Recommends that the University adopt the attached revision of the Student Code of Conduct.

The proposed new Code re-frames the essential elements of the existing Code under six positively-stated Standards for appropriate behavior.

This revision will replace the Code of Conduct introduction and sections I – III that appear on pages 62-66 of the 2000-2001 Student Handbook. It will also replace the following sections contained under the heading “Judicial System” on pages 57-60 of the 2000-2001 Student Handbook: Introduction; Off-Campus Conduct; Definitions; Board of Trustees’ Policies.

RATIONALE:

(1) To reframe the Code under POSITIVE standards; (2) To rephrase and reclassify the categories of proscribed conduct as necessary to conform to current state and federal requirements for record keeping and reporting; (3) Refine and revise the language of the Code and the sanction standards to match precedence and current practice within the student judicial system at Marshall; and (4) To clarify definitions. THE CODE OF STUDENT RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

PURPOSE: The Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities – also referred to as the Code of Conduct – reflects the University community’s expectations and standards established for each of its members. The Code and student judicial system are founded on principles of fairness and due process, and a commitment to the educational development of students, and are designed to balance the interests of the University community as a whole with the protection of students’ individual liberties.

Disciplinary action on campus deals administratively and developmentally with prohibited or unacceptable student behavior in the University community. Any student or organization may be referred by any complainant to the Office of Judicial Affairs. Official University action will be taken when a student’s or student group’s behavior violates community standards, interferes either with the University’s educational purpose, or with its duty to protect and preserve individual health, welfare, and property. When the behavior is aggravated or presents a continuing danger to the University community, accused students are subject to separation from the institution.

Thus, the primary purpose of this Code is to serve the interests of both the Marshall community and the individual student by: (1) establishing the University’s authority to discipline students; (2) outlining the general rights and responsibilities of students; (3) asserting the specific standards of conduct expected of students; (4) describing actions which can be taken when misconduct occurs; (5) establishing procedures which ensure due process in the adjudication of complaints concerning students; and (6) imposing sanctions and/or providing conflict resolution in the University setting to protect, deter, and educate.

AUTHORITY FOR STUDENT DISCIPLINE: The Marshall University Student Judicial System and The Code of Student Rights And Responsibilities are promulgated under the authority of the Board of Trustees of the University of West Virginia System. Board of Trustees’ Policy Bulletin 57 sets forth policies, rules and regulations regarding student rights, responsibilities and conduct in West Virginia Universities and Colleges. Students should familiarize themselves with Policy Bulletin 57, which is printed in the Student Handbook.
By action of the Board of Trustees, the President of the University is responsible for all matters of student discipline, including the preservation of due process procedures. This responsibility is normally delegated to the Dean of Student Affairs and the Office of Judicial Affairs for the purpose of implementing approved policies and regulations. However, the President's ultimate authority in the regulation of student conduct, including direct intervention by the President when appropriate, is presumed by this Code.

The Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities and the Student Judicial System are subject to change and amendment. Marshall University's student-based system gives students maximum opportunities to participate in the formulation of policies concerning student conduct and in the adjudication of cases arising under that policy. Because maintenance of discipline and preservation of community standards are properly the concern of all students, faculty, staff, and administration, all members of the University community will be provided with appropriate opportunities for representation or involvement in the development, revision, and maintenance of the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities. All changes made shall take effect immediately following approval by the Student Conduct and Welfare Committee, the Faculty Senate, and the President of the University.

STUDENT RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES: All students, undergraduate and graduate, as defined by the Board of Trustees and in this Code, are subject to the provisions of this Code.

A student's application for admission to Marshall represents an optional and voluntary decision to partake of the University's program and privileges and to abide by the University's policies, rules and regulations. The University's approval of that application, in turn, represents the extension of a right or privilege to join the Marshall community and to remain a part of it so long as the student fulfills the academic and behavioral expectations set forth by Marshall University and its Board of Trustees. Upon acceptance to the University, each student acquires rights and assumes responsibilities as an individual member of the University community. Therefore, students and student organizations are expected at all times to conduct themselves in accordance with University policies and regulations.

