4-6-2015

The Parthenon, April 6 2015

Codi Mohr
Parthenon@marshall.edu

Follow this and additional works at: http://mds.marshall.edu/parthenon

Recommended Citation
http://mds.marshall.edu/parthenon/479

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the University Archives at Marshall Digital Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Parthenon by an authorized administrator of Marshall Digital Scholar. For more information, please contact zhangj@marshall.edu.
INSIDE:
NEWS, 2
> OLGA KRAYERMAN RECITAL
> BIKE RENTALS
> ROLLING STONE RETRACTION

SEVEN IN A ROW FOR HERD SOFTBALL

OPINION, 4
> NIPPLES
> #MEGANMUSICMONDAY

LIFE!, 5
> HUNTINGTON
> EDITORIAL JAMS

By MALCOLM WALTON

Blessing of the Hands to inspire future nurses

Blessing of the Hands to inspire future nurses

By ALLISON CARR

Marshall University’s Student Nurse Association and Marne Christian Fellowship are coming together for a Blessing of the Hands 2:30 p.m. Monday in Prichard Hall, room 427.

The blessing represents the joining of the hands of nurses and student nurses who take care of others.

Jeanne Widener, SNA adviser, said the SNA provides growth for students as leaders to interact among nursing students and other courses. The program gives the opportunity to learn about different aspects of nursing through speakers and community service.

“This meeting is where SNA will hopefully select our leadership for next year,” Widener said. “So the idea of blessing on that leadership and all the student nurses attending seemed positive.”

Klara Kovacs, SCF adviser, said all nursing majors are welcome to attend the event.

“It is important to have NCF and student nurses attending the event,” Kovacs said. “This meeting is where SNA will hopefully select our leadership for next year,” Widener said. “So the idea of blessing on that leadership and all the student nurses attending seemed positive.”

By AMY NAPIER

SGA adds senate seats for INTO MU student representatives

By AMY NAPIER

SGA adds senate seats for INTO MU student representatives

By MALCOLM WALTON

Marshall University’s softball team (23-10, 8-5) won two games Saturday against the University of North Texas (14-20, 6-8) in what was supposed to be a three-game series.

The third game was declared a no contest due to travel regulations.

Despite the delay, the Herd held on to its 1-0 lead and secured the win when it returned play Saturday morning.

By KARIMA NEGHMOUCHE

Marshall University’s Student Nurse Association and Nurse Christian Fellowship are coming together for a Blessing of the Hands to inspire future nurses

Blessing of the Hands to inspire future nurses

By KARIMA NEGHMOUCHE

Marshall University’s Student Nurse Association and Nurse Christian Fellowship are coming together for a Blessing of the Hands to inspire future nurses

Blessing of the Hands to inspire future nurses

By AMY NAPIER

SGA adds senate seats for INTO MU student representatives

By AMY NAPIER

SGA adds senate seats for INTO MU student representatives

By MALCOLM WALTON

Marshall University’s softball team (23-10, 8-5) won two games Saturday against the University of North Texas (14-20, 6-8) in what was supposed to be a three-game series.

The third game was declared a no contest due to travel regulations.

Despite the delay, the Herd held on to its 1-0 lead and secured the win when it returned play Saturday morning.

By KARIMA NEGHMOUCHE

Marshall University’s Student Nurse Association and Nurse Christian Fellowship are coming together for a Blessing of the Hands to inspire future nurses

Blessing of the Hands to inspire future nurses

By AMY NAPIER

SGA adds senate seats for INTO MU student representatives

By AMY NAPIER

SGA adds senate seats for INTO MU student representatives

By MALCOLM WALTON

Marshall University’s softball team (23-10, 8-5) won two games Saturday against the University of North Texas (14-20, 6-8) in what was supposed to be a three-game series.

The third game was declared a no contest due to travel regulations.

Despite the delay, the Herd held on to its 1-0 lead and secured the win when it returned play Saturday morning.
By NICOLLE HENDERSON THE PARTHENON

The Rec Center has experienced an increase in bicycle rentals from students and members of the fitness center due to the nice weather.

