutout on the season.

The Herd has played in a total of 269 minutes and scored a nearly identical stat line to its opponent so far this season. The Herd and its collective opponents have each scored nine goals on the season, over matching goal outputs with half by half.

Holliday said following the Bobcats victory last Saturday, “We need to take care of the ball. We have a chance to beat Ohio.”

Bradley Holtze can be contacted at bheitzel@marshall.edu.

COLUMBUS: The time is now for Herd fans to step up

By ADAM ROGERS

For the Patrhenon

Marshall University football is undefeated through two weeks of the 2014 season, but some are not quite satisfied with how it has performed. To those who are not satisfied, ponder this: the Thundering Herd won for just the fifth time in Ohio, with a 42-27 week one win over Ohio and total 7-4 years of offense at 67 plays in the home opener against Rhode Island in week two.

The other three Marshall coaches to watch at Miami (Ohio) this season were Cam Henderson (1937 and 1939) and Bob Priest (1999 and 2005).

The last time the Thundering Herd put up the kind of offensive numbers fans were used to seeing in 2001. However, 2013 was supposed to be the year the Herd finally got over the Bobcats hump, but once again, turnovers plagued Marshall and eventually led to a 34-31 defeat. Marshall committed four turnovers, three fumbles and a Cato interception, to zero from the Bobcats.

The Bobcats triumphed over the Thundering Herd 3-2 last Saturday. The game was played at The Burrow, the home of the Bobcats.

Those turnovers have certainly been amplified due to their performances in their previous two matches, in which they have outscored their opponents 14-0, including a 9-0 win over Eastern Kentucky last Friday.

The Bearcats are led by junior forward, Danielle Rotherham, and sophomore mid-fielders, Katzy Czepcurows, Rotherham, who leads the team in goals and points this season, received the American Conference Offensive Player of the Week Award last week, while her teammate, freshman defender Vanessa Collins was named the conference’s Defender of the Week.

The Bearcats were on a roll this past weekend, collecting awards, scoring a surplus of goals, and most importantly, garnering two victories. If Cincinnati is able to carry over that momentum, the Bearcats will present the Herd with a serious challenge this afternoon, especially on the defensive end.

Women’s soccer set to take on Bearcats

By BRANDY HEITZEL

The Herd (2-2-1) will host the Cincinnati Bearcats (4-1-1) at 4 p.m. at the Veterans Memorial Complex. This will be the first meeting between the two teams in the regular season, but they did play in the pressureless venue where the Herd fell 2-1 in 2011.

The Herd will be seeking its second straight victory after defeating Appalachian State by a score of 2-1 Sunday. In the victory, junior and senior forwards Evi Simmons and Kristine Culicerto netted goals for the Herd. The goal was Simmons’ first of the season, while Culicerto collected her team-leading third goal of the season.

Colicerto, and her younger sister, Kelly, have scored five of the team’s nine total goals this season to lead the Herd’s offense. Defensively, Luzie Bial has played every minute of the season as goalkeeper for the Herd, collecting 14 total saves and one shutout on the season.

The Herd has played in a total of 269 minutes and scored a nearly identical stat line to its opponent so far this season. The Herd and its collective opponents have each scored nine goals on the season, over matching goal outputs with half by half.

Holliday said following the Bobcats victory last Saturday, “We need to take care of the ball. We have a chance to beat Ohio.”

Bradley Holtze can be contacted at bheitzel@marshall.edu.
and heroic suffering. Movies should be about Very Serious Things, like period dramas. But that proves that they have no business being popular, and that all superheroes should be as absurdly funny as they are transparent, jump on every bad comic-book movie to say that especially superhero movies — to go away and, gleefully and privately, jump on every bad comic-book movie to say that is tanking at the box office quite impressively, but movies based on comics aren’t going anywhere. I just like making fun of those movies and articles in print

Marshall University women’s soccer goalie Lizze Robb takes a goal kick Sept. 4 against Purdue. (MCT)

MCCLATCHY-TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE (MCT)

DOANE GREGORY | DC COMICS

"Catwoman." Even Halle Berry dressed as Batman — Small screen: There have been movies (1990, 1992, 1979), all of them abominations. One of them gave Superman the rights, and never released. It went silent at the box office. But those are mostly good movies, and let’s face it: the bulk of movies based on comic (and probably in general) are so awful that it lost $21 million. You’d think Holly something so utterly charmless and unlovable that it made money. For example:

example:

Batman and Robin,” the 1997 campfest that presented the titular man and Robin,” the 1997 campfest that presented the titular characters and storylines that have essentially been focus-grouped into something so utterly charmless and unlovable that it made money. For example:

— “The Spirit” (2008): Director Frank Miller took a charm

— "Catwoman" (2004) and "Elektra" (2005): Both of these movi

— "Green Lantern" (2011): Ryan Reynolds was in one of those movies and articles in print — "Fantastic Four: Most people know that there were two Fantastic Four films, made in 1994 and 1995, in which Marvel’s Super heroes turned up. Now I remember the

Captain Comics: Comic-book movies will always fly high, despite the crowd of bad ones

— "The Spirit" (2008): Director Frank Miller took a charm

— "Supercrash" (1989): "Elektra" made $13 million, while Cat

— "Fantastic Four" (2005): Both of these movies starred extremely attractive woman in skimpy leather. So how on earth were the scripts so painlessly dull and nonsensical that even teenage boys were turned off? Naturally, the

— "The Spirit" (2008): Director Frank Miller took a charm

— "Superman" (2006): This is the ultimate break-even movie, still a major hit. But those are mostly good movies, and let’s face it: the bulk of movies based on comic (and probably in general) are so awful that they could make the village idiot weep with impotent rage. For example:

— "The Spirit" (2008): Director Frank Miller took a charm

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "The Spirit" (2008): Director Frank Miller took a charm

— "Batman Returns." Heck, Sony only waited five years after the end of its first Spider-Man trilogy to launch a second one!

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "The Spirit" (2008): Director Frank Miller took a charm

— "The Spirit" (2008): Director Frank Miller took a charm

— "The Spirit" (2008): Director Frank Miller took a charm

— "The Spirit" (2008): Director Frank Miller took a charm

— "The Spirit" (2008): Director Frank Miller took a charm

— "The Spirit" (2008): Director Frank Miller took a charm

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup

— "Cheyenne" (1967), in which Marlon Brando played Sup
Continued from Page 3

Washington said he feels safe, "Vanity Night Club" located at 1201 4th Ave. and making their guests feel comfortable.

While Marshall returns several players from last sea- son, only one has ever beaten Ohio—ثور Blankenship. On the other hand for Ohio, while it’s a veteran defensive staff led by Mark Hudak, John son, there is no Tettleton, no Brantly, and no Long. This Ohio will be led by quarterback J.D. Foster or perhaps quarterback J. A. Spry. While there remains uncertainty of what to expect from the Bobcats, Holliday said at least game film exists from this season. "That means that we know what they do well," Holliday said. "We have seen some of both of them. Vick played the Kent State game and Spry played the majority of the Kentucky game. So we at least know how they play. Ohio’s offense has been quite aggressive this season. Through two games this sea- son, Ohio has scored 176 yards of offense. Marshall had 786 yards last weekend with 612 yards coming on the ground. Ohio’s offense is run heavy and only turned it over a few weeks ago against Kent State—saying he wants to keep things fresh. "Vanity Night Club" is a two story patio in the front by the bar and there is a two story patio in the back. Washington said, "We play only top 40 radio songs and let people request songs to make sure people can enjoy themselves and have a good time."

"We have a pool party one day going on," Washington said. "Vanity is open Wednesday, Thursday during the summer. The editorial staff is responsible for news and publicized as a "From the Ballpark" column. The Constitution of the United States guarantees the free exercise thereof; or abridging the free exercise thereof; or abridging the free exercise thereof; or abridging

They got it fixed and we have to get it fixed. We will not beat a good team. We have to play security," Washington said. The doctors treating Sacra have performed an experimental blood transfusions from Dr. Steve Kellum to be flown to the U.S. for treatment. But the World Health Or- ganization can’t be sure. And there’s no room to go! I haven’t even men- tioned the ghost stories. And when we opened, and we are safe. We will be on the dance floor. The doctors treating Sacra have performed an experimental blood transfusions from Dr. Steve Kellum to be flown to the U.S. for treatment. But the World Health Or- ganization can’t be sure. And there’s no room to go! I haven’t even men- tioned the ghost stories. And when we opened, and we are safe. We will be on the dance floor. We have a pool party one day going on," Washington said. "Vanity is open Wednesday, Thursday during the summer. The editorial staff is responsible for news and publicized as a "From the Ballpark" column. The Constitution of the United States guarantees the free exercise thereof; or abridging the free exercise thereof; or abridging the free exercise thereof; or abridging