The West Virginia Board of Trustees' Policy Bulletin 57 establishes and explains the following basic rights and responsibilities of students in West Virginia's state colleges and universities:

- Freedom of Expression and Assembly;
• Freedom of Association;
• Right to Privacy;
• Assumption of the Responsibilities of Citizenship;
• Fundamental Fairness in Disciplinary Proceedings.

Students charged with violating University regulations or standards are guaranteed fundamental fairness in the notification of charges, the conduct of hearings, the imposition of sanctions, and the routes of appeal. Marshall University pledges to uphold students’ rights guaranteed under the United States Constitution and Federal and State statutes.

JURISDICTION: Because the primary purpose of this Code is to support the protection and advancement of the University community’s particular educational interests, conduct proscribed and reviewed under the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities will, in most cases, refer to behaviors that occur on or about University premises, at University-sponsored events, or that are engaged in by University-recognized student organizations. However, Marshall University retains the right to review, under the Student Judicial System, the off-campus conduct of students when such conduct is alleged to

- Interfere with the Mission of the University; and/or
- Compromise the University’s integrity in the granting of degrees or other certification; and/or
- Threaten the health or safety of members of the campus community; and/or
- Interfere with the orderly operation of the University.

Complaints about students’ off-campus behavior will be considered on a case-by-case basis, following these guidelines, to determine whether they merit review within the Student Judicial System.

Marshall University enjoys close and mutually supportive relationships with the communities in which its campuses are located and expects University students to abide by the laws of these communities. Marshall acknowledges the right and duty of these communities to prosecute and hold accountable any persons found in violation of their laws.

Group Responsibility: The Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities applies to the behavior of recognized student organizations both on and off campus. Marshall University has established the following group responsibility policy to define organizations’ responsibility for the actions of their members. This policy pertains, but is not limited, to incidents involving hazing, discrimination, vandalism, theft, alcohol or substance abuse, dishonesty, disorderly conduct, violence, misuse of organization or University funds and any other violations of the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities.

Upon registration or recognition, or application for recognition, by the University, each student organization becomes responsible for acting in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Conduct and all other applicable University and community policies and standards. Official University action will be taken when the behavior of the members of a student organization violates community standards and interferes either with the University's educational purpose, or with its duty to protect individual health, welfare, and property.

The degree to which an organization is responsible for the activity of its members is not necessarily dependent upon the number of members engaging in the activity, but depends upon whether the activity is related to the organization as described in the four categories listed below. Student organizations may be held responsible for the acts of individual members,

--when a member of an organization is violating local, state, or federal law or University regulations and other members present, by failing to discourage such activity, tacitly condone the behavior;

--when the acts grow out of or are directly related to the student organization's activities or an environment created by the organizations;

--when the acts are those of guests of an organization, or by persons authorized or permitted to represent themselves as connected with the organization;

--when an organization places prospective members in a subordinated status prior to achieving full membership, or imposes any kind of probationary period prior to full membership, and hazing occurs.

In addition to the group being held culpable, members and officers may be cited and held responsible as individuals for their roles in any violations of the Code.

CONCURRENT CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS: Because students are also members of larger communities such as city, state and nation, their conduct may also be subject to review within another jurisdiction(s), when such conduct violates the laws of those jurisdictions. Criminal prosecution in the court system is designed to be punitive and to provide social consequences for convicted offenders. Therefore, disciplinary action under the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities is not and cannot be a substitute for judicial mechanisms of the larger community. Students charged under the University's Code of Conduct may also be held responsible for violating existing local, state, and federal law. Because the purposes and consequences of the two processes are so different, such concurrent reviews are mutually exclusive and do not create double jeopardy for charged students.

Disciplinary action at the University will in most case proceed without regard to the status of criminal proceedings and will not be subject to challenge on the grounds that criminal charges involving the same incident have been dismissed or reduced. However, the University reserves the right to postpone campus disciplinary proceedings during the pendency of criminal proceedings when the conduct of such campus proceedings would interfere with the concurrent civil or criminal process. The decision to postpone on the grounds of interference will be made by the President or his/her designee upon the request of the accused student or of the prosecutor or complainant.