“As soon as the first day of warm weather came, almost all of the bikes were gone,” said Alex Burgazzoli, Rec Center facility manager. “Any nice day really, they’re all gone by the first couple of hours the building is open.”

The Rec Center offers a free bicycle rental service on a first-come, first-serve basis throughout its daily hours of operation.

“For just come in, we take your information, and then you can rent the bike, but they are due back before 7:30 p.m.” Burgazzoli said. “They are not overnight rentals, so basically just lock up the bike and bring it back in one piece.”

Sophomore Khalsa Boasman said renting bikes is a fun thing to do in the spring.

“We’ve been cooped up in our rooms all of the time because it was winter,” Boasman said. “Now it is spring and we get to enjoy everything: the weather, our friends, the air and the environment.”

Sophomore Marcus Stephenson, communication disorders major, said he has to rent a bike everyday it is sunny.

“Every sunny day I usually rent a bike,” Stephenson said. “If it’s a nice day and I don’t want to be cooped up on campus, I just rent a bike, ride around town and see what’s happening in Huntington.”

It also described a hidden culture of sexual violence fueled by binge drinking at one fraternity house. The magazine’s website, accompanied by a story published Sunday night.

“The editors made judgments about attributing responsibility and keeping at least three fraternity members sober at each event.”

By LARRY O’DELL ADAMS

A Rolling Stone magazine article about an alleged rape on the University of Virginia campus was a “story of journalistic failure that was avoidable,” the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism said in a report published Sunday night.

“The failure came in reporting, editing, editorial supervision and fact-checking,” said the report, which was posted on the magazine’s website, accompanied by an apology from Rolling Stone Managing Editor Will Dula, who also announced that the publication was officially retracting the story.

The article’s author, Sabrina Rubin Erdely, did not answer a telephone call from The Associated Press.

The Associated Press asked for the independent review after numerous news media outlets questioned the story Erdely published in November 2014 story, titled “A Rape on Campus.”

The report says that while Rolling Stone’s editorial staff has shrunk by 25 percent since 2008, the problem was not a lack of resources.

“The problem was methodology, compounded by an environment where several journalists with decades of collective experience failed to surface and detect problems about their reporting or to heed the questions they did receive from a fact-checking colleague,” it said.

The fraternity has called the article defamatory and said it was exploring its legal options.

“These false accusations have been extremely damaging to our entire organization, but we can only begin to imagine the setback this must have dealt to survivors of sexual assault,” said Stephen Scipione, president of the Virginia Alpha chapter of Phi Kappa Psi, after the Charlottesville police suspended their investigation.

Despite its flaws, the article heightened scrutiny of campus sexual assaults amid a campaign by President Barack Obama. The University of Virginia had already been on the Department of Education’s list of 55 colleges under investigation for their handling of sex assault violations.

The article also prompted UVa. President Teresa Sullivan to temporarily suspend Greek social events. Praterior later agreed to ban beer, hire security workers and keep at least three fraternity members sober at each event.

—Выбрано автором—

The Partisan

Huntington.

“Every sunny day I usually rent a bike,” Stephenson said. “If it’s a nice day and I don’t want to be cooped up on campus, I just rent a bike, ride around town and see what’s happening in Huntington.”

The failure came in reporting, editing, editorial supervision and fact-checking,” said the report, which was posted on the magazine’s website, accompanied by an apology from Rolling Stone Managing Editor Will Dula, who also announced that the publication was officially retracting the story.

The article’s author, Sabrina Rubin Erdely, did not answer a telephone call from The Associated Press.

The Associated Press asked for the independent review after numerous news media outlets questioned the story Erdely published in November 2014 story, titled “A Rape on Campus.”

The report says that while Rolling Stone’s editorial staff has shrunk by 25 percent since 2008, the problem was not a lack of resources.

“The problem was methodology, compounded by an environment where several journalists with decades of collective experience failed to surface and detect problems about their reporting or to heed the questions they did receive from a fact-checking colleague,” it said.

The fraternity has called the article defamatory and said it was exploring its legal options.

“These false accusations have been extremely damaging to our entire organization, but we can only begin to imagine the setback this must have dealt to survivors of sexual assault,” said Stephen Scipione, president of the Virginia Alpha chapter of Phi Kappa Psi, after the Charlottesville police suspended their investigation.

Despite its flaws, the article heightened scrutiny of campus sexual assaults amid a campaign by President Barack Obama. The University of Virginia had already been on the Department of Education’s list of 55 colleges under investigation for their handling of sex assault violations.

The article also prompted UVa. President Teresa Sullivan to temporarily suspend Greek social events. Praterior later agreed to ban beer, hire security workers and keep at least three fraternity members sober at each event.

The Partisan

Huntington.

“The Partisan

Huntington.”
Marshall head coach Shonda Stanton said the rain delay was a non-factor for the team. “We’re used to it,” Stanton said. “Winners always adjust. When you’re a softball program, your game time may say 1 o’clock, but then you get out there and you’re playing until 10 or 11 o’clock at night sometimes. And that’s fine because winners adjust. As a softball athlete and a softball coach, this is something we’re used to and something that really should never affect you.”

While only one run was scored in the entire first game, the Herd put up 16 runs in the second game to defeat the Mean Green 16-8.

Freshman Elicia D’Orazio, infielder for the Herd, had five runs batted in and one run in the second game. D’Orazio said once the team found its hitting rhythm in the second match, it never looked back. “We started off a little slow,” D’Orazio said. “But we pulled together and we got the wins we needed to come away with the win. I’m proud of the way we performed.”

Stanton said while sweeping a conference opponent is always a plus, the team is already focused on post-season play. The C-USA tournament is set to take place May 7-9 at Florida International University’s Felsberg Field in Miami, Florida. “It’s a slow grind,” Stanton said. “It’s a journey. And our kids are stronger enough for it. And we know that we are going to fight and battle for the best spot that we can get to get back to Miami. And once you get there, you have to be great for three days in May. This ball club has a shot to win it. We just have to find a way to get there and secure a seed. And I’m confident in this group, but it’s going to be a grind just to get there.”

Malcolm Walton can be contacted at walton47@marshall.edu.

Recipe for success includes hometown flavor

By JILL SHEMANSKI
THE PARTHENON

The Marshall University softball team has seven players from West Virginia on a team with 21 players, where recruiting is popular in states like California, Texas and Florida.

On a campus like Marshall, having strong roots from West Virginia is a big deal to the community.

Sophomore Morgan Zerkle, who started all 59 games her freshman year and earned C-USA All-Tournament team honors, is from Milton, West Virginia.

Zerkle went to Cabell Midland High School where she played with fellow teammates Morgan Kelley and Jordan Colliflower.

“Morgan, Jordan and I all played travel ball together when we were eight years old,” Zerkle said.

Madi Marshall is a freshman from St. Albans, West Virginia who was usually a high school rival for Zerkle and the others.

Like Marshall, freshman Kylee Howard who is from Glen Easton, West Virginia, also was a competitor within this group before coming to Marshall.

“She was further up north,” Zerkle said. “So we didn’t know each other as well, but when I heard she was coming to Marshall I knew the name. I knew she’d gotten the Gatorade Player of West Virginia the year before me, so I knew she was going to be a competitor.”

Zerkle said it is fun watching her West Virginia teammates succeed. “As for playing together, it’s fun to see each other succeed because we know how hard it is for girls from West Virginia to standout,” Zerkle said. “Being able to play close to home is a remarkable feeling. Not many people have the opportunity to play right where they grew up. I chose Marshall University because my family and the people in West Virginia mean the world to me.”

Marshall said she knew her West Virginia teammates before she started playing for Marshall. “I knew all of the West Virginia girls besides Kylee Howard and Caitlin Gale before coming to Marshall,” Marshall said. “I had always played against the Midland girls and knew how good they were. Alyssa Woodrum was also a huge rival of my high school’s team because of being in the same region, usually who we would play in the final game. Playing together is rewarding because after all these years we finally get to be on the same team, fighting for the same goal.”

Marshall said the support system from not only her family, but from the families of the other girls is a great feeling. “I chose to play here at Marshall because I wanted to be a part of a winning program so close to home,” Marshall said. “Getting to play with all the girls I grew up playing against is such a feeling of satisfaction.”

Jill Shemanski can be contacted at shemanski@marshall.edu.
The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically

The lineups have been dropped (and what lineup was dropped (and what that task much more mentally

I've been contemplating how much money I can realistically
HUNTINGTON RESIDENTS VOICE OPINIONS ABOUT IMPROVEMENTS TO CITY

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

“There is one thing most can agree on – Huntington is on the rise, and in order to keep the city on an upward economic slope, some changes may need to be considered. “I believe Huntington is on the rise,” Julie Sheils, a teacher and Huntington resident said. “Over the past 20 years, Huntington has seen the development of Pullman Plaza which has totally revitalized downtown with shops, restaurants, movie theaters, hotels, concerts, enormous growth to both hospitals and expansions of Marshall University. Campus has never looked better.”

Sheils said she loves Huntington and thinks the amount of growth over the years is impressive, but said she would like to see Marshall build a baseball stadium close to campus. Sheils said Huntington could use a Sky Zone, indoor soccer facility, a fitness center for children, a spray park and completion of PATH.

A lot of residents said they are happy the barrack style housing projects are being torn down and property is being developed for commercial use. “I think community gardens are a great idea as far as par- ents being able to do fun meaningful things with their children outdoors,” Hacker said. “Huntington in past there’s no question about that, and unfortunately when financial instability effects homes nutrition is one of the main things that suffer. Community gardens could be the only way some families have access to vegetables and tomatoes and other important, easy to grow foods.”

Hacker agreed with Vealey’s idea of planting more trees and flowers and wants to further the idea of planting fresh produce.” I think community gardens are a great idea as far as parents being able to do fun meaningful things with their children outdoors,” Hacker said. “Huntington in past there’s no question about that, and unfortunately when financial instability effects homes nutrition is one of the main things that suffer. Community gardens could be the only way some families have access to vegetables and tomatoes and other important, easy to grow foods.”

Hacker said she believes the gardens would be aesthetically pleasing and would bring the community together to work to- wards a goal everyone can benefit from. “I think community gardens are a great idea as far as parents being able to do fun meaningful things with their children outdoors,” Hacker said. “Huntington in past there’s no question about that, and unfortunately when financial instability effects homes nutrition is one of the main things that suffer. Community gardens could be the only way some families have access to vegetables and tomatoes and other important, easy to grow foods.”

Hacker said all goals are realistic if you have the right people helping you reach them. Karima Neghmouche can be contacted at neghmouche2@marshall.edu.

“Thank goodness they've started to tear it down,” Hacker said. “I know they're people's homes but it's also a horrible clutter of crime-filled buildings that looked condemned. It's such an awful representation of Huntington.”

Megan Vealey, a former Tampa, Florida resident, said she thinks the city should focus on making it a safer, cleaner environment. “I think before there’s a zoo, more shopping centers, or re- novating properties, cleaning up parks, planting trees and flowers and fixing the potholes in the roads.”

Vealey said these are realistic goals that need to be surfaced and most importantly, like Vealey said, replace the potholes. “I mean, I feel like it’s a pretty concrete request,” Chambers said. Vealey said there are realistic goals that need to be surfaced and most importantly, like Vealey said, replace the potholes. “I mean, I feel like it’s a pretty concrete request,” Chambers said. Vealey said there are realistic goals that need to be surfaced and most importantly, like Vealey said, replace the potholes. “I mean, I feel like it’s a pretty concrete request,” Chambers said. Vealey said these are realistic goals that need to be surfaced and most importantly, like Vealey said, replace the potholes.